Rabbi and Mrs. Albert I. Gordon To Be Honored

Rabbi and Mrs. Albert I. Gordon of Temple Emanuel, Newton, will be honored with a dinner on the night of December 15 on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary and in recognition of the completion by the Rabbi of a quarter century of dedicated service to Judaism.

The officers and trustees of Temple Emanuel this week announced plans for the formal dinner which will be held at the Temple's Community Hall. Mark A. Edison is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Rabbi Gordon, who came to Temple Emanuel in 1950, was ordained in 1929 at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America. In 1930, he accepted the call of Adath Jeshurun Synagogue, Minneapolis, Minn., and occupied the pulpit for 16 years.

To End Muscular Dystrophy Drive By Firemen Sun.

Newton firemen, busy collecting donations for muscular dystrophy during their off-duty hours, hope to complete their canvass of the city by Sunday.

Generous contributions have already been received from the sections covered, according to Fire Chief John E. Corcoran. The firefighters began calling on homes in the southern section of Newton the first of the week and are gradually working their way toward northern areas.

If any muscular dystrophy envelopes remain uncalled-for by Sunday, donors are requested to call Fire Headquarters at BIgelow 4-0030, and a uniformed fireman will call for the donation.

Pair Uninjured After Oak Hill Forced Landing

Forced to land when their light plane's engine failed, a Worcester disc jockey and a young companion, who was on his first flight, escaped uninjured Sunday afternoon after a crash-landing in a meadow at the end of Olde Field road, Oak Hill.

The Civil Air Patrol plane, military version of the Aeronca Champion, was on a simulated rescue searching mission from Worcester to Boston and back when the engine began sputtering close to Newton on the return trip.

The pilot, Newton E. "Budd" Bowers, 28, a disc jockey with Station WAAB, first spotted the fairways of the Charles River Country Club as a possible landing- place, but switched to a large field—formerly known as Hurley's Farm—behind the Oak Hill School because of Sunday golfers and a large water hazard.

Bowers, a lieutenant in the C.A.P., glided the craft into the field at 100 miles an hour after the engine cut out completely at 200 feet. The plane touched down about two-thirds of the way across the 1000-yard field, but was headed toward a wooded, granite-studded hill only a short distance away.

United Church Canvass Goal Of Half-Million Seen Assured

Newton's United Church Canvass—pattern for similar fund-raising now conducted throughout the nation since its inception here 10 years ago—is assured of reaching its million-dollar quota at the conclusion of the drive this week.

The Canvass, conducted by 12 Protestant churches, was termed "very successful" by Publicity Director Millard Harmon, even with final returns still to be tabulated last night (Wednesday) as the Graphic went to press. This year's goal represented a 30 per cent increase over the figure sought in 1953.

Two Sundays ago the Canvass got off to a spectacular start with $250,000—or one-half the goal—subscribed in the opening hours. This type of united campaign, which was originated in Newton, has spread throughout the country from its beginnings here. Once an untried measure, it is now a standard procedure in fund-raising activities.

"Experience has taught," said Mr. Harmon, "that such a united effort has many advantages, not the least of which is the fellowship developed throughout the campaign. The program is not designed to put church supporters under heavy pressure to increase their support to the church. It is, rather, a concerted effort to be sure the church member is aware of the needs of the church in these times when money doesn't seem to go as far as it should."

Dr. O. A. Pendleton worked with general chairmen and their aides for several weeks in laying groundwork for the fund drive. The 12 churches followed the method outlined throughout the campaign.

"Dr. Pendleton was untiring in his many meetings with church members throughout the city in his efforts to devise the most successful methods possible," noted Mr. Harmon.

Several week ago Dr. Pendleton and Rev. Sydney Adams of Centenary Methodist Church discussed the canvass in Hazel Roper's radio program, "Woman's World" on WCRB. This

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Defeated Candidate Murphy and McDonough In Struggle to Control Democratic Party

A long-range drive for the Democratic nomination for the Massachusetts Governorship in 1956 and for the control of the Bay State's delegation to the next Democratic national convention, already has been started by Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough and persons close to him.

One of the moves being attempted is to place William H. Burke, Jr., former collector of port and one of McDonough's political associates, in the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee to succeed John C. Carr who is expected to shift to another position early next year.

If that maneuvre is accomplished, McDonough will be in a formidable position to press his bid for endorsement at the Democratic State convention in the spring of 1956 and to have an important voice in the selection of the next Democratic candidate for President.

Closely watching the operations of the McDonough-Burke axis are such prominent figures as District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne, himself considered a likely choice to head the Democratic State ticket in Massachusetts in 1956; Robert F. Murphy, the unsuccessful candidae for Governor and titular leader of the Democratic party in the Bay State, and ex-Governor Paul A. Dever, still probably the most powerful and influential Democratic leader in the State.

West Newton Residents Protest Precinct Shift to Auburndale

Seek Additions To Cabot, Ward, Peirce Schools

Additions to three elementary schools—providing 10 new classrooms and two auditoriums at a cost of close to a half-million dollars—are bing sought by the Newton School Committee for use at the beginning of the next school year.

Recommended are two rooms and a combination auditorium-playroom at the Ward School in Newton Centre, four rooms and an auditorium at the Cabot School in Newtonville, and four classrooms at the Peirce School in West Newton.

Although no definite type of construction was requested by the School Committee, it appears likely that the additions will be of the "demountable, parasitic" type which has proven successful this year at the Franklin School in West Newton. This addition is also the model for the new Mason School recommended by the School Committee for construction on the Newton Centre playground.

The addition is close to three-quarters salvageable, so that it can be moved practically entirely to another school should the pupil population shift to a new area. The addition draws its heating and electric supply from the main buildings, and the pupils use the existing toilet, recreation and study facilities.

The Ward School addition is needed since next September the school will be short two classrooms. By 1956, the School Committee reported, four extra classrooms over the present number will be needed. Although only two rooms are sought now, two more can be gained by halving the school's current auditorium in 1956.

The Cabot School, despite transforming of its playroom into classrooms, will be short two classrooms in 1955, four in 1956, and six in 1957. The requested four rooms and the auditorium will cover these needs, as the auditorium will also be cut into a pair of classrooms.

Hearing Slated Monday Night to Hear Objections

Protesting the shift of a West Newton precinct to the new Auburndale ward, more than 200 Ward 3, Precinct 4 residents are expected to reinforce their demands to remain in Ward 3 at a public hearing before the Board of Aldermen Monday night in Newton City Hall.

West Newton residents made their objections known in a petition to the aldermen last week seeking the hearing. Led by Alderman Charles H. Cosgrove and John J. Glynn, the group protested that there was no "conformity of interests" between West Newton and Auburndale.

Under the new ward setup proposed in the creation of Ward 8 on the south side of the city, Precinct 4 is slated to become part of Ward 4. The revision in the current ward lines has been drawn up by the aldermanic Ward Lines Committee under the chairmanship of Hirsh Sharf.

The petition calling for the hearing read:

"We protest and object to the proposed joinder and annexation of Ward 3, Precinct 4 to Ward 4 situated in that part of Newton called Auburndale, for

2 Men Arrested At Gunpoint Get Long Sentences

A pair of 22-year-old burglars who were arrested early in the morning of October 23 at gunpoint while trying to flee along the railroad tracks in West Newton, each received five years and a day sentences last week in Middlesex Superior Court.

Clifford J. Farrell of 197 Kelton street, Allston, and Henry L. McHale of Norwich, Conn., received the reformatory terms on charges of breaking and entering in the night time, having burglar tools in their possession and carrying a revolver in a vehicle. Judge David J. Nagle placed additional burglary indictments on file from Waltham, Natick and Cambridge.

They were captured a short distance from the Wentworth-Jennings Motor Company, 1180 Washington street, after police surprised them inside the office of the firm. Sgt. Walter A. Drew and Patrolmen Thomas M. Dargin and Lawrence J. Maffiola came upon the pair trying to hide in the grass of the railroad embankment.

Farrell and McHale were charged with taking $148 from the motor firm and $31.13 from the Sally Anne Restaurant, 187 North street, Newtonville. Police said they admitted breaks in several other communities.

Clever Police Work Nets Attackers of Newton Boys

Detectives Elmer Brooks and Coleman Joyce, of Joy street station, can move into the roles of Sergeant Joe Friday and Officer Frank Smith without changing a line in their routine.

Clever deduction and tireless research on the part of the two plain-clothesmen rounded up a quartet of young delinquents allegedly guilty of attacking and robbing three 14-year-old Newton boys on an MTA trolley, and on Boston Common, on November 13. $31.25 was taken from the mauled young Newtonites.

The three victims, Alvin W. Hart, Jr., of 165 Upland road; John Richmond, 322 Woodward street; and Howard Rower of 11 Maplewood avenue, were able to provide police with two nicknames heard passed between the young hoodlums during the roughing on the trolley, inbound from Cleveland Circle, and later when two of the lads were robbed of $15 each on the Boylston street side of Boston Common.

Detectives Brooks and Joyce went to work on the records of municipal court and in the Roxbury and Brookline courts and were successful in discovering youngsters bearing the identical nicknames. They picked up the quartet and shortly Between two and three rooms will be needed at the Peirce School next year, and four by 1956. The School Committee has requested the four classrooms.

Also being sought by the School Committee is extra parking space at Newton High School, where about 290 cars are parked on an ordinary school day. The Committee asked for an 18 to 20 car area between Elm road and the Drill Shed, and a 24-car lot behind the Administration Building.

Imposing New Chapel Opened by Waterman & Sons in Wellesley

One of the impressive recent developments in the Wellesley square business district is the new Chapel of J. S. Waterman & Sons, funeral directors serving all communities in the suburbs of Greater Boston. The former three story residential building at 592 Washington street, is of Colonial architecture in an attractive setting of shrubbery, trees and expanse of lawn.

The entire interior has been transformed, resulting in a series of chapels and rooms, with an artistic decor in keeping with the purpose. Other improvements include additions in the front and rear of the building and complete refinishing of the exterior in sand gray stucco, as well as construction of a hard surfaced parking lot in the rear.

The reception foyer of restful green, carried out in pastel toned walls has drapes and rubber tile floor covering in harmony. Adjacent to the reception foyer, is a visitation room, which achieves a homelike atmosphere with leaded glass windows, a red brick fireplace, and wood panelling extending half way to the ceiling.

Spacious Chapel

The main chapel is spacious and achieves the refinement of a tastefully furnished drawing room. Walls are in egg shell with deep pile green wall-to-wall carpeting and green drapes.

The organ alcove has an instrument of the newest development and has facilities for a vocalist. The chapel contains a sofa in rose beige upholstery, console tables, lamps and groupings of chairs upholstered in green and gold.

A distinctive tapestry type decoration, the gift of Waterman employees adorns the wall above the mahogany altar. Ample space has been provided on both sides of the altar for flowers and on the right an exit leading into the parking lot, with a special section directly beside the exit for cars ot the immediate family.

A unique arrangement of plastic sliding doors permits use of the altar space, and an adjacent family room, for a small private service. This family room, which can be reached from a passageway on the left of the Washington street entrance, may be secluded from the chapel by a bamboo screen.

Seating Adaptable

A distinctive feature of the main chapel is flexibility for handling groups of various numbers who can be comfortably seated with accomodations adaptable to alteration or expansion. Another convenience is entrance from the parking lot on the right of the chapel. The new addition in the rear, reached from an entrance that does not interfere with the public rooms, has been especially arranged for general business offices and as an equipment room, with racks for receiving and caring for floral offerings.

On the second floor is the business consultation office, furnished with a modern conference desk and other business equipment. In this room the floor covering is beige and drapes are in mottled green to harmonize with walls in green patterned wall paper.

Four Display Rooms

Four individual display rooms lead off the second floor foyer, each with items of merchandise from leading manufacturers displayed in a setting of soft toned carpeting and gold beige drapes.

The second floor visitation room duplicates the first floor room, with fireplace and atmosphere of quiet charm. It is separated from a service elevator by plastic folding doors. The preparation room in the rear has the most modern equipment and facilities.

The basement furnishes additional space for storage, heating and air-conditioning facilities, together with convenient access to the undercover area for loading, unloading and the service elevator. The building is air conditioned throughout has steam heat and indirect lighting.

Parking Space in Rear

Two way lanes from Washington street lead to the parking lot with accommodations for over fifty cars. During services, an experieneed attendant will aid in placing cars and regulating two way traffic.

The opening of this new chapel at 52 Washington street, Wellesley, is concurrent with the association of Brown & Son (namely Mrs. Sara M. Brown and James Brown, Jr.) which has served the families of Wellesley for 75 years, with J. S. Waterman & Sons. This furnishes an additional, conveniently located modern chapel for complete funeral requirements to the long established roster of other Waterman locations in Boston, Brookline and Roxbury.

Founded in 1832

Since establishment in 1832, Waterman services have become a tradition, rewarded by the favor of ever increasing patronage. The high standards of procedure have prevailed on every occasion, regardless of the nature of the funeral or the cost. Each chapel is equipped for public or private funerals and for services of any religious denomination, and maintains an experienced, professionally competent and courteous staff on call any hour of the day or night. This permanent Waterman personnel is the largest of its type in New England.

Ownership, management and operation of J. S. Waterman & Sons, Inc., is under the direction of Joseph S. Waterman, Frank S. Waterman 3rd, James P. Cutler and a large personal staff. Joseph S. Waterman and Frank S. Waterman 3rd represent the third and fourth generations of the original founder.

Proclaim Dec. 15 As 'Safe Driving Day' for State

At the monthly meeting of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, all state department heads pledged full cooperating with President Eisenhower and Governor Herter in an all-out effort to make Wednesday, December 15, a "Safe Driving Day" in our Commonwealth.

President Eisenhower has given his wholehearted endorsement to this undertaking and has appealed to all Americans to enlist in it. In his proclamation, Governor Herter said, "I fervently hope that the Commonwealth of Massachusetts will accept this challenge gladly and that all of us will exert the most conscientious effort to achieve the accident-free goal."

week there are many subscribers still to be heard from and there is every likelihood that the totals reported at the Final Meeting will show an increase before the final Campaign results are tabulated.

Newton had a table at the Final Dinner occupied by David Berkman, 1954 Campaign Chairman and Mrs. Berkman, Henry Wilson, Assistant Campaign Chairman, and Mrs. Wilson, Chief Philip Purcell and Mrs. Purcell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barber of the Manufacturing Division and Mr. H. J. Pettengill, Campaign Director, and Mrs. Pettengill.

With approximately 25,000 families to be solicited in the Red Feather Campaign it would not be unusual, the Chest Office states, if many were not at home when called on or were otherwise missed. Subscriptions may still be made and will be gratefully received at the office of the Newton Community Chest, 93 Union street, Newton Centre, Telephone LAsell 7-5120.

Every Newton citizen who has not given and every subscriber who has given but is in a position to give more is urged to respond to this call and thus help to provide for those who need them, more services through Newton Red Feather Agencies and those throughout Metropolitan Boston.

to that side, Bowers slewed the ship completely around. This violent maneuver buckled the landing gear, and the plane skidded gently to a halt against a 3-foot embankment.

Bowers and his passenger, 16-year-old James Burdick of Worcester, both climbed out of the ship unhurt and only slightly shaken. Burdick is a potential C.A.P. cadet and was "just along for the ride." Despite the mishap, he said he would still go along with his plans to join the civilian flying unit.

Later in the day the plane was loaded onto a truck and taken back to Worcester. Its only damage, besides the buckled landing gear, was a bent propellor and a scraped fuselage where the plane skidded.

Two Newtonites Elected to B.U. Honorary Group

Two Newton students have been elected to membership in the Scarlet Key, Boston University's honorary activities society, and will be "tapped" at a public ceremony Saturday night at the Daniel L. Marsh Chapel.

Honored were Janet Tevekelian of 14 Centre avenue and David Harber of 25 Hibbard road, both Newton. Along with the 33 other new members, they will be initiated Tuesday at a banquet on the roof of Shelton Hall, the university's newly-purchased dormitory for women students in the upper classes.

Miss Tevekelian is a junior in the College of Practical Arts and Letters, where she was president of her class for two years. She is now secretary of her sorority and vice-president of the Armenian Club.

Harber, a senior in the College of Liberal Arts, is president of Delta, honorary liberal arts society. He is president of his fraternity and chairman of Hub ,the annual University yearbook.

The Masachusetts record—3.2—for the first nine months of this year based on a mileage death rate indicates we are saving lives in highway traffic accidents when compared with the national average of 6.2.

"Fifty-six weer killed on Massachusetts highways in traffic accidents last December. On December 15, last year, no one died in a highway traffic accident on our highways. This record is a challenge to every driver and every pedestrian. We must make sure we have no traffic deaths on "Safe Driving Day" Wednesday, December 15," the governor stated.

Sewer Project To End Charles River Pollution

Hope for eventual elimination of the Charles River pollution—along with that of Neponset River and Boston Harbor—was extended by Charles W. Greenough, chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission, last week.

Speaking at a meeting of the Newton City Department Heads Association in Newton Lower Falls, Greenough outlined a proposed $75,000,000 sewer project. When the sewer is completed, municipalities will be able to prevent local industries from emptying waste into the river.

He also described the history of the 30-year-old MDC. The commission now controls 14,000 acres of recreation area, 17 miles of ocean beaches and 125 miles of highway. The Quabbin Reservoir system, he stated, supplies more water per capita than any other water system in the country.

Civil Defense Control Center Group Meets for Discussion

The Control Center personnel of Newton's Civil Defense met at headquarters, Newtonville, Monday evening, November 22, for a discussion and lecture on the philosophy and design of Civil Defense.

After an introduction by Director Alan D. Duff, in which he expressed appreciation for the interest and dedication of the group, Herbert S. Robbins, Deputy Director of Control Center, described the purposes of Civil Defense, the chain of mutual aid from the first warning of danger by the Air Defense Command, through the Federal Civil Defense administration, the state, to the local unit.

Following the lecture which was illustrated by diagram, Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., Assistant Chief of the Newton Fire Department, and Chief Milton P. Young of the Auxiliary Fire Department, described in detail the workings of both divisions.

Gilbert J. Champagne, First Aid Instructor and Water Safety Officer of the Newton Police Department, who attended the Federal Civil Defense Rescue School in Maryland, also spoke. He presented a motion picture, "Rescue Street."

Wallace E. Allen, Chief Deputy Director, requested that civic minded men and women volunteer for the staff of the Control Center by simply phoning him at DEcatur 2-3330, or visiting him at Civil Defense Headquarters.

Germany Lecture By Miss Avery Nov. 8 Morning

"Ten years ago it was inconceivable; today it is inevitable." With those words, Miss Eunice Harriet Avery comments upon the amazing reversal in our attitude toward the possibility of an industrially strong, politically united, re-armed Germany.

Miss Avery will give this long-awaited lecture on present-day Germany on Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Community Playhouse in Wellesley Hills. All lectures are open to the public with tickets available at the door.

In the course of her many journeys to practically every corner of the world, she has studied, visited, and observed Germany frequently over a 30-year period. She has watched the reviving trade competition of the Germans in Asia and the Middle East. This summer in Indonesia she met Germans helping in the new rehabilitation program.

The Wellesley League of Voters in cooperation with neighboring Leagues sponsors this annual series of Wednesday morning lectures as a community educational service. The League believes that a strong America needs concerned and informed citizens.

Wanted: More Wise Men

Many centuries ago, three Wise Men made a long journey and they arrived safely. The purpose of their trip to Bethlehem was to celebrate the birth of the Christ child.

Now, one thousand, nine hundred and fifty-four years later, many men will journey to their own birthplace to join family and friends in celebrating that same birthday anniversary, Christmas.

These men will travel differently, by high speed motor vehicles, but if they are wise men they, too, can arrive safely.

It is ironic that this Christian occasion should be the most deadly from an accident standpoint, the National Safety Council says. Last year, 519 persons were killed in Christmas weekend traffic accidents, and December 24 is the most dangerous day of the year in traffic.

Early darkness and bad weather, which add up to poor visibility, increase holiday traffic hazards. Fogged windshields also make it difficult to see and avoid accident situations.

Rain, snow and ice mean slippery streets and highways.

Good fellowship stimulates more drinking often before driving.

And thousands of unwise men fail to adjust their driving speeds to these hazardous conditions.

To overcome the added hazards of the season, the Council says, more wise men, bearing gifts of extra caution, courtesy and common sense, are needed. Then the traditional spirit of Christmas, "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men," will spread over the highways and the land.

Cars, Kids Need Room

An awareness of the critical problem of crowded space in our public schools, and a sense of the right direction towards solving it, is evidenced by the move by the Newton school committee to seek money for needed additions to the Cabot, Ward and Peirce schools.

Ten new class rooms and two auditoriums for student assemblies will solve the needs of the immediate future—and, may cost in the vicinity of half a million dollars.

Let us be spared the annoying cry of the so-called economy-minded who see in every civic expense, however worthy, a threat to the community well-being. Cramped classrooms are a national disgrace and a menace as well. They are suffered in epidemic proportions in our land today; mostly caused by shortsightedness on the part of elected and appointed school officials, often delayed by the penny-wise, pound-foolish element of the population.

The project in Newton will answer the requirements for elbow room for teachers and pupils through 1957, according to current planning. It is to be earnestly and fondly hoped that the green light will be given promptly and whole-heartedly.

Indicative of the trend in modern education, especially in a city rated as enjoying above the average circumstances, is the need for additional parking space for automobiles at Newton high school. It's a long way from the kid who hoofed it to the little red schoolhouse. Today's far from bashful beau can carry more than the books of his "girl in calico,"—he gives her a lift to school, too. What a time to be a couple of kids.

Murphy in effect served notice this week that he does not plan to stand aside for McDonough. He declared that he regards himself the titular leader of his party in this State and asserted that he intends to be an active spokesman for it during the next two years. Murphy did not rule out the possibility of his seeking the Governorship again.

To understand the situation existing in the Democratic party in Massachusetts, one has to go back to the Democratic State convention in Worcester early last June for the beginning of the story and trace some of the developments which have occurred since then.

McDonough and Murphy were the top candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial endorsement at that conclave, and McDonough led on the voting for the first three ballots.

A shift to him by one of the big contingents would have given McDonough the endorsement, but a log-jam developed until Dever stepped in to break it, persuading the lesser candidates to withdraw from the field. When that happened, a shift to Murphy gave him the victory.

Burke was one of McDonough's top advisers and lieutenants at the convention and lined up a sizeable number of Western Massachusetts delegates for the Dorchester man.

The angry McDonough charged after the convention that he had been "jobbed" by ex-Governor Dever and that the latter had swung the endorsement to Murphy.

On the surface, at least, it appeared that all Dever actually had done was to persuade Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, Edward M. Gallagher, Jr., of Brighton and State Bank Commissioner Timothy Donovan to withdraw from the field in order to end a stalemate which might have continued indefinitely with them in the battling.

There were subsequent rumblings, however, which indicated that Dever had pulled strings from behind the scenes, as McDonough charged, and that the ex-Governor with some political sleight-of-hand work had helped to swing the endorsement to Murphy.

Any bitterness existing was covered up during the campaign, as Murphy went on to win the endorsement over Francis E. Kelly in the primary and McDonough stood for reelection to the Executive Council.

The feeling, however, boiled up again after Murphy was defeated by Governor Herter, and it is fair to say that the Democratic party in the Bay State is now torn by internal strife, as often happens after a reverse such as Murphy suffered.

McDonough in a speech before the State Club hit out forcefully at the way Murphy's campaign was conducted and in substance charged that a number of the so-called party professionals had been snubbed and had not been invited into prominent places on the Murphy bandwagon.

Murphy did not answer McDonough directly, but in a copyrighted story in last Sunday's Boston Post he observed rather tartly that he had never realized it was necessary to issue special invitations to professional Democratic politicians in order to get them to support their party's candidate for Governor.

Whether McDonough helped his own cause by what he had to say at the State Club is open to debate. Some observers consider that he further alienated Murphy's supporters, when the shrewder thing to do would have been to pour oil on the troubled Democratic waters and attempt to draw the Murphy adherents over to his side by administering some political soothing syrup to them.

In the weeks since election Murphy has taken his defeat like a professional that he is. He has voiced none of the complaints and gripes that so often come from a losing candidate. He has not shouted about knifings or attempted to blame anyone else for his inability to get enough votes to win. Except for one interview in the Post, he has remained silent, and he has carefully refrained from doing or saying anything which would touch off new explosions within his party.

But it can be reported that Murphy is extremely resentful over what McDonough had to say, particularly as it reflected upon people who worked hard for him in the campaign, who went down to defeat with him and who were still nursing their own disappointment when McDonough snapped the political whip at them.

It seems unlikely that Murphy can himself win the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1956, largely because he is not a colorful, scintillating figure, although nothing, of course, is certain in politics, and circumstances in the next 20 months could push him into the foreground.

Murphy, however, will wield considerable influence in the Democratic party, and he will be in a position to have a good deal to say about who is chosen to carry the Democratic banner into the 1956 gubernatorial race.

An alliance between Murphy and District Attorney Byrne, for example, would be an extremely potent one, and it is not unlikely that it may develop. The struggle for control within the Democratic party in Massachusetts during the coming months should be an extremely interesting one.

One of the most remarkable men in the history of Massachusetts politics celebrated a birthday the other day, and it didn't receive the attention it merited.

James M. Curley, former Governor, ex-Congressman and four-term Mayor, marked his 80th milestone in a lifetime that has been almost as stormy as it has colorful.

Curley observed his 80th birthday by declaring that he intends to run again for Mayor next year, and the amazing part of it is that he probably could defeat almost anyone on the political horizon except Mayor Hynes whom he would be unlikely to oppose, notwithstanding his own pronouncements to the contrary.

Not long ago, Hynes' official car stopped across from City Hall, just as Curley was strolling down School street, and the two opponents in the 1949 and 1951 mayoralty contests paused to chat amiably for a few moments.

As they parted, Curley glanced at the official municipal limousine, patted his hand on the hood and, turning to Robert Curtis, Hynes' chauffeur, quipped: "Be careful of this car. I'm planning to take it over in January, 1956."

Christmas Business Prospects Rosy For Local Shops, Stores

Merchants in the Suburban Boston area, in independent communities like the "Blue Chip" suburbs of Newton, Needham, Dedham, West Roxbury and Roslindale are on the threshold of the best Christmas shopping season in years.

Retail sales momentum built up and sustained throughout the eleven months of 1954 should be reflected in a major upswing in holiday buying for all communities within the suburban district. Anticipating this, gayly decorated stores and specialty shops report unusually attractive gift merchandise at prices bound to appeal to shoppers of both sexes.

Foundation for this Yuletide optimism is no less authentic and reliable than the official business statistics periodically released by the Department of Research of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. Reports for November have the stores in the Suburban Boston area still in first place and showing the strongest, and most consistent, trend upward in retail sales for the entire state.

SUBURBS LEAD IN RESERVE BANK REPORTS

Three periodic releases for November show the suburban stores and shops with 10 per cent, 14 per cent and 15 per cent increases in sales over the corresponding periods last year; these figures are high for the entire New England area. Stores in downtown Boston were credited with only a 3 per cent increase over 1953 in the three reports.

This strong upsurge in business for communities served by the Transcript Publications, and other cities and towns in the suburban area, is no flash-in-the-pan boom; the pattern for more retail sales in these communities has maintained a persistent high for the year as reported on Federal Reserve Bank charts. Other districts, and cities, were not so fortunate; some have suffered declines and have dropped to 37 per cent below their last year's sales.

NEWSPAPERS CARRY BULK OF ADVERTISING

Trade circles note an interesting facet in the bright gem of Suburban Boston business prospects and records, in the fact that the bulk of the store, specialty shop and market advertising is carried in newspapers, like the Transcript Publications. A study of the pages of this newspaper, and of other Transcript Publications, will bear out this statement. The Transcript Publications are favorite advertising media in the five "Blue Chip" suburbs.

Federal Reserve Bank statistics on retail store sales in this state and in New England add strength to the theory — now well substantiated — that business is showing a growing — and a steady — inclination towards the suburbs.

Postal Employees Experts in Yule Package Mailing

It is important at this time of year for patrons of the post offices of the nation to look on postal employees as experts in matters dealing with the mailing of Christmas parcels. All postal people are expected to be helpful and courteous, according to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

"Postal employees are familiar with the 'why's' and 'wherefores', the 'do's' and 'don'ts' of mailing parcels," Postmaster General Summerfield emphasized. "I urge our patrons to take advantage of the desire of post office employees to assist them with their mailing problems.'

Number one rule to follow is to remember that no matter what type of gift is being mailed, it should be enclosed in a strong container. Another "must" in Christmas mailing is to label clearly where the parcel is going and also—and this is something often forgotten—print a return address. The Post Office Department prefers to have the parcel addressed on one side only.

"If tied with string or cord—cord is preferable—four pieces—two in each direction around the parcel—is advised. This acts as a safeguard in case one cord should break or become loose," the Postmaster General warned.

It was further pointed out by Mr. Summerfield that a sealed package must have written or printed on it the words "may be opened for postal inspection" Without this notation the sealed package would come under the first-class rate.

Anyone contemplating sending perishable articles as gifts would be well advised to first contact his local post office to find out how they should be wrapped and how to mark the package. There are definite postal regulations as to what constitutes perishable items and the maximum distance they may be sent.

There is a weight limitation of 40 pounds on each parcel post package mailed between first-class post offices which are not more than 150 miles apart. Over 150 miles, and within the United States, there is a 20-pound limit. "Postal employees are familiar with these limitations," Mr. Summerfield said, "and it is their job to interpret the law for our patrons."

For those postal patrons who wish to expedite the delivery of their gifts there are special services available. These include air mail, special delivery. and special handling.

"We expect the heaviest Christmas mail in the history of the department this year," Mr. Summerfield pointed out. "I urge all patrons to shop early and mail early. It is far better to mail gifts ahead of time rather than too late. All postal employees are ready, willing and able to assist in any way that they can. Their knowledge and experience are there for the asking."

W. N. Community Service Club in Painting Program

A program entitled "It's Fun to Paint" featured the regular November meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton recently in the Second Church, West Newton.

"Let no American be duped by irresponsible talk about the alleged 'give-away' policies of the Eisenhower administration: That kind of talk comes from pro-socialists who think it would be wonderful if the government could own and operate all of the country's national resources."—Portland (Me.) Health For All

No Shawl for Grandma

A little old lady in a shawl and lace cap sitting with her hands folded in her lap—that's the way Grandma's picture has been painted for generations. It's high time for the grandmothers of the world to stand up and fight this unfair picture. In doing so, they will be fighting for their lives.

Doctors say that "babying" elderly people until they feel useless only hurries them to the grave. It is just as foolish to overprotect our aged parents as to overindulge our children. Overprotection can turn a happy, useful person into a cranky dependent, dragging miserably through the last years of life. Grandma would rather get a big dinner for the family than be taken out to the finest restaurant. Whistler's Mother would have looked happier rolling out a pie.

The trend a few decades ago was to put people over 60 on the shelf. Fortunately many refused to stay there. Now doctors tell us how important useful work is in keeping them healthy and contented. Even those with heart trouble often do much better if they have light work. Sitting around worrying and complaining is more strain on the heart muscle.

Industries that used to have arbitrary retirement ages are beginning to take a new look at their policies. Retirement at 60 may hinder rather than help a person to begin to live in quiet contentment. It may make him feel unwanted and inferior. Gradual slowing down of activity, switching to lighter or less time-consuming work, and preparation for new interests that can be followed when full retirement comes—this is industry's progressive plan.

Sons and daughters may well go along with the findings of both industry and the medical profession. The whole family as well as its older members will benefit. Grandma may have to struggle against well-meant efforts to wrap her in a shawl but the results in better health and real contentment will be worth it.

N-W Hospital Nursing School Subject of Research Grant

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing will benefit from a $15,000 federal research grant made by the National Institute of Public Health to Harvard School of Public Health. The money has been earmarked for evaluating research on the benefits derived by students at the nursing school from the program offered them by the Human Relations Service of Wellesley.

This marks the third year that the 55 entering students at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Nursing School have been participating in the program of mental hygiene carried on by by the Human Relations Service of Wellesley.

Harper's Magazine thought enough of the Wellesley experiment to praise its results highly in a July, 1953 article. The magazine had the following to say about the phase of the program practiced at the nursing school.

"The same techniques (of mental hygiene) were applied to the first-year students at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Throughout the nation about one-third of all nursing students leave within a few months because of the severe discipline and emotional problems involved in nurses' training . . . The class proved surprisingly good when they got into ward duty . . . Far more important, all the girls except two stayed, when ordinarily about 15 would have been expected to quit."

Twenty-five years ago there were few fields, primarily nursing, teaching and secretarial work, open to young women. Today the opportunities are considerably broadened, resulting in fierce competition for high school graduates.

Nursing is a profession which demands discipline, and often the strain of a changeover from a carefree life to one full of adult responsibilities is too much for an adolescent girl, causing her to drop out of training. With the need for nurses increasing, the government has decided to grant funds for research on the program offered at the Newton-Wellesley. The research grant has been made to determine if the unique program employed at the hospital would be feasible on a much wider scale, and to ascertain whether it is the answer to the high "drop-out rate" among nursing students.

During the pending study, a trained group of observers will sift and analyze, over a one-year period, the research data collected over a three year period (ending next June) from a seminar in human relations given to all entering student nurses at the hospital.

The study will attempt to determine, if possible, the stress situations in nursing and how these might be relieved by changes in the School of Nursing program. It will also attempt to determine in what way the students have developed skill in handling stress situations.

The $15,000 granted the Harvard School of Public Health will be used jointly by the Human Relations Service of Wellesley and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing to evaluate the program at the nursing school.

In addition, the National Institute of Health is planning to make a $14,000 grant for a comparison study. The mental hygiene results at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing will be compared to the regular program offered students of a similar age group. The probability is that either a specific college group or another nursing school will be studied in the comparison phase of the research program.

Principals in the nursing school's mental health program have been Dr. Gerald Caplan, Dr. Eric Lindermann, Dr. Pearl Rosenberg, a clinical psychologist trained in group work; Miss Myrtice Fuller, director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing, and Miss Hilda Batchelder, assistant director of the nursing school.

Taxicab Stolen As Driver Leaps Clear in Newton

An indecisive passenger made off with a Boston taxicab shortly after midnight Sunday on Kenrick street, Newton, when the driver leaped from the vehicle to protect his fare receipts.

The driver, Joseph Jackson, 65, of Roxbury, told police he picked up a 27-year-old, 5' 8" man in front of a Boston hotel. The passenger asked to go to Cambridge, then to Newton, finally settling on Kenrick street.

Once on the street, Jackson felt something cold placed against the back of his neck, and the man announced it was a holdup. Jackson jumped from the car and ran as the other drove off with the car. In addition to listing the man's age and height, Jackson also described him as being thin with dark hair.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Most of us have a tendency to put things off . . . and that's true when it comes to caring for our television sets. We'll notice that the picture isn't quite as good as it should be, or that little warning signs are present, but we put off calling a serviceman . . . until one night when a favorite show is on, suddenly we don't have any picture.

Best bet to avoid this kind of disappointment is to learn to detect the trouble signs and call in a serviceman before there's a complete sound or picture breakdown. We've mentiond these signs before — picture shrinkage, for instance, or a fading picture that begins to look white. Failure of contrast controlls to make enough difference in the picture is another sign. And one of the most common is "pulling out" of the picture or "sound" in the picture (ticks or jumps that cause a brief flicker in the screen).

That "pulling out" horizontally can usually be corrected by adjusting the hold control on your set. However, if the picture keeps pulling out after it is properly adjusted, the chances are that one of the horizontal power tubes is failing. Don't wait for the picture to pull out and stay out. Call for service as soon as you detect these signs of trouble.

The experienced technician can make an accurate service diagnosis from just such signs. Our technicians have that experience . . . and the testing equipment to verify their judgment. Call on them when you want your set put right.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia. For a better choice in the finest in TV, visit our showroom.

Female Tag Team Grudge Rematch On Friday Bill

Infuriated by her disqualification in the third fall of last week's tag team match, Slave Girl Moolah has picked a new partner, mischievous Millie Stewart, for Friday night's grudge tag team match with Darling Dagmar and Daisy Mae at the West Newton Armory.

After last week's bout, Moolah raged that she'd have won if she'd been given more aid by her partner, Princess Gussie. The Slave Girl then challenged the winners and selected a new collaborator.

Dagmar, most beautiful girl in the ring, and hillbilly Daisy Mae accepted the challenge enthusiastically, setting the stage for another donnybrook.

The largest crowd of the season thrilled to last week's action-packed melee and cheered the verdict. Only one to suffer a setback besides Moolah and Gussie was the embarrassed arbiter, Walt Lipson. He literally lost his shirt in the wild scramble which saw Moolah giving him the heave-ho.

The sim-final will find Nature Boy Ricco, amazing 19-year-old wonder boy of matdom, tangling with highly-touted newcomer Jean LaFleur. Ricco is rated a great prospect by ring exerts.

In the special bout opening the program at 8:30 o'clock, Chief Blue Eagle, terror of the teepees, will take on towering Stan Wydra, whose brute strength is as awesome as his facial contortions are funny.

Newton Sports

Showing only flashes of its true potential, Newton managed to do the wrong things at crucial points. On the other hand, Brookline pulled only one "rock," which ultimately resulted in the Orange and Black's lone touchdown . . . A 42-yard drive following an intercepted pass got the visitors off to a 7-point start. Ritter romped over from the 15 after picking up 24 yards in two other tries. Newton came roaring back after the score and seemed well on its way to the tying touchdown. Newton started from its own 35 after the kickoff and moved to the Brookline 32 before a new play—installed for this game—backfired. Chuck Fogarty started around the left end on a quarterback option play, tried to lateral the ball back to Lucier as he was hemmed in and lobbed the ball over Dick's head. Lucier tried to scoop up the bounding ball, but Brookline swarmed all over him and took the ball at midfield . . . Ritter and Fay alternated in moving down to the six, from where Ritter shot through the middle for his second score. Newton followed with its lone score, aided by a prize boner by Brookline. Held on downs on the Newton 37, the Orange was forced to punt. The pass back sailed over Billy Reilly's head, but he was able to recover the ball on his own 15 and—thanks to great blocking—still had time to boot upfield . . . Despite being surrounded by Newton men, a Brookline lineman attempted to catch the ball on the fly and juggled it. He was promptly separated from the pigskin and Newton recovered for an unusual—to say the least—seven-yard gain and a first down.

Two plays later Fogarty uncorked a tremendous pass to fullback Bobby Lee who reversed his field to grab the ball on the Brookline 30. Ritter—that man again!—overtook the speeding Lee and downed him on the 15 . . . Lucier plowed through left guard from the three, and Mike Vassalotti kicked the point to place Newton squarely back in the ball game.

Brookline's one-two punch of Charlie "Choo-Choo" Ritter and Jackie Fay, a pair of clever, speedy halfbacks, ran Newton into the ground Thanksgiving morning as the Orange and Black ended its season with a sour note on the wrong end of a 38-7 walloping . . . With a share of the Class A title in prospect, Brookline made the most of its opportunities while Newton bumbled and fumbled what should have been a close, hard-fought game into a walkaway for the visitors. Ritter scampered to three touchdowns across the muddy gridiron, gaining 181 yards in only 14 carries. Fay carried one more time, making an even 100 yards and scoring once on a 2-yard belt after setting the score up with a 64-yard sprint in the dying seconds of the first half . . . More than 10,000 ringed the rain-soaked field to witness the fourth worst beating ever administered the Orange and Black by its traditional Thanksgiving rival. The throng was disappointed by Newton's lapses which handed Brookline the game on a silver platter, but the damp spectators were nevertheless treated to a wild offensive show by Ritter and Fay . . . No two-man team was Brookline, however. Its quick-charging line ripped open the holes that gave its fleet halfbacks the chance to take off, and consistently outplayed Newton's frontier when the chips were down. Brookline led 7-0 at the quarter, 19-7 at halftime, 26-7 in the third period and tallied 12 more points in the final quarter as the substitutes took over.

The outstanding feature of the game from Newton's viewpoint was Dick Lucier's breaking of the individual rushing record set by Joe Wright in 1949. Lucier, needing only 98 yards to set a new mark in his last two games, was held to a mere 28 by Waltham . . . This left him 70 short of a new record, and his chances seemed pretty slim against Brookline of picking up the needed yardage. Dick gained 71 despite the sloppy going on 16 rushes, and wound up with 615 yards—two over Wright's total.

But Newton faded rapidly after that. On the first play after the kickoff, Fay rambled through a gaping hole through the left side of Newton's line for 64 yards. Lee managed to overtake Fay at the 2-yard marker, but this only delayed the score as Fay crunched over seconds later. The half ended as Brookline kicked off . . . The Orange and Black made one more threatening gesture before succumbing. From its own 38 in the third canto, Newton marched to a first down on the nine. Fogarty and Lucier missed connections on the quarterback option play again, with Lucier covering the ball on the 15. On fourth down, Fogarty was trapped trying to pass from the 20, and that was the end of the game as far as Newton was concerned . . . Quick-hitting Brookline promptly sprang Ritter loose for an 80-yard scoring jaunt on the first play. Off to a blazing start through a huge hole in the line, no defender had a chance to touch "Choo-Choo" on his third TD run . . . In the final quarter, a handoff was messed up near Newton's goal-line, and Brookline took over inside the 10. Three plays later a sub back had run the score to 32-7. Touchdown number six was added following another fumble on the 25, also in three plays . . . Worse beatings taken by Newton in this series which began back in 1894 were in 1946, when Brookline romped 40-6; in 1947, with a 46-14 score, and in 1930, the identical 38-7 tally. Despite the loss, Newton still completed the season with a commendable record of five wins, two ties and two defeats.

No sooner has football disappeared from the local sports scene than hockey is making its annual winter appearance. Newton—which finished a single point behind champion Belmont in the greater Boston Interscholastic League last year—will take part in a jamboree at the Boston Arena Saturday night . . . Anyone who likes variety will find plenty of action in the eight-game, 16-team ice-fest. Newton is paired against Waltham for two 12-minute periods, and the fun starts at 7 p. m.

A GOOD TRY, BUT—Newton fullback Bobby Lee, outstanding in defeat along with halfback Dick Lucier, is shown being brought down by a pair of Brookline players after gaining about nine yards on a sweep around left end. Telephone Firm Plans to Seek Rate Increase

Blaming wage increases and hurricane repair expense, the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company has announced it will seek permission for a rate increase from the Department of Public Utilities.

"Within a short time," announced Hugh W. MacDonald, general manager for Massachusetts, "the company will file a petition with the Department of Public Utilities for additional revenues.

"This action will be in line with the September decision and order of the Supreme Judicial Court, which remanded the case to the Department for further consideration and supported the company's contention that the rates authorized would not permit earnings at the minimum rate specified in the Department's order.

"The major reason for the failure of present rates to provide the earnings authorized is the big increase in the company's investment since the Department of Public Utilities reviewed our situations. Since December, 1952, when the present rates were filed, our investment in Massachusetts intrastate plant has been incerased by some $50 million. Obviously, additional revenues are needed to provide adequate earnings on such a substantial increase in investment," he continued.

"On the basis of the increased investment alone, the company would have had to seek additional revenues to bring its earnings up to the minimum level. This accounts for the major part of the increase which we will seek. But since the Supreme Judicial Court remanded the telephone rate case to the Department of Public Utilities, two other factors have increased our annual expenses. One is a wage increase bargained in October with the unions representing our non-management employees. The other is an allowance for part of the expenses occasioned by the two hurricanes.

"These matters will be presented to the Commission in the petition for additional revenues which will be presented to the Department soon."

The Christmas seal, which originated in Denmark in 1904, is now sold in more than 40 countries of the world, and in most of them proceeds from its sale go to combating and spread of tuberculosis.

A letter was read from Mrs. Yvonne Fidalgo, the Club's first president, who was unable to be present. Mrs. John H. H. Turner read a sketch of the Club's early history, and Mrs. George Hanson gave two humorous monologues.

Gifts for the parish hall, presented to the church by the Tuesday Evening Club, were accepted by the Reverend Frederick W. Rapp, Rector of the Church of the Messiah.

Says That Mambo Is Really Just SyncopatedRumba

Mambo, the latest dance sensation, is really a syncopated rumba, according to Vivian Bold, Newton dance authority.

Miss Bold, who has her own dance studio in Waban Centre, Newton, explains that the Mambo was started by Latin musicians who experimented with numerous styles of syncopation to increase the dynamics, or add to the vital energy and excitement of their music. The "riff," a repeated musical phrase which originated in Harlem, seemed the most acceptable style. Spanish musicians used the word Mambo, which is supposedly the Latin pronunciation, translation or substitution for "riff."

Body movement in the Mambo is quite similar to rumba, but there is the addition of accented hip motion on the second beat. Also significant in the Mambo is the fact that steps done in open or break position need not be done in unison.

Miss Bold feels that the Mambo will attain peak popularity with dancers of all ages in the next few months and will continue to rate as one of the most prominent dance variations for many years to come.

Chief Warns of Fire Hazard From Inflammable Yule Toys

Because of the serious fire hazard, Newton stores have been asked by Fire Chief John E. Cameron to withdraw from sale three highly inflammable toys manufactured in foreign countries for the Christmas season.

He listed three toys known to be dangerous: a merry-go-round, a Santa Claus and a doll pushing a carriage. Made from a celluloid base, these toys are easily set afire with a small amount of heat and burn fiercely, igniting other inflammables which may be nearby.

"In recent weeks there have been several instances of stores selling highly flammable celluloid-base toys. Most of these are of foreign origin where life and fire safety are not a primary requisite," Chief Corcoran said.

"Tests have been made of these toys for fire safety. The results show that they can be ignited by a small amount of heat and that the flames consume them in just a few short seconds. They burn with such intensity that they can easily ignite most any object near them."

Chief Corcoran requests that all stores in Newton stop the sale of these items now before any children become seriously injured while playing with them and thereby preventing any fires starting in the homes from this cause.

"If you have any doubt about the fire safety of any toys or other articles, contact the fire department and we will try to secure the necessary information for you. A fire safe Christmas will be a Happy Christmas for everyone," the chief concluded.

Chorus Presents Christmas Music Program Sunday

The Newton Community Chorus, continuing its tradition of presenting unique music, will have in its Sunday program "The Song of Christmas" by Roy Ringwald, which was first presented by Fred Waring and His Pennsylvanians on December 25, 1945.

"The Song of Christmas" comprises original music, selected excerpts from 20 songs and carols appropriate to the Christmas season and abridged verses from the Holy Scriptures. Interspersed before each of the 20 selected excerpts are the abridged verses from the Holy Scriptures. The entire choral arrangement can be described as a narration of the story of the Nativity with musical interpretations.

As in past programs, a good deal of the music has challenged the talent of the chorus but by sheer determination the chorus has succeeded in rounding out a fine varied program of Christmas music.

Young Baritone To Be Soloist At Concert

The Highland Glee Club of Newton presents as its soloist for the December concert, the talented young baritone McHenry Boatwright, of Boston. Mr. Boatwright was chosen the outstanding graduate of the 1954 class of the New England Conservatory of Music and has already won five awards—the Marian Anderson award, the Lotta Crabtree scholarship, the Pi Kappa Lambda scholarship at the Conservatory, the Michaels Music Memorial award and the Chicagoland Festival award.

He has sung with the Boston, New York and Chicago symphony orchestras; he appeared as soloist at a dinner in the Boston Garden in honor of President Eisenhower and has been heard many times on radio and television.

Mr. Boatwright will be supported by an exceptionally fine program of male chortuses rendered by the Highland Glee Club—the winning club again in the contest of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs in Salem in May of this year.

The concert will be given in the Newton High School auditorium at 8:15 on December 14.

Local Men Active In Boating Unit

Eliot F. Rogers of Newtonville was elected a senior lieutenant and Walter H. Thoits of West Newton, director of publicity, at a recent meeting of 26 members of the Boston Power Squadron in Watertown to organize the Pequossette Power Squadron.

A third local member of the new squadron is Richard W. Freeman of Newton Centre. The main purpose of the Power Squadron is educational, and once a regular meeting place has been established, classes will be available to all interested in boating, both owners of boats and non-owners.

Urge Motorists Register Early To Avoid Crowd

With the largest registration of motor vehicles this year in the history of Massachusetts, and with all signs pointing to an increased registration for 1955, the Registry of Motor Vehicles urges motorists to go to their nearest branch offices and get their 1955 number plates over the counter in preference to mailing their applications to the main office.

"We cannot guarantee delivery of plates before January 1st on applications received in the mail after December 6," a Registry spokesman declared. "The Registry has provided more than 26 branch offices scattered throughout the state from Hyannis to North Adams to give this over-the-counter service, and we are asking motorists to take advantage of it."

Health for All

No Shawl for Grandma

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: Malden Board of Health, the local tuberculosis committee, and Middlesex Health Association.

A little old lady in a shawl and lace cap sitting with her hands folded in her lap—that's the way Grandma's picture has been painted for generations. It's high time for the grandmothers of the world to stand up and fight this unfair picture. In doing so, they will be fighting for their lives.

Doctors say that "babying" elderly people until they feel useless only hurries them to the grave. It is just as foolish to overprotect our aged parents as to overindulge our children. Overprotection can turn a happy, useful person into a cranky dependent dragging miserably through the last years of life. Grandma would rather get a big dinner for the family than be taken out to the finest restaurant. Whistler's Mother would have looked happier rolling out a pie.

The trend a few decades ago was to put people over 60 on the shelf. Fortunately many refused to stay there. Now doctors tell us how important useful work is in keeping them healthy and contented. Even those with heart trouble often do much better if they have light work. Sitting around worrying and complaining is more strain on the heart muscle.

Industries that used to have arbitrary retirement ages are beginning to take a new look at their policies. Retirement at 60 may hinder rather than help a person to begin to live in quiet contentment. It may make him feel unwanted and inferior. Gradual slowing down of activity, switching to lighter or less time-consuming work,

What Shall We Eat . . . . . 10 Tips to Trim Meals

1. Serve leftovers with a flourish. Make your favorite hash. Then, add the flourish; top the hash with slices of pineapple, broiled golden brown.

2. You can't beat pumpkin pie served with a slice of sharp cheddar cheese.

3. Are you making fruit cake or steamed pudding this month? You know a pound of pitted dates or a pound of seedless raisins makes about 3 cups. ½ pound of broken nutmeats makes about 2 cups.

4. Dessert to brighten winter's table is orange sherbet topped with frozen raspberries. Coffee flavored cookies go well with it.

5. Start dinner with cups of consomme garnished with rings of sliced olives.

6. Be sure to have Indian pudding on a cold day that whets appetites. What's the best topping? It's the one you like best; you're boss. Choose from these. Hard sauce, marshmallow cream, ice cream, plain or whipped cream and rum butter.

7. If you serve shrimp at Saturday night's party, save a few to go on Sunday's scrambled eggs. Reheat the cooked shrimp, buttered under the broiler.

8. Dairy Cocktail will warm chilled friends who visit. Simmer together 1 cup consomme (undiluted) and 1 cup water. Add 2 cups milk, stirring well. Pour into cups and serve hot. If you wish, top with unsweetened whipped cream and a dash of nutmeg.

9. Make ahead for lunch: When you pack cheese sandwiches for school lunches make an extra for your own lunch. Butter it on the outside and store in the refrigerator. At noon, grill it in your frying pan.

10. Serve Cheese and Onion Puff with your hot turkey dinner.

CHEESE AND ONION PUFF

1 lb. yellow onions (4 medium size)
8 slices buttered bread, cubed
1 pkg. (8 oz.) American cheese diced
1 teaspoon mononsodium glutamate*
Salt and pepper
4 eggs
1 quart milk
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Cook onions in 1-inch boiling water 10 minutes or just under tender. Drain. Halve onions across, if desired, for eating ease. Butter shallow baking pan, 12x7x2. Arrange half the bread in bottom of baking dish; cover with onions and half the cheese; sprinkle with monosodium glutamate, salt and pepper; to with remaining bread and cheese. Beat eggs slightly with milk and Worcestershire sauce; pour over bread-cheese mixture. Bake in 350 deg. F. oven 50 to 60 minutes, or until top is puffy and golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

What Shall We Eat . . . Choose A Chowder . . .

The fragrant odor of hot soup in the making is a friendly homey welcome on a cold day. Of course, the real pleasure comes when you sit down to the table and enjoy a big bowlful.

Cream soups made with nourishing milk, not only taste good but are good body building protein foods. They're substantial food for the main course at lunch time. A sandwich or salad, milk and dessert will complete a menu everyone will praise. The popularity of soup extends to the the busy homemaker, too. She likes to serve soups frequently because they're so quick and easy to prepare.

Though soups know no season, they say the time to enjoy oysters is when there is an "R" in the month. We have a generous string of "R" months each year with plenty of time to enjoy oyster stew topped with pools of melted butter. Oysters are a good starting point for a hearty chowder, too. Golden kernels of corn and potato cubes combine well with oysters in the recipe below for Oyster Corn Chowder. It's a hearty chowder your family will enjoy.

OYSTER CORN CHOWDER

4 tablespoons butter
½ cup finely diced onion
5 cups milk, scalded
2 teaspoons salt
Dash cayenne
2 cups cooked diced potatoes
1⅔ cups cooked whole grain corn
1 cup raw oysters
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Fry onions in 2 tablespoons melted butter, over low heat, until tender. Add hot milk, seasonings, potatoes and corn. Heat remaining 2 tablespoons butter; add oysters and Worcestershire sauce and simmer until edges of oysters begin to curl. Add to corn chowder. Makes 6 servings.

Film Program At Museum Of Science

An extra-special December film program at Boston's Museum of Science is getting to be a Christmas custom. This year, it's the Academy Award winner "The Sea Around Us", a technicolor documentary sure to enthrall youngsters and discriminating adults too. It will be shown each December weekend, in addition to daily showings the week after Christmas.

In 62 minutes of exploration in, on, and above the ocean, "The Sea Around Us" presents such curiosities of man's "last frontier" as a battle between shark and octopus, a modern whale hunt, swimming birds, the birth of turtles, even man in his undersea journeys. It includes some of the finest marine natural history ever shown in color and wondrous pictures of microscopic ocean life.

Starting December 4, "The Sea Around Us" will be shown each weekend on Saturday at 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Sunday at 3:30. Additional showings the week after Christmas are scheduled for 3:30 the afternoons of Dec. 28, 29, 30 and 31.

82nd YEAR. 49 NEWTON, MASSACHUSETTS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1954 Single Copies 5c; $2.00 Per Year

Score of Residents Ask to Keep West Newton Intact as Village

OLD-FASHIONED CHRISTMAS—Gwen Thistle is shown practicing Christmas carols on the old Chickering piano at the Jackson Homestead in preparation for the Christmas Open House of the Community Museum Sunday afternoon. All Newton citizens are invited to visit the Homestead at 527 Washington street, Newton, and see the exhibits of early Americans.

Jackson Homestead Schedules Yuletide Open House Sunday

Christmas carols will be played on the old Chickering piano at the Jackson Homestead, Newton, from 3 to 5 p.m., Sunday, when a special Christmas Open House will be held. All the rooms of the lovely 1809 home will be decorated with greens and flowers and each window will gleam with candlelight.

As special guests, the religious leaders of all denominations of Newton have been invited to help "keep Christmas" in an old-fashioned way. Everyone interested is urged to come, join in the singing and in the joyfulness of the season. Miss Jane Berquist, a member of the Newton Community Chorus, in period costume will sing a number of Christmas songs.

The special exhibit will feature embroideries, laces of the early 1800's, needlepoint and a toile from which pattern some present day wallpaper has been copied. The earliest piece to be shown is a hand-loomed linen towel, a gift to the Homestead by Miss Florence Bacon, a Jackson descendant. The date sewn into this towel is 1690, and the initials "H S." identify it as belonging to Hannah Spring, a 5th generation grandmother. The most modern piece shown will be a fiberglass luncheon set. The exhibit is under the direction of Miss Jean A. Howard and Mrs. D. Kenneth Lunmore.

The decorations throughout the house will be arranged by the members of the Auburndale Garden Club under the direction of Mrs. Ralph E. Keyes, who is chairman of the Garden Committee of the Homestead.

General chairman for the Christmas Open House is Miss Adelaide B. Ball, vice-president of the "Friends." Co-hospitality chairmen are Mrs. Howard C. Thomas and Mrs. E. Leslie Ford, The Misses Elizabeth Locke and Suzanne Simonds of Girl Scout Troop 96 will be in costume.

Among those receiving the guests will be Fred C. Alexander, chairman of the Board of Trustees; Donald D. McKay, president of the Friends, and Mrs. McKay; Miss Mary G. Sheridan, Mrs. John H. Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. Edward J. Sawyer, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander I. Peckham, Mr. Charles P. Slocum and Mrs. Walter R. Sears.

Alderman Blasts 'Homely' Electric Telephone Poles

A hint that future extensions of electric lines in Newton may have to be underground instead of from telephone poles was made at Monday's meeting of the Board of Aldermen in City Hall.

During a report on a petition by Boston Edison to erect two poles on Simpson street, Newton, Chairman Joseph B. Davis of the franchises and licenses committee, which passes on all pole and wire locations, deplored the appearance of the poles.

"There is nothing homelier as you drive through the city," said the West Newton alderman, "than telephone poles and transformers." Noting the recent 75th anniversary of the electric light, Davis said that Boston Edison "has improved on everything but the distribution of electricity."

It is very difficult, he continued, to try to improve the looks of the city "when someone else is trying to make it as homely as possible."

The report was on two poles to connect a new house on Simpson street with electric current. Davis pointed out that nearby residents on Hunnewell avenue had complained that their wires went underground,

Chief Purcell Warns About Ice Conditions

"With the recent 'cold snap' some of our ponds, lakes, and rivers are frozen over," said Chief Philip Purcell of the Newton Police Departmen today. "However, C. Evan Johnson, Newton Recreation Commissioner reports that Bullough's Pond, Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street, Ware's Cove in Auburndale, and Crystal Lake, Newton Centre, the three ponds which the Recreation Department has jurisdiction are not safe.

"Parents are urged to play safe. Insist that children skate only in those areas that have been tested and are supervised by the Recreation Department.

"The child will take a chance that the ice is sufficiently thick for skating. They also will skate under unsafe conditions after it begins to thaw.

"Remember — you can't control the weather. You must control the children!"

C. of C. Head Predicts More Land Rezoning for Industry

The 1.7 per cent of Newton land zoned for industrial use is almost completely in use or on option, making sizeable tracts of that property "extremely scarce," according to the report of the Newton Chamber of Commerce president for the calendar year of 1954.

"There is every indication," said President John B. Rubenstein, "that in coming years certain tracts of land, suitable for industry, may well be zoned for that purpose."

During the year, many new industrial and commercial buildings were constructed at a cost of almost $1,500,000, yielding taxes estimated at about $67,000 a year. Completed in 1954 were buildings housing the Truck and Coach Division of General Motors Corporation, Aircraft Testing Instruments plant of Wind Tunnel Instrument Company, Lamp Division, Warehouse and Office of General Electric Company, Petro-Chemical Laboratory of National Research Company, and Parts Warehouse and Zone Office for the Chevrolet-Pontiac Division of General Motors Corporation.

More Buildings Near Completion

Other buildings under construction and expected to be completed in 1955 include three warehouses: Geigy Chemical Company, Jordan Marsh Company and S.S. Pierce Company.

In addition, Rubenstein reported, options have been taken for three television transmitters in Newton by Radio Station WHDH, CBS-Columbia and the DuMont Television Network. All three organizations are seeking the use of Channel 5, and hearings are currently being conducted by the Federal Communications Commission in Washington to determine which will receive the license for this channel.

"In the spring your Chamber took the lead in petitioning the aldermen for off-street parking in Newton Highlands," he continued, "in an effort to revitalize retail sales in that village. Accordingly, a committee of the Board of Aldermen has been studying this situation, and it is felt that funds from parking meters are now available to be used for the purchase of land for off-street parking. We foresee that our hopes and those of Newton Highlands merchants will be fulfilled in the coming year, as soon as the exact location of these areas can be determined by city officials."

Aldermen Slated To Vote Dec. 20 On Ward Changes

Although the objectors explained they had "no particular aversion to further association with the Newton Lower Falls and Auburndale," about 20 West Newton residents protested at a hearing Monday the switch of Ward 3, Precinct 4, to Ward 4 under the realignment of the city's voting districts.

Former alderman Eugene A. Cronin of 11 Talbot street, West Newton, spokesman for the objectors, explained that when part of Rivere street was added to Ward 4, "We felt this was as far as Ward 4 should go." He urged continuing the "village system" and to keep West Newton intact.

He argued that switching Precinct 4 to the Auburndale-Lower Falls ward would split up the natural unity of West Newton. The switch would create a new problem since Ward 3 has

Sand, Gravel Firm Petitions Turned Down by 15-4 Vote

The controversial request by Riverside Sand and Gravel Company to relocate its plant at 300 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, was turned down by a 15-4 vote of the Board of Aldermen Monday night, climaxing debate running back to the middle of October.

The company actually sought two zone changes as alternate plans, but both were defeated. The cement company had asked for a zone change at 300 Grove street to erect a new plant and garage, and also sought a change to manufacturing zone at the junction of Grove street and the Boston and Albany Railroad property.

The Planning Board had approved the latter petition, providing a 100-foot buffer zone was established along Grove street. But the aldermen declined to favor either petition, apparently leaving the company in the position of having to leave the city when their lease at the present site expires.

No debate took place on the floor of the alderman's chamber. Following their habit of keeping strong disagreements out of the public eye, the board completed their arguments last month in executive session.

First indications that the company would be turned down came November 1, when the claims and rules committee recommended "leave to withdraw." Action on the report was blocked by a charter objection by Alderman Leo M. Cannon, and two weeks later five charter protests again postponed a vote.

Monday night Alderman Cannon tried to obtain an executive meeting to discuss the plant's situaton further, but he failed to receive sufficient support. oVting in favor of the cement firm were Aldermen Cannon, Winfield C. Anderson, Charles C. Cosgrove and Joseph B. Davis.

Newton Street Commissioner to Retire Dec. 31

Completing 46 years of service to Newton, Street Commissioner Harold F. Young of 57 Freeman street, Auburndale, is scheduled to retire from the city at the end of this year, shortly after reaching the compulsory retirement age of 65.

Young, who will celebrate his birthday December 21, plans to retire to his home in Osterville. Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., in making public the retirement plans, said the city owes the street commissioner "a deep debt of gratitude."

Although a native of Waltham, Young lived most of his life in Newton and is a graduate of Newton High School. He entered municipal service in 1909, when he became secretary to Mayor George Hutchinson. For a year he was secretary to Mayor Charles Hatfield and in 1911 was named assistant to City Clerk Frank M. Grant, holding that post until 1917.

He served as assistant to Comptroller John Daboll in 1918, and a year later joined his father in the boat house business in Auburndale. He was only out of the city's service for a month, however, as he was named a member of the Board of Health.

In 1920, Young was elected to the Board of Aldermen. He served four years, holding the post of chairman of the public work committee in 1922 and 1923. From 1924 to 1945 — when he was named street commissioner — he was a member of the Registrars of Voters, and acted as part-time assistant city clerk from 1924 to 1930.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks appointed Young executive secretary of the Mayor's Relief Committee in 1930. He also was Soldiers' Relief Agent in 1931-32, and later became co-ordinator of the Federal Relief Program. He was secretary to Mayor Paul M. Goddard from 1942 to 1945, when he took his present office.

For many years he has been treasurer of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, and also is a

REV. N. M. GUPTILL

Reverend Mr. Guptill Is Installed

A gathering of three hundred witnessed installation ceremonies last Friday evening at the First Church in Newton Centre, when Rev. Nathanael M. Guptill became permanent minister. About one hundred and sixty invited guests attended a pre-installation dinner and afterwards Mr. Guptill conducted a Communion service.

Mr. Guptill came to the 290-year-old Congregational church a year ago last October, as interim minister. Prior to that time he had been parish associate for two years while he also served as field work director for Andover-Newton Theological School.

Rev. Vaughan Dabney, dean-emeritus of Andover-Newton, gave the charge to Mr. Guptill and Rev. Roy M. Pearson, Dean Dabney's successor, gave the sermon. Rev. Paul S. Minear, professor at Andover-Newton, read from the Old Testament and Mrs. George S. Winsor, director, read the new testament lesson.

Julian D. Anthony is moderator, D. Ralph Maclean, organist, and Charles Sprague was in charge of the installation.

Residents Protest Noisy Transformer

Claiming their property was "being contaminated" by the Boston Edison transformer on Washington street near Our Lady's Church, a group of Lenglen road and Washington street residents bitterly opposed a petition Monday night by the electric company for a manhole to service an additional transformer at the present site.

Philip E. O'Connor of 6 Lenglen road, Newtonville, told the aldermen that the present transformer was "a noise-producing menace to the health and well-being of the neighborhood." It detracts from real estate values and is an attractive snare for children attending Our Lady's School, he continued.

He indicated the residents might not object so heartily if the transformer station was enclosed in a building, citing other installations where the noise is substantially muffled by the enclosure. The transformer "hums" quite loudly at night, O'Connor declared, when traffic noises are light and everything else is relatively quiet.

O'Connor compared the hum to "a dripping faucet." During the daytime, traffic noise obscures the sound, but when the outside noises die out, then the "drip-drip" can almost drive anyone in the house out of his mind.

"There will be less noise from the new transformer than from the others, which were installed in 1948," Timothy J. Regan Jr., assistant vice-president at Boston Edison, told the objectors. He said it was of a new, improved type.

This brought the retort from Mrs. Margaret O'Connor that the company said the same thing in 1948 when the transformer station was erected. She also took issue with the company's statement that the new unit would serve all of Newton, claiming it was for the Albemarble housing development.

Although the hearing was on the company's petition for an underground conduit and manhole, those opposing directed their ire at the new transformer, which is now being built.

Newton has no jurisdiction over that, since a permit for the construction has been issued by the State Department of Public Utilities. The Lenglen road-Washington street residents objected to the manhole and conduit as the only way to halt the project, since the transformer would be of no value without them.

Others speaking in opposition were Rt. Rev. Walter J. Furlong, pastor of Our Lady's Church; Gilbert J. Cronin of 18 Lenglen road, Mrs. Joseph Spuria of 12 Lenglen road, and Michael J. Burke of 406 Washington street. Their protest was taken under consideration by the franchises and licenses committee.

Rotary Club to Sponsor Open House Sunday at Boys' Club

The Newton Rotary Club continues to extend its program of improvement of Newton Boys' Club facilities.

"The way in which many Rotarians have provided the necessary materials, voluntary workers, and expert supervision is worthy of our highest commendation," said Gus Mascaro, club director.

During the year 1953, Newton Rotary rebuilt the yard play area, including grading, dry-wells, two out-of-door basketball courts, retaining walls, macadam surfacing of the entire area, and considerable building repair.

Major Changes In 1954 Made

This year the Rotary Club has extended itself to sponsor and supervise an extensive Boys' Club plant improvement program. Major changes include a shower room, new lavatory facilities for both girls and boys, new drinking fountains, a hot water system, a newly developed kitchen area, and completely new plumbing of the entire water system.

Rotarian Joseph B. Davis, donating many hours, laid out the work and personally supervised the entire plumbing project. The plumbing project was out for bids, and the work was completed with a tremendous personal contribution by the F. D. McMullin Plumbing Company of Newtonville.

Files Bill for Revision of Law Pertaining to Firearms

Representative George E. Rawson has filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives a bill to create an unpaid special commission to investigate the advisability of revising the laws pertaining to the sale, rental, leasing, carrying and use of firearms, and also the possession, carrying and use of dangerous weapons.

The commission is directed to study all Massachusetts statutes now in existence on this subject and the so-called Sullivan Law of New York. The commission is also directed to report its findings and recommendations with drafts of legislation necessary to carry the recommendations into effect by filing the same with the clerk of the House on or before the first Wednesday in December, 1955.

The commission is to consist of two senators appointed by the president, three representatives appointed by the speaker, the Commissioner of Public Safety, the director of the division of law enforcement of the Department of Natural Resources, and three members appointed by the Governor, one of whom shall represent the Mass. National Guard, one of whom shall represent the Mass. Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, and one shall be a person engaged in the business of buying and selling firearms.

Rep. Rawson filed a similar bill last year as House Chair-

Coming Legislative Calendar Is so Clogged With Bills That a Long Session Appears Inevitable

Six months from now, political writers and civic observers will begin wondering out loud when the Massachusetts Legislature will conclude its business, and there will be pointed suggestions in the newspapers and on the television and radio channels that the lawmakers ought to stop talking, wind up their affairs and go home.

But an examination into the mountain of measures awaiting the consideration and action of the incoming politically divided Legislature caused this onlooker to conjecture on how the body could even get around to all of them in a space of a single year.

The proposals run an astonishing gamut, ranging from a bill sponsored by Representative Joseph M. O'Loughlin of West Roxbury calling for year-around daylight saving to a suggestion for a 9:30 p.m. curfew for all children under 14 who would not be allowed on the streets after that time unless accompanied by an adult.

A study of the measure leaves the strong impression that one reason the legislative calendar is so clogged at the start of each year is that while the members of the House and Senate talk at great length about giving home rule to the local communities, they do not practice what they preach.

A Very Merry Christmas To All

West Newton-

reached the "saturation point" in home building, while Ward 4 still has room for expansion. When Ward 4 is expanded, Cronin said, further precinct division might be needed to comply with state laws.

Alderman Charles C. Cosgrove of West Newton reiterated that they "did not have anything against Auburndale," but stated "Everything gravitates to West Newton" in Precinct 4. Distances between that precinct and the centers of Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls are too far, he claimed.

Cosgrove and Cronin both thanked Chairman Hirsh Sharf of the Ward Lines Committee for allowing the hearing, since it was not required by law. Sharf agreed to the hearing, however, although his committee had previously held a public discussion on West Newton during its two years of study on the ward lines problem.

Chairman Sharf, explaining the work of his committee, said each ward must make "some sacrifices" to arrange the wards for the benefit of the entire city. The disposition of the precinct, he added, would be left to the discretion of the entire board.

The rearrangement of the lines must be completed this year, or not for another decade, Sharf stated. The lines were discussed at a closed-door executive session in preparation for a vote at the next aldermen's meeting December 20.

Another objection to switching one "village" to another was registered by Carmen Vitti, speaking for the Nonantum Business Men's Council. His group, he said, has been "trying very hard to make Nonantum into a single unit." The area now has its own post office, but realigment inside one ward would be a great help.

Sharf replied that his committee had "much discussion" on the Nonantum request, but his committee "does not feel we can go as far as Mr. Vitti has suggested."

Unopposed hearings conducted by the aldermen were for an underground conduit and manhole for telephone wires on Beacon street, approximately 55 feet east of Warren road, Newton Centre; for construction of a common sewer through Dedham street from Murley lane southeasterly, Oak Hill; and for main drains and common sewers to service homes on Oak Vale road, Waban, a private way.

man of the Committee on Public Safety. It passed through its preliminary stages successfully the Committee on Ways and Means declined to recommend the necessary appropriation, so it was not enacted.

The present fire arms laws were passed many years ago, and are inadequate to meet present day conditions. The possession of fire arms and their dangerous weapons by unauthorized persons has led to many distressing incidents in recent years. It has also undoubtedly let to the commission of many crimes of violence. The investigation called for by this bill should result in a new firearms law which will adequately protect the public without interfering with the legitimate interests of sportsmen, members of the National Rifle Association and other people who can safely possess and use firearms.

Richard White Sons, Inc. of West Newton, many Rotarians and business establishments have contributed materials needed in the entire project.

"The generous contribution by many civic-minded business establishments is most worthy of our highest praise," said Mascaro. The following companies have made substantial material contributions:

Newton Firms Are Praised

Newton Brick & Cement Co., Inc., 192 California street, Newton—contributed all the bricks needed.

Waldo Bros., Border street, West Newton—building material.

Mass. Cement Block, Medford—cinder blocks for partitions.

Campbell Hardware Co., Inc., 274 Center street, Newton Centre—necessary hardware supplies.

New England Concrete Pipe Corp., Newton Highlands—forty feet of eight inch concrete pipe for gas exhaust.

DeNatale Flooring Co., Quincy—provided and installed all floor tile in kitchen area.

Freeman Carder Corp., Border street, West Newton—new kitchen wall cabinets.

Farine Brothers, 429 Watertown street, Newton—cement blocks needed in building new front steps.

Volunteers In Club Project

"The donation of hours of skilled work by employers of the Richard White Sons, Inc. is worthy of tribute. We are very proud to list the following volunteer workers who donated leisure time hours of hard work to the Boys' Club project: Herbert Fogerty, Sebastian Rigoli, Frank Zaia, John Brady, Anthony Denn, Renald Russo, Conrad Grenier, John Proia, Philip Curry, Matthew Pendergast, John Hyde, and Joseph Cugini," Mascaro continued.

The entire building program wil lbe topped off with an Open House Day on Sunday at the Boys' Club, 98 Dalby street, Newton from 3 to 6 p.m. The entire Rotary Open House program, sponsored by the Newton Rotary, has been arranged by chairman Dr. Philip Enholm and Dwight Colburn.

It is most gratifying to have the Newton Zonta Club, under the able leadership of President Mrs. Wilson R. Hammell, provide a new modern sink for the kitchen unit," Mascaro said. "With the tremendous interest and support of local service groups the Newton Boys' Club is well under way to a greatly enriched and expanded youth service program."

Marsh and S.S. Pierce warehouses and to divert traffic from the residential sections of Auburndale — was termed "gratifying" by President Rubenstein. He reported the "wholehearted support" of the Chamber was registered at an alderm..anic hearing and said the road was scheduled for competition next year.

"National recognition" has been won by a project of the Chamber and Newton's three service clubs to place "Welcome" signs at the six principal roads leading into the city. "Since these signs were erected," he said, "we have authorized a small addition to be hung beneath them during one week prior to any election, urging our citizens to exercise their right to vote on election day as a civic duty."

Personnel anagers Club ~-panding

Rubenstein reported that the Personnel Manager's Club of the Chamber, which completed its second year last month, is now a well-established group, growing from the original 12 members to 30. "Members of the Chamber of Commerce are urged to avail themselves of this service which we are sure will be found worthwhile and rewarding," he wrote.

With the cooperation of the State Department of Education and the Technical-Vocational High School, a five-week sales clinic was conducted at Newton High School for the 16 sales representatives members of the Chamber.

"The attendance and results were excellent," he noted, "and members of the class received certificates showing that they had successfully completed the course. It is hoped that another series of classes will be formed, and that these efforts will stimulate thoughtful retail selling in the Garden City."

Concluding his report, President Rubenstein wrote, "With a forward look into 1955, we are confident that we can continue to make progress in building an even better community and a more prosperous city. The help and cooperation of all our civic and business members is most gratefully appreciated."

and therefore no poles should be erected in that area.

Ward 1 Alderman-at-large Leo M. Cannon claimed this was a "hardship case," with the homeowner unable to have electricity because of the opposition. He suggested alternate methods of running the wires into the house without the necessity of placing them underground.

Davis agreed it was "a terrible situation," but pointed out that the owner could easily make the connection. Board President Wendell R. Bauckman said the problem was not too serious, since he could have the electricity merely by "digging a hole." If he had an overhead wire, Bauckman stated, "he would be a nonconformist as far as the area is concerned."

LATIN CLUB

Thirty-five pupils dressed as Romans were initiated into the Latin Club in the auditorium of Weeks Junior High School.

In order to become a member of the club pupils have to be dressed as a Romans. The most common costume was the toga, which was done very cleverly. Prizes were awarded to the following people for the best costumes: Pat Gravallese, Ellen Abend, Toby Gross, Susan Duchin, and Ted Casson. Afterwards refreshments were served.

The first Latin Club at Weeks is well on its way to being a success. The officers for the club were chosen a few weeks ago. They are: Andy Lees, Consul (president); Margy Brown, Pro-Consul (vice-president); Claudia Aarons, Scriba (secretary); and Toby Gross, Praefectus Pecuniam (treasurer). The advisor of the Latin Club is Mr. Garofoli, who is a Latin and French teacher.

Today's Children

A recent assault and robbery of three young Newton boys and the apprehension of their equally immature assailants as reported in this newspaper last week adds another episode of juvenile violence to an ever growing toll of similar and serious events.

The riot of 25 teen-age rowdies in a MTA subway station and the epidemic of adolescent hoolinganism and outlawism in Boston over the recent weekend contributes added concern for a continuance of civilized living in these parts. These instances of a savage surge swelling in the hairless breasts of today's children are too many and happen too often. They transcend the time-honored brush-off given to young male exuberance once excused as "boys will be boys." These youngsters are thugs and display tendencies that would chill the marrow of yesterday's professional foot-pad.

Absolute responsibility for this deplorable state of affairs cannot be draped over blanket indictment—nor upon teachers. And for that matter, not entirely upon the the shoulders of parents or police in a mixed-up kids themselves.

They are the offspring of vicious times. They are steeped in the doctrine of wars or preparation for wars; of atomic and hydrogen mass destruction; of hate in high places; of uncontrolled passions as chronicled in the day to day news. Violence is in the air they breathe; it is exemplified by public figures who reveal scant control of their lesser emotions and moods. The motion picture which does not feature one or more brutal brawls somewhere along the unreeling of the plot is exceptional indeed; television dramas reek of physical assault and mayhem; the everyday news is odorous with searing tales of inhuman instincts galloping like wild horses, trampling and crushing law and order and decency. So-called comic books peddle brutish degradation before the youngsters are completely out of the prattling stage.

Truly, our contemporary adult world has offered little in upright and controlled living to serve as a shining example to malleable young minds. Legislation, force and curfew are not the solution; good example is the best teacher and a time-proven panacea . It is for us to retrace our steps to an old-fashioned interpretation of life which recognizes and honors the gentle people—the gentleman and lady—the decent, moral and genteel—the God-like—before it is too late.

The mark of the brute is upon our land; we have had enough of the bruisers, the brawlers, the haters, the vicious, the violent. It is the taint on the minds of today's children. We must emulate the meek and gentle of spirit for they are still blessed, if temporarily eclipsed.

Joyful Interlude

It is a merry season indeed—that interlude which precedes Christmas—the most loved and enjoyed of the year because, among other things, it lasts so long and makes one feel so joyous.

We mark the day itself with the solemn thoughts and the religious observances appropriate to its deep significance as the birthday of Our Saviour, Founder of Christianity.

But in the days and weeks which come before—in the fun and excitement, the bright anticipation and the joyous preparation which lead to the happy culmination of the opening of the presents—there is the goodwill and merriment of a season which, unfortunately, "comes but once a year."

Personal Responsibility

Next Wednesday is Safe-Driving Day here as elsewhere throughout the country.

The growing number of fatal accidents on the streets and highways has engaged the attention of the White House, and soon a serious effort will be made to do something about it. Last year (1953) a total of 38,300 persons, young and old, lost their lives in traffic accidents, and the economic loss was placed at 4 billion dollars in hospital and meddical costs, property damage and other expenses.

The President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety, has designated next Wednesday as Safe-Driving Day. It will be observed on a Nation-wide basis, under the Committee's sponsorship with the cooperation of Newton, other communities, State and national organizations.

Most of the fatalities charged to traffic accidents and much of the property damage and other economic losses could have been prevented if drivers and pedestrians alike would realize their personal responsibility for their own safety as pedestrians, and the safety of themselves and others if they are drivers. Traffic actually is a personal responsibility.

Pedestrians cannot overlook their responsibility in reducing the traffic toll. Following the laws and applying the courtesies of the road to themselves and others will bring this about.

Personal responsibility—it's as simple as that.

For the Retarded-Research

Today as you rerad this, 300 babies are being born throughout America who are different. For these 300 are not, and will not be, part of the happy, healthy majority. They are born into that shadowland known as mental retardation.

They will be slow to develop, slow to learn, slow to be self-sufficient. Why? Their parents, families and friends will ask why.

The simple truth is that we do not know. Of the scattered medical studies made thus far, a tentative finger is pointed at pre-natal causes, delivery post-natal injjuries and diseases. There is some evidence that no less than seventy different diseases or conditions contribute to retardation.

But we have barely scratched the surface and the reason is plain, public apathy and neglect.

As an enlightened American in this day and age, can you doubt that adequate research would lessen the terrible effects of mental retardation among our people. Society is the better for the discovery of the Rh Factor, for the precautions taken to insure that the expectant mother receives sufficient calcium during pregnancy, for the silver nitrate dropped in the eyes of the new born infant which has practically wiped out natal blindness, the Vitamin C and other vitamins our youngsters are fed today which make them stronger, healthier human beings.

Similar accomplishments are possible in mental retardation and socially every American wants to see the spotlight turned to this social illness. To prevent its growth and to discover improved techniques and methods for the care and training of our mentally retarded should be twin goals on this frontier. Mentally retarded children need the attention of physicians, teachers, social workers, psychologists, religious leaders and they also need the interest and sympathetic help of every one of us.

A Dangerous Month

December is "poor vision" month for drivers.

Fewer daylight hours, fogged windshields, fading half-light, deceptive shadows, glistening and leav-strewn payements, all add up to a greater need for caution and alertness as winter's light fails.

More than ten per cent of all fatal accidents occurring in December and January result from obstructed vision. Non-fatal accidents also increase by the hundreds when drivers fail to see the road clearly.

Reduced speed and increased alertness are the key answers to traffic problems involving poor visibility.

Motorists should make it a practice to clean headlamps, windshield and car windows of daily accumulations of traffic and weather film. This film tends to diffuse light and play optical tricks on the driver. About half of all winter accidents involving visibility result from optical obstructions on the vehicle itself.

Conditions which require particularly close attention include: pedestrian crossing areas, passing a line of parked cars, tree or building shadows falling across pavements, wet and glistening pavements, and patches of ice or slush.

Be especially alert during early evening hours of darkness when homeward traffic is at its peak. These are the worst hours of the day for wintertime accidents.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A 16-year-old Elizabeth, N. J., boy, who was set afire by a gang of hoodlums seven years ago, last week underwent his 39th operation at a Newark hospital. Charles Meyer was set ablaze for assertedly "snitching" on a group of boys who had been stoning automobiles from a bridge. He spent four years in a hospital but is now able to walk and to ride a bicycle given him by Elizabeth merchants.

—0—

Police Chief James Loizes was understandably irritated when someone stole the police blotter from the McKeesport, Pa., station. "Not because the book was valuable," explained the chief, "but I don't like the idea of someone being able to walk in here and walk out again with something like that."

—0—

Chicago now has a curfew law which prohibits girls under 18 and boys under 17 from being on the streets after 10:30 p.m. on weekdays and 11:30 p.m. on Saturdays unless accompanied by adults. Parents are prosecuted if their sons or daughters are found violating the regulations.

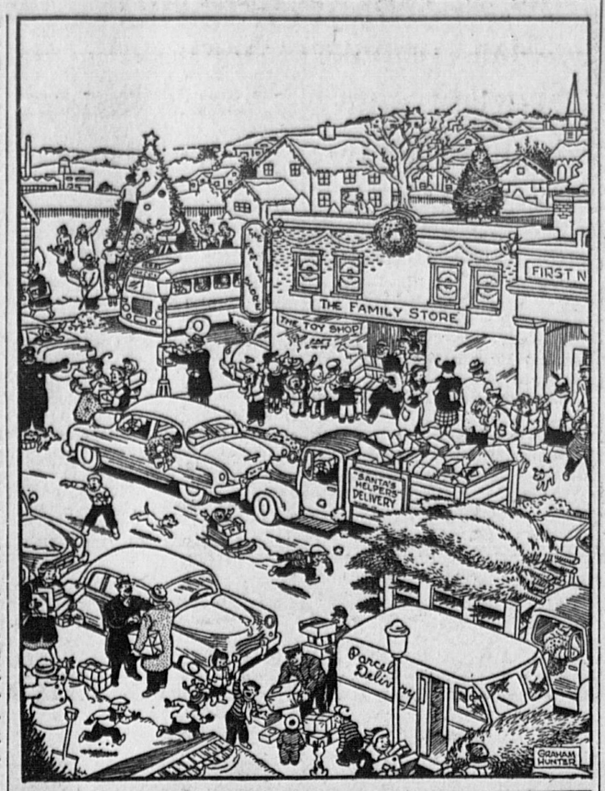

—0—

Charles Spinner of Chatham, England, was afraid he might get in trouble if he drove his motor bike home after drinking three pints of beer in a neighborhood pub. So he pushed it home instead. That didn't keep him out of trouble, however, because he was fined $14 and his license was suspended for a year for "being drunk in charge of a motor vehicle."

Seven counterfeiters were arrested in Stuggart, Germany, after it was observed that the 5-mark pieces they were making were of far better quality than legitimate ones.

HOMETOWN AMERICA—THE MERRY SEASON BEGINS

Brief Items About People and Events

CHARGES 15 VIOLATIONS. Leo M. Cannon, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the State Senate, has asked the Senate to refuse to seat Sen. Richard H. Lee. Minority Leader John E. Powers, Democrat, of South Boston, field the petition with the clerk of the Senate asking that Cannon be seated instead of the G.O.P. victor. The petition has been referred to the Committee on Election for consideration when the Legislature convenes next month. The violations charged concern both election and recount procedures.

DEFENDS REGISTRARS. Expressing surprise over Alderman Leo M. Cannon's continuation of his attempt to become senator from the Middlesex-Suffolk District, Sen. Richard H. Lee last Friday went to the defense of the Newton Registrars of Voters and poll workers. Senator Lee said: "The charge that improper persons acted as election officials in Newton is a strange one for Mr. Cannon to make at this time. He is a member of the Board of Aldermen which approved these appointments several weeks before the election and he recorded no objection at that time. I neither proposed nor opposed any appointment, and had no connection with this matter."

REISS DENIES STONEHAM MOVE. A report that Reiss Associates, plastic firm located at Newton Corner, had made plans to construct a plant in Stoneham has been denied by Arthur Reiss, general manager, but he admitted that the company has been investigating locations in other cities. "The company has not decided," he said, "whether it will move out of Newton entirely or whether it will build a plant in addition to the one in Newton Corner. Newton hasn't been very receptive to industry and has made us unhappy" but he refused to comment as to whether hostile local reception to the company's plans to build an underground storage plant had started the search for another location.

OVER $1,000 MARK. The Police department Christmas fund for "extras" for the Working Boys' Home in Newton Highlands has passed the $1,000 mark. Contributions are being received at Police Headquarters and fund officials hope to reach the record total of $2,500 raised last year.

POLICE BALL TONIGHT. The annual "Grand Ball" of the Newton Police Benefit Association will be held tonight (Thursday) at the Totem Pole Ballroom, Auburndale.

HEADS STATE WATER DEPT. OFFICIALS. Water Commissioner Mark F. Crocker was elected president of the Massachusetts Water Works Association at Wachusetts Country Club, West Boylston, last week. He succeeds Allen Simonds of the Hyannis Water Company.

ASKS STATE FOR AQUEDUCT. The State Legislature has been requested to convey to Newton the unusued Cochituate Aqueduct which winds through the city from Weston to Brighton, in a bill filed by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and City Solicitor Matt B. Jones. The aqueduct has been unused by the Metropolitan District Commission since the construction of the Hultman Aqueduct from the Quabbin Reservoir. The city would be empowered to use the aqueduct for sewage purposes.

TRAFFIC LIGHT IS TOPIC. A red-and-yellow traffic light at Langley road and Beacon street was discussed at the Newton Centre Improvement Association meeting Tuesday night at the home of Jeremiah P. Cronin, 39 Nathan road, Newton Centre.

THEFTS REPORTED. Thefts of money from a cash register, roofing tools from a shed, and a bicycle from a yard were reported to police last Friday.

Health for All

Forty-Eight Christmases

It was 48 years ago, on December 7, 1906, that the first Christmas Seals were sold in the United States to raise funds to fight tuberculosis. So, you see, those bright red and green Seals you have been putting on your envelopes have a long history.

Back in 1906, TB was "The White Plague," first on the list of causes of death. It had always been a part of man's history. To many it seemed hopeless to try to do anything about it. What could some little scraps of paper do? But to those who believed that TB was not hopeless, those "scraps of paper" symbolized a new way of fighting disease. TB was, they knew, a contagious disease caused bby germs passed from the sick to the well. That made it everybody's problem. Everyone must learn the facts about it. Everyone's cooperation was needed to check its spread.

The Christmas Seal way of asking for small contributions from many people gave an apportunity to spread the truth about TB to people in all walks of life in all parts of the country. It gave millions an opportunity to contribute for their own good as well as for their neighbors.

In 48 years the Christmas Seal fight against TB has not changed basically, although techniques have changed and improved with the times. Preventing TB is still the major aim, and this is still done through efforts to keep the cured patient well, and through scientific research into the nature of the disease.

Today TB no longer heads the list of causes of death in the United States. Modern medicine can cure the disease. Yet it kills 20,000 people a year. TB can be prevented, yet it attacks 110,000 people every year. One fourth of the American people are believed to carry the germs that cause TB in their system. To project you and your family the Christmas Seal campaign must go on until TB is defeated.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the Christmas Seal Sale.

Sell Christmas Greens at D.A.R.

A sale of Christmas greens will be held at Monday's meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, starting at noon in the chapter house, 2349 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls.

At 1 o'clock, a birthday cake and dessert will be served in honor of the chapter's 58th anniversary. Soloist at the birthday party will be Blair Benner, baritone.

Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Frederick H. Caswell and Mrs. Arthur G. Hoadley, assisted by Mrs. George N. Abbott, Mrs. Holcombe J. Brown, Brs. C. Norman Fay, Mrs. Edward J. Frost, Mrs. Edwin C. Johnson, Mrs. Richard L. McEldowney, Mrs. Theodore Nixon, Mrs. Edward B. Parker, Mrs. Terry Shuman, Mrs. Winifred S. Smythe, Mrs. Louis J. Vassalotti and Mrs. Shepard F. Williams.

For example, officials in the city of Springfield would like to adopt a jaywalking law to cope with a local problem, but the Legislature will not allow them to do so. Each year they ask permission to take such a step and are turned down after a long, time-consuming debate.

A number of suggested amendments to the Massachusetts Constitution will be voted upon by the two legislative branches in joint convention during the coming year.

One provides for four-year terms for the Governor and other State Constitutional officers. That measure is likely to become effective for the 1958 election.

A second specifies that only one vote would be cast for the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. In other words, they would be elected as a unit, as is now the case with the President and Vice President, and it would be impossible to elect a Governor of one political party and a Lieutenant Governor of the opposite party, as sometimes happens.

A third measure calls for the appointment of the Secretary of State and State Treasurer by the Governor instead of their election by the people. A fourth bill would make the Lieutenant Governor the presiding officer of the State Senate so that he could dissolve a tie in case there were 20 Democrats and 20 Republicans in that body, as there were back in 1949 and 1950.

Some of the proposals awaiting the study of the Legislature would affect the every-day lives of the people of Massachusetts. A good many are strongly tinged partisan politics. Some are sound and some are silly. A sizeable number are filed in behalf of pressure groups.

A bill which really intrigues us would legalize pari-mutuel betting on jai-a-lai. It would be interesting to know how much the discussion, debate and defeat on that measure will cost the people of Massachusetts.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen think the legisaltors are underpaid. So they have filed a bill to increase their compensation from $4,500 to $6,500 a year.

A sensible suggestion was advanced by two Springfield Representatives to reduce the number of bills filed by legislators. They sponsored a measure providing that a law-maker would be allowed to submit five bills but that he would have to pay $10 each for each measure over that number. That idea, needless to say, will be filed in the waste basket.

Dancing would be permitted on Sundays in licensed premises under a bill filed by the Boston Musicians' Association which is very likely to stir protests from many clergymen.

Heads of schools and colleges throughout Massachusetts would be required to expel communists or persons associated with communistic or subversive organiations, under the provisions of a measure certain to be the subject of bitter dispute.

A constitutional amendment calling for a graduated income tax is being sought by the State Federation of Labor. That will provoke a lengthy row, although the likelihood is the measure will be rejected.

Automobile driving licenses would expire on the operator's birthday under the wording of a bill filed by Representatives Charles L. Patrone of Hyde Park and William F. Nourse of Medfield. We don't quite understand the reasoning behind that suggestion unless the purpose is to remind drivers that as part of their birthday observance they must have their licenses renewed.

Former Democratic State Committee Chairman Charles H. McGlue, one of the State's foremost experts on the election laws, has filed several measures which will precipitate long and noisy debates on Beacon Hill.

One of them would greatly increase the importance of the Democratic and Republican State Conventions by making it practically impossible for candidates turned down at the conventions to run for State-wide officer.

McGlue's measure doesn't actually prohibit a candidate defeated at a convention from carrying his case to the people, but it provides that he must obtain 60,000 valid nomination signatures to place his name on the ballot, and the average office-seeker would have no means of securing any such number of signatures.

Another proposal by McGlue is that the delegates to the two-State conventions be elected by the people, and that should be adopted.

A bill sponsored by State Senator-elect Joseph L. Gibney of Webster states that any heart disease or hypertension suffered by invesitigators for the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission shall be presumed to have been incurred in the line of duty, entitling them to a pension.

A minimum salary of $3,000 a year for all public school teachers throughout Massachusetts would be established under a bill filed by Kenneth J. Kelley, legislative agent of the A.F.L.

West Roxbury's Representative O'Loughlin has blossomed out as one of the outspoken proponents for permanent daylight saving. He filed one bill petitioning Congress for the adoption of year-around daylight saving and sponsored another providing that 12-months-a-year daylight saving go into effect in Massachusetts in January, 1956.

One of the longest and loudest rows probably will center on an attempt to legalize beano which has been outlawed in Massachusetts for a number of years. Many veteran organizations will unite in an effort to place beano back on the books.

These are just a few of the hundreds of measures which the Bay State lawmakers must act upon before they terminate their 1955 session, but they afford some idea of the variety of bills awaiting them.

The Massachusetts Senate will have one battle which will not concern the House. A petition has been filed to unseat Republican Senator Richard H. Lee of Newton and to declare Leo M. Cannon, Newton Democrat, elected in his place.

Democratic Floor Leader John E. Powers sponsored the ouster measure in Cannon's behalf. But since the Republicans hold a 21-19 advantage in the upper legislative chamber, there is no likelihood that the petition will be adopted, although a bitter row may be waged over it.

CHIEF OF POLICE PHILIP PURCELL discusses the intricacies of operating Marionettes with Mrs. John Cinkosky, who entertained the Kiwanis Club last week with an exhibition of her Marymilene Marionettes. (Wilk Photo)

Marymilene Marionettes Prove Highlight of Kiwanis Meeting

A Marymilene Marionette show, staged and directed by Mrs. John Cinkosky of 104 Rowe street, Auburndale, proved an interesting and entertaining highlight of the Kiwanis Club meeting held last week at the Commonwealth Country Club.

Mrs. Cinkosky, who is the chief operator, director and script writer of Marymilene Marionettes, showed the Kiwanis members their personal foibles enacted by a cat, a witch, "George D. Liberace," a pianist, a ballerina, a clown and a giant. The stage for the presentation was designed and built by E. H. Harvey, retired city engineer.

Dedicated to the "entertainment of children who do not have as much opportunity for entertainment as most others do," the performance was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Chagnon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. Dino DiCarlo and Mr. and Mrs. F. Payson LeBaron.

Program chairman Percy Trundle introduced Mrs. Cinkosky to the gathering and she was assisted by Mrs. Trundle with the props and staging.

Mrs. Cinkosky, a most gracious and charming personality, has been presenting marionettes over a period of twenty years. When in teacher training work, she coached student teachers in Wisconsin and has used this form of entertainment to raise funds for retarded children's work; principally in New Jersey.

Her collection consists of valuable marionettes, hand made by J. Dewey Foss, Milwaukee Art Supervisor and an artist of note in Wisconsin.

In addition to her remarkable achievement with marionettes, Mrs. Cinkosky is a professional writer and is the mother of three children, a son Michael, who is in the U. S. Air Force; Mollie, who is attending Newton High School; and Ted, who is attending the Burr School.

Men's Club Plans Yule Party for Members, Friends

The Men's Club of Newton Highlands Christmas party will be at 6:45 Tuesday evening in the Newton Highlands Congregational church. Special guests will include a group of youngsters from the Working Boys' home. Group singing, led by Ted Engel, will open the evening. One of the featured attractions will be "Jim Dandy," a slight-of-hand artist who has won wide renown for his tricks with foodstuffs, and other baffling accomplishments.

The committee has scheduled another attraction — a sure-fire one. It's an exhibition of skill that always goes over with a bang. Refreshments will be included on the evening's program.

3-Man Committee Slated to Study Voting Machines

At the urging of Ward 7 Alderman William M. Powers, a committee of three aldermen will be appointed this month to study the possibility of introducing votng machines into the city's voting system.

Powers' motion for the committee Monday night was unanimously passed by the 18 aldermen present, and Board President Wendell R. Bauckman promised to name the three-man committee before the next aldermanic meeting December 20.

In seeking the machines, Powers stated, "Over a period of time real savings may be realized." He claimed the move was "in the best interests of the voters and progressive government."

At present, Newton's ballots are hand-counted. This involves the hiring of many precinct workers, voting place custodians and guards at each election, with two shifts often needed as the tabulation proceeds into the early hours of the morning.

Before Powers' motion was considered, the alderman had passed a $1908 appropriation to finance the overtime at the election plus the cost of three recounts. Alderman Earle D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee, noted that part of this extra expense was caused by the long time it took to count the votes, with the final tally not reaching City Hall until close to 6 a.m. the following morning.

The argument for the study presented by Alderman Powers follows:

"The idea of using voting machines in Newton elections is certainly not a new one. However, for some reason, no positive action has been taken to determine whether the acquiring of voting machines would be in the best interests of the city.

"Proponents of such a means of voting assert that over a period of time real savings may be realized and that it is in the best interests of the voters and progressive government.

"Because I believe that this question merits careful consideration, I move that the chair appoint a temporary committee of three members, whose purpose will be to investigate and report back to the Board of Aldermen its recommendations concerning the advisability of using voting machines in elections held in Newton.

"Although such a committee would not be bound to any operational procedure, it would seem advisable that they work closely with the Registrars of Voters. It should also be noted that the author of the motion realizes that the department heads and mayor initiate requests for appropriations."

Newtonville Man Named District Court Officer

Robert E. Womboldt of 13 Churchill street, Newtonville, became court officer Monday at Newton District Court, filling the vacancy caused by the death last summer of Francis J. Cook.

Womboldt who was employed shortly after the war as a linotype operator by the Transcript Press, publishers of The Newton Graphic, has been working for the past few years in the composing room of a Boston newspaper. He was appointed to his new post by Judge Donald E. Mayberry, presiding justice of Newton District Court, after the County Commissioners approved the choice.

A life-long Newton resident, he was graduated from Newton High School with the Class of 1937. For the past 7 years, he has been active in Nonantum Boy Scout Troop 3. He served with the Medical Corps during World War II and has served on the Veterans Advisory Board since 1950.

He is a past president of the Newton Boys Club and is currently a member of the club's governing board. Womboldt is a member of the Newton American Legion Post and is on the executive board of the Chaplain Farrell Chapter, Disabled American Veterans.

He is married to the former Mary E. Dodge of Watertown, and they have five children, Mary Ellen, 9; Jane, 7; Alice, 6; Nancy, 3; and Robert, 10 months.

Newton Nurse to Attend Chicago Medical Congress

Mary Louise Crain, of West Newton, supervisor of the obstetrical department at the Newton-Wellesley hospital, will represent the Nursing Department of the hospital at the Sixth Annual Congress of Obstetrics and Gynecology to be held at the Palmer House, Chicago, December 13 through 17.

In selecting Miss Crain for the Chicago assignment, the hospital recognized her talents, training and experience acquired during fifteen years with the institution, excepting 18 months when she served as an army nurse with a commission as first lieutenant during World War II.

The Newton-Wellesley Hospital has a long-established policy of keeping in step with contemporary thought and practice in the medical world; to further exemplify this progressive and alert attitude, the hospital assigns lay personnel to important medical conferences, like the one at Chicago, whenever and wherever they are held.

Obstetrics is considered one of the most important departments at the Newton-Wellesley institution and the training of its personnel a matter of vital importance; the knowledge and contemporary advances studied and discussed at Chicago will be reflected in greater service to patrons of the local hospital.

Dr. Margaret Mead, Ph.D., world famous anthropologist, will be the principal speaker at the banquet to be held at Palmer House. She will discuss, "Maternity, Savage and Civilized," and will illustrate her talk with color movies. The Congress also will feature the presentation of formal papers pertinent to obstetrics and gynecology. Several hundred nurses and doctors from the 48 states will be in attendance at the medical convention, opened to nurses in this instance in recognition of the vital role played by the nurse in maternity cases.

Miss Crain's experience makes her ideally fitted to represent the nursing department of the hospital at the important Chicago congress. She entered the hospital as student nurse in 1939 and has steadily progressed through her graduate work to become supervisor of the obstetrical department in 1948, with only the year and a half absence for her service as an army nurse.

The Christmas seal, which originated in Denmark in 1904, is now sold in more than 40 countries of the world, and in most of them proceeds from its sale go to combating and spread of tuberculosis.

Christmas Costumes Easily Made Resistant to Flames

By Newton Fire Prevention Bureau

If you have any children in the "let's pretend" ages, part of your Christmas shopping will be easy.

The choice of gifts will probably be made for you, in the form of firm demands for the latest in space suits, cowboy outfits or whatever other costumes their current make-believe lives call for. And you'd better follow instructions to the letter, because even a misplaced stud on a holster will be spotted!

But the most important detail, the National Board of Fire Underwriters emphasize, is something the youngsters won't even notice. It's this: Make Sure Those Costumes Are Flame Resistant! Last June, a partial victory in the fight against the sale of flammable garments was achieved with the passage by Congress of Public Law 88, known as the "Flammable Fabrics Act." Nevertheless, this is a minimum law, and does not fully protect the consumer.

What can you do to protect your children? First, when buying a costume of flimsy material, see if it is labelled as being flame-resistant Occasionally you can find one that is. But even if you do, make sure washing or dry-cleaning don't lessen or destroy the flame-resistance.

In the case of untreated costumes, you can easily do the job yourself. Just dip the cloth (assuming it is washable) in a solution of nine ounces of borax and four ounces of boric acid to a gallon of water. Wring by hand and dry. The flame-resistance is not affected by ironing, but the treatment must be repeated after every laundering.

Use this treatment on filmy party dresses and doll clothes, to — and it's equally good for grown-ups' clothing and for washable draperies and other household furnishings.

A word of caution. Don't expect too much of the term, "flame-resistant." If you hold a match to a flame-resistant fabric, it will burn. But it will not continue to burn when you take the match away. Your children will be safe from a deadly or disfiguring "flash fire!"

Cadillac

The Hour Every Motorist Owes to Himself!

The happy man you see in this picture is bringing himself up to date.

Cadillac has written a whole new chapter for the book defining motor car performance, and he's taking an hour to find out what it says.

And it says plenty—of very great importance.

First of all, it tells you what it's like to have command of a 250-horsepower engine that's as smooth as velvet, and so quick and eager that you have to educate your driving toe all over again.

It tells you what it's like to have virtually every unevenness in the highway completely eliminated before it is even noticeable to driver or passengers.

And it tells you what it's like to relax amidst upholstery fabrics and leathers that are found nowhere else, save in the 1955 Cadillac—not even in the finest clubs or hotels.

All this is to say, of course, that Cadillac has made another tremendous advance in design and engineering—so great, in fact, that only a drive and a personal inspection can let you realize its full significance.

And, naturally, there is yet greater emphasis on all the long-existing Cadillac virtues:

—the endurance that enables a Cadillac owner to keep his car just as long as he elects to do so . . . and with complete confidence in its dependability—

—the amazing economy of operation and upkeep which causes many owners to maintain that it is the most economical car on the American highway—

—the great personal satisfaction that comes from owning a car which is recognized, wherever highways lead, as the Standard of the World.

We cordially invite you to come in—today—to see and drive this wonderful, wonderful car.

There are eight models—in four different series—including the sensational Eldorado.

There is one to please you—exactly. And we think you'll be surprised and delighted at how little it costs, in comparison with lesser cars.

We're waiting for you—now!

The annual Christmas party of the Newton Art Association will be held on Wednesday at 8 o'clock at the Newtonville Women's Club, Newtonville. Mrs. Sophina Coty and her committee have planned a diversified program which should be very colorful and entertaining.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

The Nielson company, in compiling its popularity rating scores for television shows, sticks a little black box behind the set. This electronic marvel can tell you just about everything the set is doing as far as checking what channel is tuned in and so on is concerned. But it can't tell you whether the people are enjoying the show . . . or whether the TV picture is a good one.

There are other electronic instruments in our "bag of tricks." They can't do what Mr. Nielsen's black box does . . . but they can do a lot of other things that are even more important to you as a set owner. They can measure the performance of your set's tubes, for instance. They can test its power output, and point a pretty accurate finger at any trouble spot.

A television technician's electronic testing equipment is almost as important as his experience when prompt, accurate repairs are needed on a TV set. That equipment can work with his experience, telling him whether his service diagnosis is accurate, checking parts he would have to guess about otherwise, enabling him to give better service in far less time. All in all, a TV service organization's investment in testing apparatus is a good key to his service "rating" . . . and a good guide to use in protecting your investment in service.

When you call on us for video service, you'll get the benefit of the industry's most modern testing equipment . . . plus our personal desire to give you more than your money's worth in service.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia. For a better choice in the finest in TV, visit our showroom.

Newton AL Post Christmas Party Set for Dec. 19

Newton American Legion Post will sponsor its annual Christmas Party on Sunday, December 19, at 2 p.m. in the cafeteria of Newton City Hall for children of Post members and all other children who would like to come.

There will be favors, refreshments and a visit from Santa Claus. The Newton Post 48 Auxiliary will be on hand to assist as it has in the past. Donations are being sought to help stage this party for Legionnaire children and for all the underprivileged youngsters to be invited as special guests.

"This has always been a great event and the children look forward to this party," said John B. Foley, chairman of the party. "With the high cost of living, taxes and the various appeals for worthy causes, it appears that I have a nerve to call on you for help, but you would be surprised at the number of comrades who have asked me 'What date is the Christmas party going to be held this year?'"

Donations should be sent to Newton Post 48, American Legion, c-o John B. Foley, finance officer, 42 Charles street, Auburndale.

Gorgeous George Vs. Blue Eagle In Friday Bout

Gorgeous George Grant, famed pretty boy of matdom, will return to the West Newton Armory Friday night for a tussle with the terror of the teepees, Chief Blue Eagle of Oklahoma.

Fred Bruno, who promotes the weekly Burns-Kerr Legion bouts, has announced that Family Night will be observed at the Armory for the first time Friday. This means children will be admitted free if accompanied by adults.

Co-feature of the program will be a tag team match between the Black Terror and Frank James, a toughie from New York City, and mustachioed Tony Enos and Jesse James.

The James boys are not related. Jessie is a muscular, handsome Raytheon of Waltham employee who has zoomed to stardom in the last two years. The Black Terror is a hooded mystery man just as formidable as his name implies. Enos, a classy campaigner from New Bedford, has sparkled locally several times.

Lew Lewin, Chicago television performer, will tackle Jean La-Fleur, Canadian lumberjack, in the special bout at 8:30 o'clock.

Gorgeous George, one of the most colorful personalities in the ring, is as famed for his unusual appearance and histrionics as he is censured for his dastardly ring deeds.

The ultra-punctilious "Hollywood honey" not only sports a distinctive platinum blond coiffure but also one of the most lavish wardrobes in the cauliflower trade. Although he looks like matdom's edition of an adult version of Little Lord Fauntleroy, George, actually, is a tough hombre who'll use any means to score a victory.

$2,000 Bequeathed Newton Secretary Of Roger Preston

Mrs. Ann S. Pedneault, of Newton, secretary to the late Roger Preston, president of the S. S. Pierce company, was bequeathed the sum of $2,000 according to the terms of the late merchant's will filed in Norfolk probat court at Dedham this week.

The bulk of the estate went to his widow, Mrs. Anita Preston, 15 Circuit road, Chestnut Hill, and his three sons, Frederice B., David and Philip Preston, all of Brookline. No bond has been filed to indicate the size of the estate of the 54-year-old foods firm president and director of several corporations, who lost his life in a drowning accident, Nov. 28.

Board Approves Two Bills Filed In Legislature

Approval of two bills entered by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. and City Solicitor Matt B. Jones with the state legislature —one transferring unused local portions of the Cochituate aqueduct to city control and the other making a slight change in contract procedure—was unanimously given by the aldermen Monday night.

The first bill asks the legislature to direct the Metropolitan Distrct Commission to transfer to Newton "all presently-unused parts of the so-called Cochituate aqueduct situated within said city and in or to any lands and interest in land likewise situated."

It also allows the city to use the aqueduct "as an integral part or as an adjunct" of the sewer system. Newton would be allowed to take by eminent domain or otherwise purchase "lands, water rights, or rights of way or easements" to make the aqueduct a part of the sewage disposal system.

The second bill proposes an amendment to the city charter relative to making contracts. It requires a performance bond for all contracts of $100 or more. Currently the law requires bonds on all work over $500. The bill also requires filing of the bond and the contract with the comptroller of accounts instead of with the city auditor.

State Opens New Building On Route 128

The new, modern, $3,000,000 red-brick maintenance depot and laboratory of the State Department of Public Works is open and doing business this week at the intersection of Routes 9 and 128 at the Newton-Wellesley line.

It is designed to co-ordinate under one sprawling roof, all maintenance and traffic operations of the department. This work was formerly handled at shops located on D street, South Boston;; Columbus avenue, Roxbury; and at the laboratory at Nashua street, Boston.

More than $3,000,000 worth of equipment is serviced by 125 employees at the present time at the new state plant, which now joins scores of others, but which are financed by private capital, along the bustling circumferential highway.

The expansive one-story, red-brick building comprising the state project is of ultra-modern design and appointments. It is located directly at the juncture of Routes 9 and 128; it is from this spot, at the Newton line, that the proposed New York state super-way will be built to connect Route 128 with the Empire State, and New York City.

Oak Hill Pupils Learn How to Build School

"AND DOWN SHE COMES"—Children obse rve closely as foreman releases lever to send a cubic yard of concrete cascading down at the foundation site of Meadowbrook Junior High School, which is under construction by Wexler Construction Company of Newton Highlands. Comments range from a d emure girlish observation, "that's icky stuff" to he-manly please from the boys to "let m e do it."

A SMOOTH JOB—President Leo A. Wexler of Wexler Construction Company of Newton Highlands has workmen demonstrate the proper use of a trowel to second graders Richard Strock and Donald Beckwith and teacher Kathie Salemis of Oak Hill Elementary School. The demonstration was part of a tour of construction site for the new $1,900,000 Meadowbrook Junior High School the Wexler firm is building beside the elementary school.

CONTEMPORARY ART—A cute and defin itely acute rendition by a second grader of the activities taking place at construction site of Newton's new Meadowbrook Junior High School. That bristly object at top left is not a cactus, but the happy old sun, smiling brightly at progress of the $1,900,000 b uilding project. The drawing was part of a project at the Oak Hill Elementary School after the pupils inspected construction at the new junior high next door.

Jun'r High Project 'Outdoor Classes'

Parents in the Oak Hill section of Newton who pay close attention to the conversations of their youngsters have probably noticed of late that principal topics of discussion have changed from talk of rocket ships, atomic rays and space guns to such down-to-earth subjects as dump trucks, tractors, steam shovels and cranes.

The reason for this sudden shift of allegiance from the supposedly more glamorous interplanetary life to these practical instruments of the construction industry can be attributed directly to Leo A. Wexler, president of the Wexler Construction Company of Newton Highlands.

Wexler's firm is building the new $1,900,000 Meadowbrook Junior High School, the site of which is directly adjacent to the Oak Hill Elementary School. At Wexler's invitation and with permission of principal Mrs. Edythe Clark, the boys and girls of the lower grades have been visitors to the construction site whenever anything of interest was taking place.

Accompanied by their teachers, the children have watched the huge tractors and shovels dig the enormous hole for the foundation of the 78,000 square foot building, and they have also been on hand to witness the setting of forms and concrete pouring operations.

Either Wexler himself or company vice-president Philip Jackson have been on hand to explain to the children just what the men are doing. "However," says Wexler, "I think they could explain it to us. I don't know where these kiddos get their information, whether it's from their story books or from television, but they sure know what's going on."

Wexler's observation has been borne out by the children themselves, who, on returning to their classrooms, have written letters or drawn pictures describing what they saw on the construction site.

The written comments ranged from absolute approval to criticism of what the firm was doing, "Dear Mr. Wexler," wrote one youngster, "I like the school very much. I like the concrete very much. I like the job very much. I like the men very much."

A missive composed by a very young student, while complimentary, also expressed a bit of criticism read: "Dear Mr. Wexler, I saw the bulldozer pulling up the dirt and throwing it down. It must be a big job. I wouldn't like to do it. I saw your Man flatening Out concreet. Most of the Man wore boots. I wish I could work with you but I did not like the mud."

The children's drawings ranged from elaborately detailed sketches of the construction scene, (such as the one pictured on this page) to one which showed only a small grey square in the middle of the paper labeled quite appropriately, "The Foundation."

Well may the children, and their parents, be interested in and proud of Meadowbrook Junior High. When completed early in 1956, it woll be an imposing addition to Newton's already excellent school system.

Designed by the architectural firm of Rich and Tucker Associates of Boston, the building covers one and three-quarter acres on an eight-acre plot of land. The classroom wing is two stories high, while the other two wings—which house the gymnasium, cafeteria and auditorium—are one story in height.

The architects have planned the structure to meet the needs of a current school population of 750, but it can be expanded to accommodate 1200 pupils when the need arises and when the funds for expansion are available. All major areas such as the general shops, cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium have been designed for the maximum expected enrollment of 1200. The gymnasum, for example, is a huge area 1200 feet long by 80 feet wide. It is designed so that it may be divided into quarters, to be used simultaneously by four physical education classes.

Wexler feels that having the children out to see their future educational home at various stages of its construction will give them a greater appreciation of what is being done to provide them with the best possible facilities to stimulate their mental and physical growth.

"I am certain," he said, "that the boys and girls will acquire a greater understanding of the various elements which go into a building of this nature . . . the vast amount of materials required and the number of skilled tradesmen who contribute their knowledge and talents to the construction.

"Who knows, we may be kindling in the hearts of some of these little lads the first spark of ambition that may burst into a flame of desire to devote his life to building structures which will benefit his fellow men everywhere," Wexler concluded.

So, mothers and dads, you had better bone up on your knowledge of construction materials and processes. Your midget sidewalk engineer may already have in the back of his mind the beginnings of an idea on how to build the "city of tomorrow."

'Santa's Chimney' to Replace Traditional Christmas Tree

"Santa's Chimney" will replace the traditional Christmas tree for receiving contributions for the United Unitarian Appeal at the First Unitarian Church in Newton at the Christmas service Sunday, December 19. The chimney, to be set up in the vestibule, will remain to provide decorative incentive during the holiday season.

Meanwhile, following the opening of this annual denominational appeal on Laymen's Sunday, with Charles S. Bolster, clerk of the national United Unitarian Appeal as speaker, local parishioners will receive a formal invitation by mail to respond to the $369,000 campaign goal.

In his letter to fellow members appealing for $2000 as the proportionate share of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, William L. Tisdel, local chairman of the United Unitarian Appeal says in part:

"It is a matter of pride and of joy to us all that our liberal faith is growing, expanding. New churches and fellowships are swelling our ranks, slowly but with gathering momentum. To channel this ever 'broadening flood,' our Unitarian denomination sponsors many services to youth, to churches, to ministers, to newly formed groups. These individual activities are combined in a single United Unitarian Appeal each Christmas time for a concerted drive for funds.

"The Appeal includes all the services of the American Unitarian Association and Council of Liberal Churches — religious education, adult education, administration, church guidance, new churches, fellowship units, the Church of the Larger Fellowship and the New England and other regional Unitarian councils, in addition to publication and promotion.

"The U.U.A. also includes support of lay membership agencies such as the General Alliance, Laymen's League, Liberal Religious Youth and the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice. This Appeal also covers the pension plan for ministers. Of all Unitarian groups, only the Unitarian Service Committee makes a separate appeal. This is our oppotrunity to SHARE in the work of our denomination on a national and international scale.

"The need is great; our share is not too large. To help meet the total $369,000 goal this year, this growing parish should contribute some $2000. New and increased gifts are necessary.

"Let us share our richest heritage—a free and liberal religion."

Mrs. Edward W. Whorf has been named chairman of the church welcoming committee for December at the Unitarian Society in Newton. She will be assisted Sunday mornings by Miss Margaret E. Jewett, Miss Dorothy L. Simpson and Mrs. Henry Whitmore Jr.

The head usher for the month is Harold J. Davidson, assisted by A. Bela Sziklas, George C. Thompson and Willard B. Weissblatt. For the Christmas service Dr. Hans Waine and C. Wesley Watson will also serve as ushers.

Flowers on the altar during the month are given in memory of Arthur Proctor Friend, Dec. 5; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hatfield and Mrs. Harriet Pelton Whitley, Dec. 12; George H. Ellis, Dec. 19; and Mr. and Mrs. A. Stuart Pratt, Dec. 26.

Waban Woman's Club

This program has been especially selected for the Christmas Season. The Emerson Group has become most popular because it has achieved dramatic effects by working in unison, in combination of voice qualities and in solos, not possible to the single voice, and is the only professional speaking choir in the East.

An exhibit of Christmas greens will be on display in the Board Room under the arrangement of the American Home and Garden Committee.

Retail Food Prices Are Expected To Remain Firm

BOSTON A cheerful note for New England housewives is contained in the outlook for 1955 food prices made public today by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston in its Monthly Review.

Average retail food prices are expected to remain fairly constant, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The reason: continued high consumer income and, therefore, a strong demand for food supplies.

The Monthly Review pinpoints the outlook for specific products as seen by the Agricultural Marketing Service as follows:

PORK. Latest figures indicate a larger fall pig crop than in 1953, so the currently heavy supplies and lower prices will probably continue.

BEEF. Supplies may run about the same in 1955 as they did this year, but somewhat less per capita than the established 79 pounds per person consumed in 1954. Good rainfall could result in some curtailment in marketings, but adverse weather conditions would have the opposite effect.

LAMB. Supplies will be about 10 per cent smaller than in 1954, and prices will probably be somewhat higher.

MILK. Seasonal declines may be expected in retail fluid milk prices in the first half of the year, but the decline may be somewhat smaller than this year's because of lower production. Ample supplies of butter, cheese, and ice cream will be priced about the same as in the last half of 1954.

FRUITS. Retail prices of all fruits will average about the same as in 1954. Canned fruit inventories are smaller this fall, and prices will probably be as high as before. Frozen fruits, especially orange juice, are in larger supply.

VEGETABLES. There are fewer canned vegetables in the nation's warehouses, but frozen stocks match those of 1954. Retail potato prices will be higher next year as the smaller late crop moves to market.

The article concludes that although most retail food prices in 1955 may remain near their 1954 levels, the careful shopper will undoubtedly be able to save through wise selections and by taking advantage of seasonally low prices of some commodities and consistently low prices of others due to abundant supplies.

What Shall We Eat . . . Golden Cottage Salad

My family" says the smart homemaker, "like salads because they brighten meals."

Salads do add color, texture and flavor to meals. They also add important nourishment. Cottage cheese and fruit served on crisp lettuce is a combination that will add food value, good taste and eye-appeal looks. Cottage cheese, is a fine source of protein.

Molded salads give a special chance to make salads with eye-catching layers. One of the prettiest salads the smart homemaker serves appears on the plate as a layer of creamy cottage cheese topped with a layer of sparkling clear orange gelatine. Golden Cottage Salad it's called. A garnish of a ring of green leaves and fresh orange sections around each serving completes the dish. Serve it at lunch, dinner, or supper. This good looking dish is very handsome when it has been molded in individual salad moulds for each serving, but it can be poured into a larger pan to set and cut for serving.

Try Golden Cottage Salad.

Golden Cottage Salad

1 package lemon gelatin
1½ cups fresh orange juice
1 cup cottage cheese
Watercress or lettuce
Orange sections for garnish

Dissolve gelatin in hot orange juice. Add ½ cup of this mixture to the cottage cheese and set aside. Pour remaining gelatin in well-buttered salad mold. Chill until almost set, then spread cottage cheese mixture on top. Chill until very firm. Unmold on serving plate, garnish with watercress or lettuce and orange sections. Serves 6 to 8. Serve with Cream Mayonnaise. Pass mayonnaise at the table.

Cream Mayonnaise: Whip ¼ cup heavy cream until stiff. Fold into ½ cup mayonnaise, mixing lightly.

. . . FOR A GOOD DAY

Breakfast
Grapefruit
Soft-cooked Eggs
Cinnamon Toast
Milk Coffee

Luncheon
Vegetable-Beef Soup
Peach and Cottage Cheese Salad
Whole Wheat Bread and Butter Sandwiches
Frosted Graham Crackers

AAA Safety Tip: It takes more than the length of a football field to stop a car moving sixty miles an hour warns the Massachusetts division of the American Automobile Association. It takes nearly half that distance for you to react to danger and put your foot on the brake; the other half of the distance is covered while you're braking your car to a stop. Drive at moderate speeds.

Family Candy Party

Let the whole family join in the fun of an old-fashioned candy-making party this Christmas season. You'll find many easy recipes in the December Woman's Home Companion which will provide a merry evening's work and happy holiday eating. Here ase just two of the delightful confections you'll want to try:

MOLASSES HAYSTACKS

Evaporated milk, ½ cup
Water, ¼ cup
Corn syrup, light, 2 tablespoons
Molasses, light, ¼ cup
Granulated sugar, ½ cup
Brown sugar, 2 tablespoons
Butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons.
Shredded coconut, 3 cups

Combine in 2-quart saucepan the evaporated milk, water, corn syrup, molasses, granulated and brown sugar and butter. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until it begins to boil. Continue cooking, stirring occasionally, until candy thermometer reaches 240 degrees or until a few drops form a firm ball when dropped into cold water. Remove from heat and stir in cocoanut. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto waxed paper. Shape into cones with fingers; set in cool place until firm. Makes about 24.

PEANUT-BUTTER HONEYS

Put into top of double boiler 1 cup strained honey, ¾ cup peanut butter and ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir over boiling water until well blended. Add 2½ cups shredded rice cereal, crushed, and pour into lightly greased pan (about 8 inches square). Chill until firm, then cut into 25 bars.

CANNED-SOUP QUICKIES

When Christmas preparations leaves you little time to fix the good, hot lunch you ned on wintery days, you'll welcome these hearty canned-soup quickies suggested by the Woman's Home Companion:

For quick chilli, brown 1½ pound ground beef and 1 finely chopped onion in a little fat. Add 1 can black bean soup, 1 can water, 1 to 3 teaspoons chili powder and heat.

To make Texas clam chowder — a meal in itself — mix and heat 1 can clam chowder, 1 can tomato soup, 2 cans evaporated milk; 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon salt.

ZESTY CHRISTMAS GIFT

A nice idea for inexpensive but thoughtful Christmas gifts come from Edalene Stohr of the Woman's Home Companion food staff. She suggests that you make up a batch of zesty relishes according to her simple instructions in the December Companion and put them up in pretty jars for presents. Here's how to fix minted onion rings — their red and green combination makes them an ideal choice for the season:

Cider vinegar, 2 cups
Sugar, 2 tablespoons
Fresh mint leaves, chopped, 1 cup, or diced mint leaves, 2 tablespoons
Green food color, few drops (optional)
Onions, small, sliced thin, 2 cups
Pimiento, cut in thin stripes, 2

Combine vinegar and sugar in saucepan; add mint leaves, tied loosely in cheesecloth, and heat gently for 10 minutes; remove from heat. Stir in green color; add onions and pimiento; heat to boiling point. Pack into hot sterilized jars and seal or just cover and chill for several hours to use rigth away. Makes about 1 pint.

FRUITCAKE RIVAL

Nell B Nichols, the Woman's Home Companion's field reporter, recently interviewed Dallas housewives and learned about a frozen fruit treat which gives traditional fruitcake a run for the money in Texas. Mrs. Nichols passes along this authentic recipe from a Dallas homemaker for a frozen "cake" that serves 9 to 12 persons:

Scald 2 cups milk in double boiler and gradually stir in ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup flour and ¼ teaspoon salt, blended together. Continue to stir and cook for about 5 minutes. Spoon a small amount of this hot mixture over 2 slightly beaten eggs, mix well and then add to the hot contents of the double boiler. Cook and stir continuously until thick. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla and cool. Meanwhile butter a 5-by-9 loaf pan. When custard is cool stir in 2 cups finely crumbed macaroons the packaged kind — 1 cup white raisins, 1 cup chopped pecans, ½ cup chopped candied cherries. Fold in 1 cup cream whipped thick but not stiff. Pour into pan and freeze at least 24 hours. To serve, turn out and let soften slightly. Then cut in ¾-inch slices.

HOLIDAY PUNCH

A handsome bowl filled with colorful, tangy punch adds such a convevial note to holiday parties. This recipe from the Woman's Home Companion is for a stasty, non-alcoholic punch, especially good for the younger set's festivities: Add a 3-or-4 inch stick cinamon and 18 whole cloves to 1 cup water; boil 5 minutes, then cool and strain. Combine with 6-ounce can concentrated for lemonade and 3 cups unsweetened grapefruit juice; chill. Just before serving time pour into punch bowl; add ¼ cup grenadine and 1 quart ginger ale.

Use Care If Giving Pets For Christmas

Dr. Eric H. Hansen, president of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has urged everyone to exercise due caution before giving animal pets for Christmas gifts.

"Make sure, first of all," stated the Society official, "that the animal will have a good home and will receive the best of care. There should be one person in the household who is willing to take full responsibility for the animal's welfare so that he will have proper food and sleeping quarters. If it is a child, well and good, but nothing should be left to chance, for a youngster may promise faithfully to care for his new pet, and then turn to something else, thereby neglecting the animal. For this reason, an older person in the home should personally supervise the creature's care."

Dr. Hansen concluded with the statement that in giving a pet for Christmas, the donor should bear in mind that the recipient may not be familiar with the diet and habits of animals and, therefore, full instructions for its care and treatment should accompany the gift pet. In this connection, the Society has offered to cooperate by furnishing free literature on the care and feeding of animals, which may be obtained by writing to Society headquarters.

We should give as we would receive, cheerfully, quickly, and without hesitation; for there is no grace in a benefit that sticks to the fingers.—Lucius Seneca

Frozen fish sticks have proven so popular that meat and poultry are now being processed in a similar form.

AAA Safety Tip: Don't pick up hitch-hikers — the hitcher may be a snitcher warns the Massachusetts division of the American Automobile Association.

VA Will Pay Dividends on Life Insurance

VA today announced it will pay regular dividends next year on National Service Life Insurance, which originated in World War II, and on U. S. Government Life Insurance, which originated in World War I.

The NSLI dividend will amount to $200,000,000 and will be payable to holders of approximately 5,000,000 participating term and permanent plan policies.

The USGLI dividend will amount to $26,000,000 and will be payable to holders of approximately 380,000 permanent plan policies only.

In both the NSLI and USGLI payments, eligible policy holders will receive a dividend for each month the insurance is on a premium-paying basis during the policy year ending 1955, with a single check covering the entire payment due on the policy.

Payment will be made shortly after the anniversary date of each policy, beginning in January and ending in December, 1955.

VA announced changes will be made in several thousand individual NSLI dividend rates for the 1955 payment. On term NSLI, the dividend scale will be approximately 10 percent higher at ages through 40 than for the 1954 dividend. For ages above 40, the increase will be somewhat greater except at age 55, for which the rate will remain unchanged.

On permanent plans of NSLI, the total amount to be distributed in 1955 will be about the same as for 1954, but there will be small increases at some points and small decreases at others.

VA said these increases and decreases are due in large part to recent changes in the mortality and disability experience.

For USGLI permanent plan policies, a nominal increase generally will be made for those policyholders who presently are under age 60 and a slightly larger increase generally will be made for those policyholders who presently are over age 60.

VA said the USGLI increases also reflect recent changes in mortality and disability experience.

VA emphasized that the 1955 dividends will be payable only to eligible participating policies. They will not be payable to the non-participating post-Korea policies issued under the Indemnity and Insurance Acts of 1951, nor will they be payable to the 900,000 NSLI and USGLI participating policies for the months for which premiums were waived during the 1955 policy year, under the same acts.

Term USGLI policies also are excluded from the 1955 dividend declaration, as in the past. No dividends have been paid on these policies for many years because the mortality and disability experience among this group has been such as not to provide any margin for dividends.

In both the NSLI and USGLI programs, the dividend payments depend on the plan of insurance, the age and year of issue, and the amount of insurance carried. They do not depend on the amount of the premium paid per $1,000 of insurance.

AAA Safety Tip: Avoid the possibility of carbon monoxide poisoning by having your exhaust system checked for leaks suggests the car service experts of the Massachusetts division of the American Automobile Association. Even a bent exhaust pipe can restrict the flow of fumes enough to cause trouble. If you get the least bit sleepy when you're driving in a closed car, stop immediately. Leaking exhaust fumes may be the culprit.

Versatile Baking Soda Helps Car Owners

Baking soda, the old reliable of kitchen cupboard and bathroom cabinet, is handy to have around your family car, according to Stanley Gubala, car service expert of the Massachusetts division of the American Automobile Association.

"The old antidote for indigestion can be used to extend the life of your battery; is useful as a fire extinguisher and will remove "bug juice" from your windshield," says Gubala.

To remove insects from windshield and car finish Mr. Gubala suggests that you mix a half pound of baking soda into a gallon of water and liberally sponge on the solution. Bugs float off with no effort. Rinse with clear water, or proceed with regular car wash.

To extend the life of your car battery: Mix soda in water to make a saturated solution, then scrub terminals, frame, battery case and metal ground strap. Make certain the solution does not get inside the battery. This will dissolve oil and grease that make for corrosion and will keep hold-down frame and terminals clean. Then rinse off soda solution with clear water and check connections for tightness.

As a fire extinguisher, baking soda is effective on grease, oil or electrical fires. When scattered on a fire, it releases carbon dioxide gas cutting off the oxygen supply to the fire. It is an ingredient of most dry chemical extinguishers and some of the liquid ones. As an inexpensive extinguishing agent, it is considered a worthwhile item to carry in your glove compartment.

Brigham Hospital Affiliates with Lasell Jr. College

Peter Bent Brigham Hospital School of Nursing announces a new program of affiliation with Lasell Junior College. One of the first of its kind in New England, the program will include simultaneous training of students in Liberal Arts at Lasell and Instruction in Nursing at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

First to enroll in the new experimental program are Patricia Gura of Southington, Conn.; and Priscilla Broad of Newton Highlands. At the end of two years, the students will receive a degree as Associate in Science, and at the end of the third year a Lasell Junior College School of Nursing diploma.

This step represents a new trend whereby the Junior College is figuring in a fast-growing development in nursing education. The resources which are inherent in a junior college campus as a cultural and academic background, make great contribution to nursing education, according to Miss Dorothy A. Vernstrom, Director of the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital School of Nursing.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

(Compiled by Mass. Department of Commerce)

HIGH IN THRIFT

Compilations made by the Federal Reserve Bank show that Massachusetts at the close of 1953 had savings amounting to $2,054 per person, which was 50 percent above the $1,370 average for the whole United States. Incomes of individuals in Massachusetts during 1953 totaled $8,880,000,000 or $1,812 per person, which is 6 percent above the national average.

SMALL TOWNS GROW

The highest rate of new home building in Massachusetts has been in towns of between 2,500 and 5,000 inhabitants. In the four years, 1950-1953, this size class had 57.4 dwellings per 1,000 population. Towns between 5,000 and 10,000 came second with 52, and the small communities of less than 2,500 were third with 42.5 dwellings per 1,000 residents. In places above 10,000 population, the ratio of new home building declined consistently in inverse proportion to the size class, with the largest city, Boston, showing a total of 10.6 dwelling units per 1,000 population. These and other pertinent data on new home building are contained in a report just issued by the Massachusetts Department of Commerce.

NEARING THHE 5-MILLION MARK

The United States Bureau of the Census estimates that Massachusetts population on July 1, 1954 was 4,906,000, an increase of 241,000 or 5.8 per cent over that on April 1, 1950, the date of the last population census.

Newton Sports

Hockey popped into the sports picture Saturday night as Newton dropped a 1-0 verdict to arch-rival Waltham in a Bay State League-Greater Boston League jamboree at the Boston Area. Due to the late starting time, the "scrimmage" was cut to a pair of 9-minute periods . . . Newton showed plenty of class for its first competition of the year, but failed to make the most of its opportunities. Waltham goalie Ralph Wheelden, a standout last year, showed he was still in fine fettle as he blanked the Orange and Black skaters. Most of the game was played in Waltham's zone, and the Watch City boys only had two shots during the 18-minutes of play on Newton's two goalies, Mike Rogan and Brian Dooley . . . The lone score came at 1:36 of the first period. Waltham was pinned to its own end for the first minute of play, but broke out for one of its few sallies against the Newton defense. Stanley Krol, making a quick switch from the gridiron to ice, slipped a 5-footer past Rogan into the left corner of the net. After that, the Waltham sextet managed to get only one shot away on the cage, this coming against Dooley in the second period . . . Newton's lack of scoring punch will prove a headache to Coach Jack Hall unless some of his players can come up with a little accuracy. The Orange and Black had little trouble in keeping the disc in the enemy end, but couldn't penetrate the stiff defense. Tomorrow's (Friday) game with Melrose will tell whether the lack of scoring was due to Newton's impotence or to Waltham's stellar defending.

Outstanding for the Tigers were its veteran defensemen, Capt. Papl Fitzgerald and Billy Reilly. Reilly also made the hop from cleats to skates with less trouble than some of the boys have shown in past years . . . his tandem should prove about as good as any in the league—at least on paper. If the other skaters can come up with a little punch, Newton could make the season pretty interesting for its loyal followers.

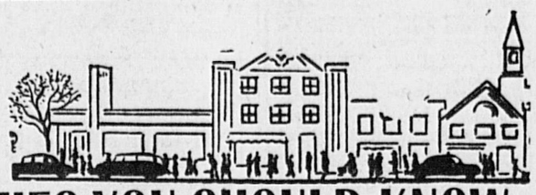

The championship season starts tomorrow (Friday) night with Newton facing Melrose in the second game of the dove-tailed schedule. In case you haven't seen any schoolboy hockey, here's how it goes: the four games are played two at a time, with two teams playing their first periods, then their second and third. The second half of the schedule gets under way in the same fashion, the teams playing alternately . . . This means that Newton's game will start at about 7:20, and will end near 9 o'clock. For sports fans who like to stay home for the Friday night fight, this still leaves plenty of time to scoot back to Newton. Hockey has never drawn much support from the general public, being attended mainly by teen-agers and a few of the old faithful alumni . . . This lack of support is truly a shame, for the G.B.I. loop regularly plays some of the best schoolboy hockey to be seen anywhere. Only in recent years has the Bay State League (last year Needham) been able to challenge the G.B.I. skaters . . . Those atending certainly get their money's worth. Although there are some "weak sisters" in the league—as there are in any league—the games on the whole produce some exciting hockey at a low price. In a short period of time, qou can see a lot of wild action thanks to this rapid-fire dovetailing of the games . . . Friday's game pits the Orange and Black against the squad rated as the pre-season choice to succeed Belmont at the top of the G.B.I. pile.

Other games are against Stoneham Saturday afternoon, December 18; against Belmont on Saturday night, January 1; against Cambridge Latin, Saturday afternoon, January 8; against Medford on Friday night, January 14; against Rindge Tech on Saturday afternoon, January 22, and against Arlington on Friday night, January 28 . . . The championship playoff dates are Saturday afternoon, February 5; Friday night, February 11, and Saturday afternoon, February 19.

Football finally made its belated exit Sunday's frigid afternoon when the Waltham Saxons overtook the West Newton Buccaneers to cop the Middlesex semi-pro conference title by a 13-6 count. As 500 shivering spectators watched at Waltham's Athletic Field, the Saxons rallied with two touchdowns in the last half after trailing from the start . . . A hurried punt that bounced the wrong way —following a loss of 24 yards in three running plays —set up the Buccaneers' score. The West Newton squad scored in three plays after taking possession only 19 yards for paydirt. On third down, quarterback Chub Ryan skirted right end for 12 yards and the touchdown. Ryan's point-after-kick was wide to the right . . . Only once did Waltham penetrate Newton territory in the first half—and that was on a recovered fumble. The Bucc's continued to outplay Waltham well into third period when the bubble suddenly burst. Ryan, turning to pitch back to his fullback, was bumped, and the ball squirted up in the air. Waltham guard Charles Doyle came bursting through the line, snared the ball in flight and legged 45 yards to tie the score . . . George Beck drove the pigskin through the uprights for what proved to be the winning margin. The Saxons scored in the fourth quatrer on another break when a handoff was bobbled on the Buccaneers 14. Despite a 15-yard setback for twelfth man on the field, Waltham pushed the ball over on a long pass and two running plays . . . The Middlesex Semi-Pro League, composed of two Waltham and two Newton teams, came into existence this year. For a while it was rocky going for the league, but it managed to get through the year. Let's hope this is a permanent fixture on the local scene. We hope they can build semi-pro football back to the heights it reached in pre-war years, when good-sized crowds flocked to local gridirons every year to see the out-of-school players square off in orgahized play.

Vet Enrollment Under GI Bill Is at High Peak

Fall enrollments of veterans training under the Korean GI Bill have more than doubled the peak reached a year ago, and show signs of reaching still higher levels, Veterans Administration announced today.

Also, VA said, this fall's flood of Korean GI trainees has far outstretched a corresponding drop in World War II GI Bill enrollments.

On November 1, trainees under the Korean GI Bill totaled a record-breaking 451,000, of whom more than half, or 225,000, were attending college. The rest were training in below-college-level schools, on-the-job and on-the-farm. The total was more than twice the size of last year's figure of 217,000 veteran-trainees.

In contrast, November 1 enrollments under the waning World War II GI training program numbered 168,000 — less than half of the 346,000 World War II veterans in training last year at this time.

VA said the 451,000 Korean GI Bill total for November 1 would grow to a still larger figure by the end of the year.

Looking further ahead, VA estimated that when the program finally reaches its peak and levels off, a year-round average of 500,000 Korean veterans would be in training in the nation's schools and training establishments. The figure would be higher in the fall and lower in the summer, but probably would average out around the 500,000-mark, VA said.

VA explained that the Korean GI Bill still is a young program; it has been in operation anly two years and three months. The World War II GI Bill, on the other hand, has passed its tenth anniversary and has been declining steadily during the past few years.

With the Modern Touch

This Early American grouping will serve well for either dining or recreational activities. Both the circular dining table and matching captain's chairs are constructed in sturdy maple of mellow tones, which lend readily to a hospitable atmosphere in the home at Christmas time and all year 'round. The table has a durable picwood formica surface, which withstands any amount of heat or direct surface wear. (American Chair Co.)

How to Light Outdoor Tree Without Damage to Needles

Dooryard evergreens strung with Christmas lights give a home that extra Christmas-y look. Even a baby sized evergreen silhouetted by lights adds to the neighborhood display.

When decorating an outdoor living tree, observe these precautions, advises Robert A. Bartlett of the Bartlett Tree Experts:

Use only electrical fixtures designed for outdoor use. Bulbs of 15 watts are bright enough; stronger ones may burn the needles.

Firs, spruces, pines can safely be decorated with lights without harm. Yews and hemlocks are more sensitive to heat, so use extra caution. Place the bulbs so that they do not touch the needles. If the lights are on for some time, the radiation of heat may burn nearby foliage. Check the position of lights from day to day so the string has not slipped out of position.

Even cliff dwellers make use of outdoor trees. Each year on 38th Street, New York, residents of one apartment hang Christmas ornaments on naked branches of a 20-foot tall London plane that struggles for growth out of the sidewalk. It is their tree, their Christmas symbol, as tender to them as a lighted tree in the suburbs or the big Norway spruce in Radio City.

HOW TO BUY CHRISTMAS TREES

Between now and Christmas more than 30,000,000 Christmas trees will be purchased. There will be little ones for the table, larger ones for the living room, live ones that can be planted outdoors after Christmas.

First consideration in choosing a Christmas tree, says Dr. F. A. Bartlett of the Bartlett Tree Experts, is its lasting qualities—does it shed its needles quickly in a heated room? Next, does it have beauty and fragrance?

Best bet is a balsam with flat dark-green needles that are soft at the tip and twigs that form a cross at the end of each branch. Other firs are soft at the tip too.

Spruces can be distinguished by their sharply pointed needles. A white spruce with bluish-green needles is an accepted indoor tree. But the Norway spruce is not because it drops needles quickly indoors. Yet it makes an ideal outdoor Christmas tree.

To determine the freshness of a Christmas tree in a lot, rub a finger across its butt. If it's sticky, it's quite fresh.

Buy your Christmas tree as early as possible to get the best selection. Get one with symmetry, one that will fit the floor and ceiling space in your home. Spread of the lower branches should measure half the tree's height. A stump 6-7 inches long will give the tree drinking area to soak up water and allow stability when the tree is set up.

When the tree is brought home, cut a diagonal one-inch slice from the stump and peel back the bark another inch. Place the tree in a pail of cold water to which you may add a cup of sugar or syrup. Keep the tree outdoors, on the porch or in a garage, until Christmas Eve. Add water to the pail and sprinkle the branches each day with cold water.

What Shall We Eat . . . . . Stretching Your Food Dollar

You may say "Mine's stretched to its full length now!" If that is so, you know that pennies are saved when time is spent in planning carefully before buying!

Plan meals for the entire week before you go to the store, and make your market order from these menus. Of course, you will need to change some of those meals so you can take advantage of good buys you will find at the store. Be sure, too, that the supplies are on hand for all recipes you are using.

Here are some other penny-saver helps:

Learn to know and use the cheaper cuts of meat. They cost less and they usually give the same food value as the more expensive cuts.

Never skimp or cut down on your milk order. Penny for penny, dairy products are one of your best food buys all year round.

Of the perishable foods, buy just what you need and can use because they lose food value quickly.

Homemade biscuits, muffins and cakes are often less expensive than baked goods. They take time, but save money.

Read labels to be sure of what you are buying.

Quantity is false economy if the item will not keep well.

Remember, a thrifty homemaker is one who plans before she buys, whether it be food, clothes, a new car, or a new hat. Economy and food values go hand in hand.

—o—

When you find yourself without a dessert an hour before dinner, try this time-saving trick. Make up a pan of gingerbread or spice cake from one of the many quick mixes, then top it with a broiled walnut frosting. Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; add ½ cup brown sugar and 2 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk. Spread on top of baked cake. Sprinkle with ½ to ¾ cup chopped walnuts. Place under broiler about 5 to 6 inches from heat. Broil 2 to 3 minutes or until top bubbles and begins to brown. Cool.

Recipe of the Week

Among the favorite recipes of Needham residents on display at the Needham Public Library is this one, submitted by Selectman Philip F. Foss, 59 Dana place:

Orange Nut Bread

1 medium sized orange
1 cup raisins or dates
2 tbsp melted shortening
1 tsp vanilla
1 beaten egg
½ cup chopped nuts
2 cups flour
¼ tsp salt
1 tsp baking powder
½ tsp soda
1 cup sugar

Pour juice from orange in standard 8-oz. measuring cup; add boiling water to fill cup. Remove most of white membrane from orange rind; force rind through food chopper with raisins, using coarse blade; add diluted orange juice. Stir in shortening, vanilla extract and egg. Add flour sifted with salt, baking powder, soda and sugar; beat well; stir in nut meats. Bake in waxed paper lined 5x9 in. loaf pan in moderate oven (350) about one hour.

Industrial Fires On the Increase

Chief Causes and Safety Suggestions Outlined

Fires in manufacturing establishments are on the increase—up 4 per cent over 1952, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reports.

This is a tragedy the United States can ill afford. Such fires today account for over half the country's annual $900 million fire loss and two or three times this amount in such indirect losses as medical costs, jobs, wages and production lost, savings reduced and business failures.

The "manufacturing" classification includes a great variety of industries, each subject to fire hazards peculiar to its own operations. Such special hazards can best be controlled by following the advice of a qualified safety engineer. However, other hazards are found in almost every shop. Top four are spontaneous ignition, smoking and matches, misuse of electricity and heating defects.

SAFETY SUGGESTIONS

To aid plant management and employees in preventing fires caused by these common hazards, the National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests the following important safety precautions:

Spontaneous ignition. Rags containing vegetable, animal or fish oils, or paints, are subject to spontaneous ignition and start fires in themselves. They should be stored in tightly closed metal cans, or hung up with plenty of air space around them to dissipate heat. If not needed, such rags should be removed from the building or burned after using.

Smoking and matches. Be sure all tobacco or smoking materials are out before you throw them away. Don't smoke near flammable materials, gases or liquids. Obey "No Smoking" signs. Smoke only where smoking is permitted. Break matches before throwing them away. Don't use matches as torches to search dark places. Don't light matches near explosive, gaseous or flammable materials.

Misuse of electricity. Use only cords approved by Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc. Never hang extension cords from nails or hooks, or run them under carpets. Don't fasten cord to wall with tacks; have approved wiring installed by an electrician. Replace all worn or frayed cords on appliances. Use lamps of proper wattage.

See that no contact is made with cloth or paper shades, or other combustible material. Have "trouble lights" adequately protected against breakage. In commercial establishments, electric irons and many other heating devices should be equipped with pilot lights to show when current is on. Always disconnect iron when not in use, or if you leave the ironing board. Keep iron on metal or asbestos pad when heated.

Remember: fuses are safety valves. Burned-out fuses indicate a short circuit or overload. Check wiring and appliances. Replace blown fuses with new, approved fuses of proper capacity. Never bridge fuses with coins or other metal.

Heating defects. Here, the term refers to equipment for heating the building, not that used for any special processing. However, heating equipment used for any purpose should be kept clean and in good repair. It should be inspected regularly by a qualified person, either a plant employee or an outside serviceman.

Plan Voting Machine Trial Shortly

NEWTON VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION board members pack Christmas baskets for distribution to shut-ins. Shown aiding the project are: Mrs. Charles J. Wilson, Mrs. Leo Barry, Mrs. Joseph B. Jamieson, Jr., Mrs. M. Fletcher Eades, Mrs. Stewart Hamilton, and Mrs. Raymond A. Green.

Visiting Nurse Ass'n to Make, Christmas Cheery for Shut-Ins

The Board of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, under the supervision of the Comfort Committee, began preparations for its Christmas activities at its December 13 meeting.

Thirty baskets donated by board members are to be packed on Tuesday, December 21st at the headquarters, to be distributed to shut-ins who would not otherwise receive this additional Christmas cheer. Plants will be sent to others, while patients currently on the organization's nursing care list will be remembered by cards.

Miss Katherine MacDonald, executive director, reported gratification at the generous volunteer help given by board members in relieving the pressures brought about by last month's nursing shortage. Not all the staff nurses who have ben on sick leave have returned to duty but the agency has been fortunate to have secured the services of two full-time substitutes.

May Rent 12 For Tests in 3 Precincts

A request for $1200 for the rental of a dozen voting machines for trial use at the next city election will be made in the recommended 1955 budget by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr.

The dozen machines will give city officials a chance to see just how they operate during actual voting, according to the mayor. Should the trial prove satisfactory, the city may then begin to acquire machines to serve all 30 precincts.

During the trial, only three precincts would be equipped with machines. Voting laws require one machine for every 400 voters, and at Newton's current registration close to 50,000, the city would need 1250 machines at a total purchase cost of about $150,000.

If the city rents machines for three consecutive years, the rental of about $100 a year will be applied to the purchase price.

Although they will not be more economical, said Mayor Whitmore, the machines will be more efficient than the present hand-counted balloting. There will be little chance for error, any recounts will be far swifter than at present, and results would be known much faster.

'Grandmothers' Class' Here Is A Liklihood

A growing demand has made Mrs. Joseph T. Walker, Chairman of Nursing Services of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, consider arranging a "Grandmothers Class" in Mother and Baby Care.

The six two-hour sessions would include family development, the techniques of feeding, bathing and dressing the newborn, and nursing procedures to handle problems during the baby's first year. This course, taught by a graduate nurse, would enable Grandma to take over, when baby comes home and visits to grandmother are started.

The Mother and Baby Care Course is one of the most popular offered by the Chapter. Each year more prospective parents, recognizing that baby care is a family affair, are taking these free classes.

Feeble Laws, General Apathy Allow Publishers Free Rein

(This is the first in a series on objectionable literature appearing on Newton's newsstands. The second installment will appear in The Newton Graphic for December 23.)

Protected by feeble laws and public apathy, unscrupulous publishers are filling Newton's newsstands with suggestive magazines featuring page upon page only a shade to the legal side of pornography.

These publications can be found in virtually every store selling magazines. Kindly proprietors often keep them on lower shelves so impressionable youngsters do not have to stretch for them. The magazines are scattered among family publications, lending an air of respectability to both the magazine and its purchaser.

How bad are they?

If 90 percent of the photographs printed in them appeared in motion pictures, irate customers would attack both the theater and the film companies. The moral-less, sensual publications would never be allowed to present their pictures and articles on television.

Yet they can be found on practically every Newton newsstand, well within the reach and priced within the range of our growing children.

A neighboring town, attempting to clear its store shelves of objectionable literature, agreed that the definition of "objectionable" would include any magazine with lightly-clad females or the word "sex" (or its implications) on the cover.

Publications falling within this definition can be found throughout Newton, from virile, large-sized men's magazines to the pocket-sized variety characterized by few words but many pictures. Ostensibly treating sexual questions in an erudite and detached manner, they illustrate their few thoughts with an abundance of flesh.

Let's take a look at a few of these. Here's a pocket-sized publication we'll call "Magazine A." The cover—falling well within the objectionable definition listed above—is a typical semi-nude "pin-up." Prominent positions on the cover are given to the words "sex" and "vice."

Bill Would Regulate Control Of Dumps Throughout State

Representative George E. Rawson of Newton, and Representative John J. Tommey of Cambridge, have jointly filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives, a bill to regulate private and public dumps for the disposal of refuse.

The bill provides that any person or any public agency proposing to establish a private or public dump shall obtain a permit from the health officer or board of health, as the case may be, of the city or town in which the dump is to be located. If the dump becomes a nuisance or danger to the public; the state Department of Public Health may after a hearing, order that its use shall be discontinued and the dump closed and covered.

The establishment of dumps near residential property has become an abuse in many communities because of the fact that combustible materials abandoned there have become ignited, causing fires which endanger adjacent property. Garbage and other perishables left there are a health menace because of rats and other vermin attracted. In the case of a dump within a city or town aggrieved citizens have a recourse in that they may appeal to the local municipal government for relief. However, in the case of a dump established by a city or town, the citizens of an adjoining municipality whose safety, health or property is endangered thereby, have no recourse that is adequate under existing law in case the authorities of the offending town decline to act.

A case in point is the so-called Bemis Dump maintained by the town of Watertown. That has long been a health menace and fire hazard to five residential sections of Newtonville which is separated from it by the Charles River, which is very narrow at that point. The Newton Fire Department has been repeatedly called upon to go to the location to protect property from fires burning at this dump. There are many similar situations throughout the State, and at the present time the Department of Public Health is powerless to act.

BERNARD D. GROSSMAN

New Building Is Planned By Temple Shalom

Plans for a new building to include a sanctuary, religious school and offices were approved at the recent annual meeting of the congregation of Temple Shalom of Newton. The architects of the building, modern in design, is the firm of Samuel Glaser Associates.

The congregation also approved constitutional amendments to the by-laws and elected the following officers:

Bernard D. Grossman, president; Bertram H. Loewenberg, Sidney J. Simons and Dr. Meyer Ritvo, vice-presidents; Robert Leventhal, treasurer; William Glovsky, secretary; Joseph Gilbert, financial secretary, and Mrs. Lester B. Radlo, corresponding secretary.

May Limit Parking Near High School

Acting after receiving "a good many complaints" from Newtonville residents who could not park in front of their own houses, the aldermen's street traffic committee has recommended an ordinance banning parking on one side of most streets surounding Newton High School.

Two proposed of-street parking lots, recommended by the School Committee for High School use, will take care of half the cars now left around the school, according to Alder-Man William A. Diman, chairman of the street traffic committee.

The lots, he said, will solve the congestion problem. "We feel there are still enough parking spaces around the High School," explained the alderman, "so the cars will not merely be driven further out."

His committee proposes a one hour limit from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the following streets:

Bolton road, north side from Lowell avenue to Walden street
Calvin road, north side from Lowell avenue to Walden street
Clyde street, both sides from Walnut street to Gay street
Dexter road, east side from Hull street to Walnut street
Fairfield street, west side from Highland street to Calvin road
Highland street, both sides from Lowell avenue to Sheffield road
Hull street, south side from Lowell avenue to Walnut street
Kirkstall road, both sides from Walnut street to Woodside road
Lowell avenue, west side from Highland avenue to Craigie terrace
Lowell avenue, east side from Highland avenue to Elm road
Sheffield road, both sides from Highland street in 200 feet
Trowbridge avenue, north side from Walnut street to Atwood avenue

Gov. Herter's Appeal to Democrats and Independent Voters Proed Vital Factor in His Election Success

One of Governor Herter's most valuable political assets back through the years has been his ability to draw support from Democrats and Independents as well as from members of his own party.

That faculty saved his political life, when he was standing for reelection to Congress in 1948 and 1950, with a potential Democratic tide running against him, and enabled him to win by big margins in a district which was carried by Democratic candidates in other contests.

It helped to set the stage for his spectacular upset victory over ex-Governor Paul A. Dever two years ago, and it made it possible for him to win reelection a little more than six weeks ago in the face of a trend that produced a Democratic House of Representatives.

This same ability should stand him in good stead during the coming two years, as he endeavors to cope with a problem that never before has confronted a Republican Governor of Massachusetts—that of getting his legislative program through a House that will be under Democratic control.

There are two reasons why Mr. Herter is probably better equipped to deal with such a situation than any Governor in modern Bay State history.

A very Merry Christmas To All

Magazines-

prance through the magazine. Only 41 of these pages are free from the "girlie" pictures. The remaining pages leave little to the imagination of the hardened adult or the curious youngster.

Objectionable Covers

"Magazine B," also of the photo digest type, at least has only half the objectionable items exposed to the casual passer-by. A story on "sex maniacs" shares the cover with a full-color picture of a Hollywood star in a low-cut gown.

Only slightly better than "A," a mere 54 pages are left clean of this "legal pornography." In its search for even a tattered mantle of respectability, "B" alternates visual sex with a few articles which could appear in any pocket or digest publication.

But even in the printed word, as in "A," stories of sexual abuse, deviation, moral law-breaking, rape, prostitution and thwarted attacks provide little change of thought from the illustrations.

Less subtle are the smaller magazines of the size made popular recently. Specialists in expose and sensation, they are struck from the same degrading mold as their larger brothers. A cursory glance at the tables of contents shows they exist only for the momentary "thrills" they provide the reader.

A third class of publication is the "inside story" type which purports to show the "intimate, behind-the-scenes" activities of top-level society and theatrical circles. Again sex claims the limelight as the authors uncover various "never-before-told" stories. But they always revolve about the same central theme.

And again the illustrations leave little doubt of the author's and photographer's intentions, no matter how obtusely hidden behind pious phrases and parroted, hypocritical moralizing.

This is what is available on Newton newsstands for adults and children alike. This is what moral-less publishers offer for the nickels and dimes of adolescent youngsters, often bewildered by the strange physical and psychological changes taking place during their growth to manhood. This is the muck seeking to claim a hold on the minds of Newton children.

Threat to Morals

Is this threat to morals exaggerated?

A look at any newspaper gives ample testimony that the battle for the younger generation's minds and morals is not an easy one. Can Newton residents afford to by-pass the influences of home, school and church by allowing these publications to flourish without a word of protest?

Many of the newsstand owners agree that the magazines could be improved, but the retailers claim they are helpless. Most of the "smut" comes in package deals, deftly tied to the apron-strings of more popular, highly-rated national magazines. If the dealers want the popular ones which attract customers to their stores every week, they have to take the undesirable ones as well.

Distributors who made up the "packages" similarly throw up their hands with a hopeless gesture and protest they have no control over the situation. Their excuse is that national publishing companies — who with one hand turn out respected, moral toned magazines and with the other crank out pages of corrupting literature—wield a clenched fist over their heads and tell them how the magazines are to be distributed.

And the individual protests of indignant citizens are swallowed up in the unfathomable maw of the publishers, unanswered and unheeded. Backed by battalions of legal advisors, the publishers tread defiantly along the narrow boundary of lawlessness.

Under present laws, no court can force them to change their ways. Only the concentrated force of an aroused public opinion can make them change their ways.

Elected Rivers School Officers

At the recent annual meeting of the trustees and corporation of the Rivers Country Day School in Chestnut Hill, Raymond H. Carter of Kinsbury road, Chestnut Hill, was made a trustee of the school.

Other Newton members of the Board of Trustees are Hamilton P. Edwards, William V. Tripp Jr. and Edward Dane of Chestnut Hill, and B. Alden Thresher and Douglas M. Gray of Waban.

Added to the corporation from Newton are Rex P. Schirmer of Waban, alumnus of Rivers and a recent Dartmouth graduate; Thomas W. Leydon, senior master at the school, of Waban; and Raymond H. Carter and Dr. Carlyle Flake of Chestnut Hill.

SHOWN ABOVE are the committee members who arranged the dinner at Temple Emanuel last night (Wednesday) in honor of Rabbi and Mrs. Albert I. Gordon on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary and in recognition of the completion of a quarter century of dedicated service by Judaism by Rabbi Gordon. Seated, left to right: Peter Groper, past president; Joseph G. Dietz, chairman, board of trustees; Mrs. David Short, president of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel; Joseph Greenbaum, president, Temple Emanuel, and George E. Gordon, past president. Standing, left to right: Judge David A. Rose; Arthur Rosenberg, treasurer, Temple Emanuel; George W. A summary of action to help the aging in Massachusetts will be presented at the hearing by Rep. people, it is most gratifying to focus the attention of the public on the good and outstanding work of these teen-age groups," declared Miss Flora Kovalsky, Executive Director of the Boston Association for Retarded Children. The City of Newton is to be congratulated on the young people, that its school system is turning out, especially those who have taken this problem of mental retardation as their cause. Three out of every one hundred persons is mentally retarded, and will need special care, education, and supervision for either all or part of their lives. The BARC is a voluntary agency composed of parents, relatives and friends of the retarded, whose funds are used to set up pilot demonstration facilities to work out methods of helping the retarded. It supports those facilities which are not now being handled by any other community group.

Judge Connelly Speaks to Men Of Union Church

John J. Connelly, presiding justice of Boston Juvenile Court, spoke last week to the Men's Club of the Union Church in Waban. His subject, "Our Greatest National Resources—Our Children" dealt with the problem of the youth in our modern-day society.

Judge Connelly is a graduate of Boston College and Boston College School of Law, and a member of the Boston Bar Association. His life has been spent in public services in the City of Boston. After working as a senior social worker in the Boston Public Welfare Department, he became probation officer in the Boston Juvenile Court in 1933.

He served in this post until 1941 when he became director of the Citizenship Training Department of the Juvenile Court. In 1945 he was appointed presiding justice of the Boston Juvenile Court and has served here with distinction since that time.

Free Parking at Route 128 Stop Ends in Spring

Free parking of automobiles for railroad commuters who use the New Haven station on Route 128 at Westwood will end with the arrival of Spring, according to an announcement from Patrick B. McGinnis, president of the railroad.

The 600-car lot currently in use on Metropolitan District Commission property will be the site of refreshment stands and other commercial enterprises.

On the opposite side of Route 128, a larger parking lot will be located; present plans include accommodation for 3000 cars. This will be rented to a parking concession firm and a charge levied for its use by railroad commuters. President McGinnis stated that the charge would be "nominal."

A similar paid parking concession is now in use at Logan International Airport, East Boston.

Much of the proposed new parking area is marsh land at present but work will be started immediately with the completed lot expected to be open for business in three or four months.

With the re-location of the parking lot on the other side of Route 128 overpass bridge, all present buildings, two shelters and a ticket office, as well as waiting platforms, will be moved to the south side. The railroad will inaugurate greater 244-hour police protection for parked automobiles under the new arrangement. 700,000 square feet of land will be required for the parking area.

To Observe Christmas Sunday At First Unitarian Church

Christmas Sunday will be observed December 19 at the First Unitarian Church in Newton, with Christmas carols from the balcony preceding the morning service, advanced to 10:45 a.m., and the annual Community Vespers, featuring Christmas in song and story, to be held at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

In addition to special selections by Dorothy Stallworth Fisher, organist, there will be seasonal anthems by the senior choir, directed by Warren S. Freeman, and by the junior choir, led by Mrs. Elizabeth T. Sweetser. "Santa's Chimney" will greet parishioners in the vestibule for their contributions to the United Unitarian Appeal, of which William L. Tisdel is the local chairman.

At the 4:30 Community Vespers, to which the public is cordially invited, three choirs will participate—senior, junior and primary groups. A Christmas pageant, "The Wondrous Gift," by Mildred Jones Keefe, will be presented by the church school, directed by Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler and Mrs. Erwin Salzer. The primary choir will sing "The Friendly Beasts." The Rev. John O. Fisher will be narrator.

Cast of Characters: Mary, Elizabeth Whitmore; Joseph, David Ellis. Shepherds—John Deming, Vernon Myers, Steven Roser. Kings—Stephen Beisel, John Rohsenow, Kenneth Waine. Angels—Cheryl Kuebler, Ivy Nesson. Candle Bearers—Sarah Garcelon, Pamela Hoyt, Geraldine Petery, Joanna Silver, Judy Skinner, Marjorie Taplin. Organist, Dorothy Stallworth Fisher; director, senior choir, Warren S. Freeman; director, primary and junior choirs, Elizabeth T. Sweetser; associate directors of pageant, Mrs. Albert R. Beisel, jr.; Mrs. Joseph C. Skinner and Edward Y. Walker; costumes loaned by Mrs. Charles H. Abrams jr.; lighting—Johnathon Fisher and Thomas Salzer; coordinator—Harry B. Taplin.

In connection with its usual Christmas party, Monday evening, December 20, the Couples Club will decorate the church school tree in the parish hall and bring toys for Hale House, whose director is Miss Alice Mifflin, a parish member. The upper, lower and primary church school will gather at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, December 21, for its Christmas party. Instead of receiving gifts from Santa Clause, the children will bring toys, games and stockings for youngsters of Hale House in Boston's South End. Santa Clause will appear nevertheless with candy for the West Newton Unitarian children. The program includes supper for children, teachers and parents, and a new puppet show production by Miss Virginia Chace and her troupe of puppeteers from Lexington.

'Jaycettes' Plan Christmas Party At the Workshop

The Newton Jaycettes, a newly formed group of Junior Chamber of Commerce members, have chosen Sunday as the date for their Christmas Party to be given at the Workshop, Newton Highlands at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Richard Egan and her committee have planned a gala affair including favors and refreshments. The little guests, children from the Rebecca Pomroy House, will also be treated to a special visit from Santa Claus. Prescott H. Brown has consented to be "man of the hour."

Mrs. James K. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Peter MacLellan, Carlton P. Merrill and Arthur Pancheri will transport the children to the party.

Refreshments will be provided by Mrs. Edward V. Gartland, Jr., Mrs. Albert C. Horton, Mrs. Harry R. Hofford, Jr., Mrs. Peter L. MacLellan, Mrs. Carlton P. Merrill, Mrs. Arthur Pancheri and Mrs. Stuart M. Spaulding.

Mrs. James K. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Edward V. Gartland Jr. and Mrs. Peter L. MacLellan have made arrangements to fill Santa's pack. The decorating committee includes Mrs. Prescott Brown and Mrs. Eric Wahlman. Mrs. Pancheri will provide entertainment.

Christmas Paintings By Newton Artists Now On Exhibition

About 15 residents of Newton, and one resident of Waltham, are among the members of the Boston YWCA Workshops whose original Christmas paintings and ceramics are now on exhibit at YW headquarters and will continue until January 3. They are

Mrs. Martin Connelly, 20 Potherwood road, Newton; Katherine Drew, 44 Hancock avenue, Newton; Clara Goldberg, 20 Burr road, Newton; Mrs. Louise Groves, 19 Saxon road, Newton Highlands; Eleanor Haskins, 257 Trapelo road, Waltham; Helen Hegnauer, 71 Walnut Hill road, Newton Highlands; Mrs. Edward Jones, 16 Randlett park, Newton; Marjorie Joslin, 100 Madison avenue, Newtonville; Helen Cabot Miles, 40 Clyde street, Newton;; Jessica Miller, 205 Mill street, Newtonville; Mrs. Hanna Nedlson, 17 Hibbard road, Newton; Irene Peters, 37 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville; Mrs. Maynard Petkum, 135 Kirstallard street, Newtonville; Mary M. Schele, 82 Pine Grove avenue, Newton Lower Falls; Frances Themin, 97 Atwood avenue, Newtonville; and Miss M. L. Walworth, 180 Hower street, Newton Center.

The work on exhibit represents class projects. Themes suggested by the Bible and the poetry of Emerson and Whittier plus individual interpretations of Christmas have resulted in a wide variety of subject matter.

The exhibit also includes ceramics - a display of plates with a Christmas theme design.

Painting classes at the YWCA are under the direction of Carl Nelson. Ceramics workshops director is Mary Roy.

Peabody Home to Benefit from Sale

The New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children will receive, as a Christmas gift, the proceeds of the food sale arranged by a group of students at Beaver Country Day School for Friday noon Miss Linda O'Keefe of West Newton is a most active member of this Social Welfare Committee which has Miss Sonia Berlin of Boston as its chairman and Miss Mary Neal of 339 Hammond st, Chestnut Hill as its vice-chairman.

Attorney David J. Cohen of 28 Eliot Memorial road, Newton, has been elected clerk and director of Boot Mills, Lowell.

Junior Red Cross Active Here

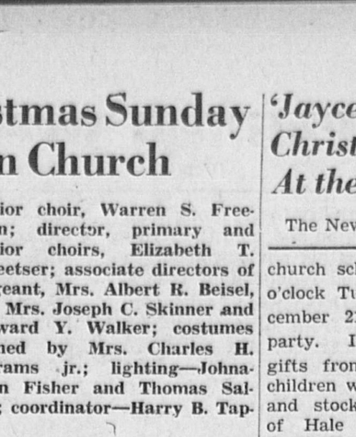

The American Junior Red Cross has been very active in Newton this fall living up to their creed, "We believe in service for others, our country, our community, and our schools". They have made Hallowe'en and Thanksgiving favors for our Veterans Hospitals, Peabody Home, and the Children's Ward at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Groups of Juniors have planned Christmas programs for various institutions. Six boys from our High School orchestra played for two hours at the Veterans' Hospital for a special group.

Newton Junior Red Cross was one of three chapters chosen by National Headquarters to dress a doll for the National Education Exhibit to be shown all over India. The High School Junior Red Cross Council took over the project and did a magnificent piece of work. A fashion group in the Art Department designed the costumes and the council members did the sewing and knitting. The doll was dressed in a typical school dress, corduroy jumper and blouse, and had sport clothes, street dress, party dress and evening dress. We have been notified by our Washington Office that they were very much pleased with the doll and that they have turned it over to the India Ambassador.

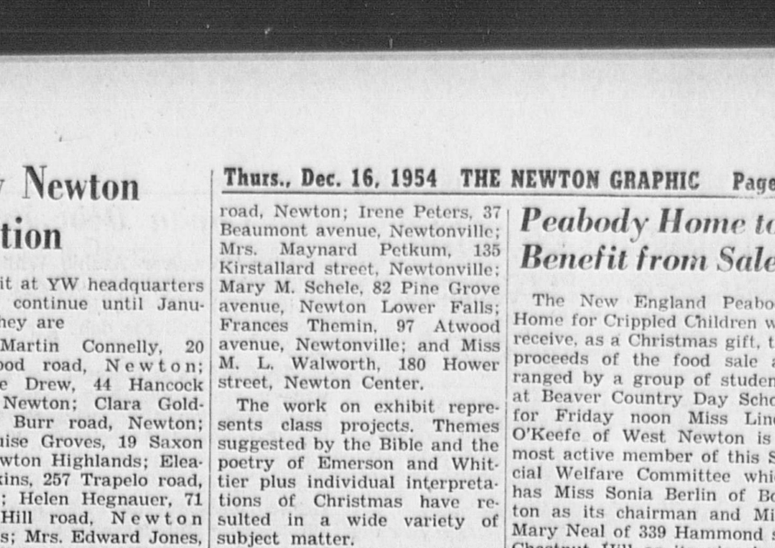

The Junior Enrollment Drive which took place this past month was most successful as we exceeded our previous record. The resourcefulness and ingenuity of our Juniors in organizing and carrying out their projects for raising money besides their individual contributions, is amazing as well as most gratifying. So long as we have students interested in helping others we can feel confident of the future.

More Industry?

In making a report of activities for this year to his organization, John B. Rubenstein, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce points out what he considers the rapid absorption of land zoned here for industrial use, and says "there is every indication that in coming years, certain tracts of land, suitable for industry, may well be zoned for that purpose."

Whether a further industrialization of land in this city is desirable might well be construed as a debatable issue. This is not to state that the Chamber of Commerce president's suggestion is not worthy of consideration. But this expansion of area for industry is a matter of considerable consequences and one which should not be dealt with lightly, either now or in the future.

It raises the question as to what extent industrialization of Newton is feasible and practical. Today, as in the past, Newton has been referred to as "the Garden City," a reference of fact, not fancy.

Can Newton expand its present area for industrial purposes without losing its identity? If so, to what extent? Undoubtedly Mr. Rubenstein had this in mind when he broached the suggestion that the time must come soon when Newton will be faced with the stern realities of a problem which appears now to be in the acute stages.

It is a fact that Newton in recent years has experienced a rapid growth in population, and if the present ratio of population growth keeps pace another five years, this city will possibly be one of the five or six largest in the Commonwealth.

Yet for all its rapid population growth, Newton does not have the aspects of a large city, certainly not an industrialized community. Is the day at hand when such a change must inevitably come about? Must the present suburban atmosphere give way to an industrialized one? These are questions which Newton residents, and perhaps more particularly home owners must face, and if need be, prepared to answer.

It is a truism that a growth of any community brings with it a change and in this respect Newton can be no exception to the rule. But to what extent Newton will change, rests solely with the decision of its people.

Added land for industrialization purposes may have to come but when and if it does occur, thought and care must be exercised if in future years, Newton can still be called "the Garden City."

A Needed Change

News this week that voting machines will be given a tryout here next year, comes as welcome news.

Certainly some better method of tabulating votes in this city is desired. Newton is notoriously slow in tabulating national, state and city election results. In city elections for the past two years, when the preferential system of counting was abandoned, there has been some improvement but not enough to take Newton out of the notoriously slow category.

Even yet, however, the counting and tabulation of votes here is slow and cumbersome. Citizens of all communities are entitled to a rapid, accurate tabulation of votes. Those cities and towns which have adopted mechanical computation will attest to its value in precise recording of the ballot. While the initial cost is expensive, it can be absorbed without undue strain through a gradual change-over and, in time, the machines pay for themselves in curtailment of election costs.

Where recounts are demanded many times after votes have been tabulated manually, they are infrequent when voting machines are used. Newton has lagged badly behind in the conduct of vote tabulation in elections. This, despite the fact that in almost every other category of municipal government this city either leads the field or is well to the forefront.

The preferential system of vote counting was time-consuming, expensive, and seldom had any influence in determining the outcome of a contest, yet until two years ago it prevailed here for well over a quarter of a century.

The voting machine has proved itself everywhere it has been used. It will prove itself in Newton, too, when this method of tabulating votes becomes a reality. Fortunately that day appears near at hand.

Per Capita Debt Increase

City Treasurer Archie Whitman has indicated that Newton citizens' debt per capita will be $184 at the end of 1954. At the end of 1953 the debt per capita was $164.

This $20 debt increase for each man, woman and child, based on an 86,000 population figure, according to the Newton Taxpayers' Association, "is due to new school construction."

One reason for Newton's high debt for schools is the high cost of new structures per pupil served. In Newton, on the average, it is the highest in the state.

Perhaps the Franklin School is one kind of satisfactory solution to the high cost school problem. This unit has demonstrated that a satisfactory elementary school, one which performs its educational function as well, if not better, than traditional type structures, which is also engineering-wise effective and architecturally pleasing, can be built at a lower cost.

Newton possesses some of the most modern, most architecturally perfect schools in the entire country. Its educational system has been nationally recognized and there can be no doubt that it secures for its students, the finest teaching personnel available. Thus its scholastic achievements are the envy of all.

Today, in every community, school costs absorb by far the greatest costs in every municipal budget. Facing the facts it must be recognized that increasing school costs over the past decade have played no small part in the ever increasing tax burden of Newton and every other community.

Parents want the best education that can be obtained for their children. This is laudable, understandable and a justified reason for broader and expanding educational curriculum. It is further desirable because of the atomic age in which we are now living. A youth properly educated will be a more useful citizen tomorrow.

We are just old-fashioned enough to believe, however, that learning and knowledge comes out of textbooks plus the proper explanation of theory and fact propounded by qualified teachers, rather than by glorified architecture, however pleasing it may be to the eye. Provided, of course, that the buildings are properly built, heated and arranged.

Whether a city prefers monumental types of school construction for its children is wholly a matter of desire. The teaching rudiments, however, can and are learned just as well in many a lesser expansive monument, and probably serve just as well as those more highly gilded.

Let's remember that the little old red schoolhouse of yesteryear turned out some pretty intellectual products for this nation.

Accent on Bethlehem

The "Christ for Christmas" crusade launched by the Newton Lower Falls-Wellesley Methodist Church is timely and pertinent.

Disciples of the "Back to Christ" observance of Christmas are becoming more numerous and articulate of recent years. Many sects endorse the movement; all fear the encroachment of motifs somewhat removed from the devotional in celebrating the Yuletide.

Passing years leave their mark upon the interpretation and physical approach to special days; Americans of a century ago would be aghast at the calmness and sanity of our Fourth of July—from a pyrotechnical, not traffic, aspect. The latter would leave them petrified.

America inherited Christmas from Europe; in the Middle Ages it was often a bawdy and boisterous season—would be a shocker even to the most elastic contemporary conscience. Our Pilgrim and Puritan forebears frowned upon Christmas as a pagan holiday and it was banned in the early New England settlements.

American ingenuity and promotional aptitude have enlarged and glamourized Christmas — in keeping with modern "spectaculars." The season also has been lengthened; likewise has the awareness of the day been considerably expanded, if not enhanced.

There are many who see something incongruous in Christmas draped in the tinsel and dross of commercial carnival. They find it difficult to peer through the glitter and glare, the bawling and the banality, to discern the tableaux of the humble little manger, Joseph and Mary, the awed shepherds and the Magi in silent reverence before the Christ Child.

This is the picture these good people seek to keep ever in sharp focus at Christmas; they vow to strengthen and maintain it. Most Americans do retain the old-fashioned concept of Christmas and would accept no other.

However, there is no harm in taking out insurance against a later day—and era—when the Bethlehem story might be submerged beyond hope of recall.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Tavern-keeper Cary J. Waters of Sparta, Wis., was fined $250 last week as a result of complaints that when children visited his saloon on Halloween, chanting "trick or treat," he gave them "shots of whisky."

A Jersey City jury last week awarded $3,262 in damages to Mrs. Catherine Hylander after her testimony that she suffered a shock to her nervous system from being frightened by a mouse while at work. She said that when a mouse crawled out of a packing case and onto her apron she was so upset she required medical treatment. The jury decided she should be compensated.

Legend of Yule Tree Almost As Old as Christmas Itself

Reprinted From 'The Newton Serviceman' Magazine of Newton American Legion Post

From the earliest days of the Christian era the fir has been the accepted Christmas tree. Each year this evergreen is a symbol of good will and good cheer. Around it gather the family and friends, and at its base are placed the gifts so happily exchanged. And not without reason is the fir the accepted Christmas tree.

As told in legends of old, the fir is the tree of life. One version is that of Ansgarius, a Frankish missionary, preaching the White Christ to the Vikings of the North: And the Lord sent forth His three messengers, Faith, Hope and Love, to light the first tree. They sought a tree that would be as high as Hope, as wide as Love, and that bore the sign of the cross on every bough. And they chose the Balsam Fir as the tree that most nearly symbolized these requirements.

Another ancient legend is that told of Saint Wilfrid, an English prelate of the early seventh century, who concerted the Druids, Celtic priests who worshipped many gods, of which the oak was the most important. One day in the midst of his converts he cut down a giant oak to fully impress upon them the complete severance of their old belief.

As the oak crashed to earth with a thunderous roar it split into four pieces and, to the amazement of the converts, from the very center there grew a young fir tree pointing a green spire to the sky.

As they gazed upon this wondrous spectacle, Saint Wilfrid spoke to them. "Note you," said he, "this little tree, a young child of the forest, shall be your holy tree tonight. It is the wood of peace, for your houses are built of the fir, and it is the sign of an endless life, for its leaves are ever green. See how it points toward the heaven. Let this be called the tree of the Christ Child; gather about it, not in the wildwood, but in your own homes. There, within your walls, it will shelter no deeds of blood but shall be surrounded with loving gifts and rites of human kindness."

And on the tree that is ever green and points a living spire toward the winter sky, each year is bestowed that signal honor of sharing the family's Christmas joys.

WORTHY OF NOTE

Editor Newton Graphic:

Your recent editorial entitled "Joyful Interlude" was very appropriate and inspiring; and worthy of note, due the season.

I would like to go a little further with the approach of Christmas, the day made famous with the birth of the infant Christ, the Savior of mankind, we, as Christians and as Americans should hold this day in respect and reverence, with devotion in prayer and with a religious attitude.

This nation under God has been blessed and free from the destructive wars as has no other nation in recent history. We hold as our motto in "God We Trust" and under His Divine guidance as the same child born in a humble stable in the little town of Bethlehem, as such; this beloved nation of ours has been a land of prosperity and plenty, and free from economic want.

We cannot approve of unholy and heathenish office parties, with emphasis on gaiety, drinking and moral corruption; rather than of Christianlike attitudes on the sanctity, devotion, occasion, and meaning of this day of day's.

With excessive drinking and carousing, the day wil ltake on a Communistic flavor of an unholy and detestable atmosphere, which is quite un-American.

The first is his ability to get along with Democrats and to gain and hold their respect. The second is his obvious strength with Democratic and Independent voters.

A good many Democratic legislators who were elected from districts which Governor Herter carried, are going to think a long time before they vote against a measure he sponsors, if the only real reason for doing so is that they are Democrats and he is a Republican.

One of the most telling arguments Mr. Herter used against Robert F. Murphy in the recent gubernatorial campaign was that Murphy had either voted against or refused to vote on bills the Governor had submitted which were of broad public benefit.

The reason Murphy had adopted such a position was strictly a matter of partisan politics. A Democrat of unswerving loyalty and allegiance to his party, Murphy did not vote on some public improvements, not because he was against them, but because he was against a Republican Governor.

To the straight-down-the-line Democrats that was an understandable and even laudable attitude.

But when Herter at the height of the campaign publicly criticized Murphy for his failure to vote for a number of important measures, there was no plausible explanation the Democratic standard-bearer could offer for his stand.

Murphy found himself impaled on the prongs of political partisanship. There was nothing he could say that would have justified his action to Independents or to some Democrats. He remained silent, and Herter's attack cost him votes.

You may be sure that didn't escape the attention of Democratic politicians who will be in the same position during the next two years as was Representative Murphy.

If Herter had been a Republican who practised partisan politics at the expense of the people as either Governor or Congressman, Murphy's position would have been easily defensible.

But Herter is a man who tries to serve all the people, when he is in office, and unreasoning opposition to his program could be a certain means of achieving political oblivion.

Governor Herter may be balked at times by the Democratic House, but the guessing now is that his measures will be passed far more often than they are defeated.

* * * *

It now appears virtually certain that Representative Michael F. Skerry of Medford will be chosen speaker of the incoming Massachusetts House of Representatives, the second Democrat in the history of the State to achieve that office, and his election will be another setback for the forces of Robert F. Murphy.

Skerry gained an important psychogical advantage the first of this month, when outgoing Speaker Charles Gibbons, in accordance with custom, accepted the pledges from Democratic legislators which Skerry presented, moved out of his office and allowed the Medford man to take it over.

Whatever doubt there might have been concerning the outcome of the battle for the Speakership has vanished in the two weeks since that happened, and there is now no question but that Skerry will be elected over Representative Charles J. Artesani of Brighton.

Artesani was one of the leaders in Murphy's unsuccessful campaign for the Governorship, and he would have been assured of election as Speaker with Murphy's support, if the latter had defeated Governor Herter. But Murphy's influence ebbed after the gubernatorial returns were tabulated.

Murphy, incidentally, has been urged to challenge William H. Burke, Jr., of Hatfield for the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee, if and when John C. Carr steps out of that post to become city manager in Medford, but he will do so only if he can be shown that he has an even chance of winning.

Now the titular leader of the Democratic party in Massachusetts, Murphy is understandably reluctant to become involved in any more losing fights. He was defeated for the Governorship, and his candidate for the Speakership appears to be out of the running, although Murphy did not show his hand to too great an extent in that contest.

His prestige could plummet, if he were now to enter a fight for the Democratic State Committee and lose. So while he may challenge Burke, there is no certainty yet that he will do so.

Curfew Hour for Youngsters Need Study

While there is a natural disposition to endorse the suggestion for a curfew for teen-agers as a means of combatting juvenile delinquency, it appears unlikely at this stage that members of the Massachusetts Legislature will consent to such a step without a most exhaustive study of what would be apt to happen under it.

The proposal for a curfew is advanced by persons who are genuinely and seriously disturbed by the wave of teen-age crime and hoodlumism and who are seeking some means of curbing and lessening it.

However, there are some dangerous aspects to a curfew which, upon careful study, might cause some lawmakers and civic leaders to line up against it.

There is no doubt but that a curfew would do some good in certain cases. But there also is a serious question whether it might do greater harm in others.

One objection to a curfew is that it penalizes the great bulk of well behaved children in order to control the small minority of delinquents. That argument can be answered effectively with the reply that children under 14 or 16 years of age should be off the street after 9 or 9:30 at night.

The most serious flaw in a curfew as this writer sees it, is that while the law-abiding children would obey it, it might serve as a challenge to others to get out or stay out after the curfew hour merely for the sake of violating the law, just as many persons drank liquor in the prohibition era because the law said they couldn't.

Boys who knowingly were on the street after the curfew would in a sense become fugitives from the police and would be in a mood where some of them might commit even more serious crimes.

That appears to be the gravest question about a curfew. Would it lessen juvenile crime or increase it? Would it serve as a challenge to teen-agers to violate the law and place them on the road to more serious wrongdoing?

Any plan that is put forward will have some weaknesses, and it is easier to sit back and criticize than it is to offer constructive ideas for coping with the present problem. But that does not alter the fact that there are very/definite drawbacks to a curfew and that all the aspects of such a law should be thoroughly studied before it is placed on the statute books.

"Another reason why there's always room at the top is that a lot of people who get up there go to sleep and fall off!"

To my way of thinking, we should do away with such nonsense, and avoid trouble by the real observance of the season and with a more respectful approach on the eve or day before.

As a nation dedicated to God; let us put Christ, back into Christmas. It is for each and every one of us to decide what is the correct and decent way of life. As Christmas, we shouldn't desecrate the day with false frivolity, too much drinking which leads to immoral purposes, and to be mindful of this custom now in vogue, and being practical during these recent years.

By not so doing; Christmas will be a day of happiness and joy, instead of a day of gloom and despair, as a result of wrong exorbitant living. A very Merry Christmas to all, and don't forget one for the road.

Simple Precautions Guard Against Christmas Hazards

By NEWTON FIRE PREVENTION BUREAU

The essence of Christmas, for many of us, is centered in the Christmas tree, with its shining lights and ornaments. But beware of those decorations!

A young couple and their 7-week-old baby were severely burned when a spark, apparently from a defective lighting set, ignited their tree last year in New York City.

A mother was burned rescuing her children from a fire in Brockport, N. Y., which started when their tree caught fire. A faulty tree light plug seemed to be to blame. Flames destroyed all the family's Christmas gifts.

In South River, N. J., a fire routing 40 people began when sparks from a toy electric train beneath it ignited a Christmas tree.

In Union, N. J., two families were made homeless from a fire which spread from a blazing Christmas tree. Evidently ornamental lights had overloaded the circuit, which caused the fire.

These are just a few examples of last year's tragic holiday fires. Despite repeated warnings, there probably will be similar tragedies this year.

Key to the trouble is the tree itself—filled with pitch and resin and extremely combustible. It ignites easily and burns so furiously that it is virtually impossible to put out the fire quickly.

LISTS PRECAUTIONS

Protect yor family by following these precautions recommended by the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

Choose a small tree rather than a large one.

Store it outdoors until a day or two before Christmas.

When you bring it in, stand it in water and set it in a cool part of the house, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces. Don't let it block an exit.

When you decorate your tree, remember these things:

Be sure every lighting set and cord you use is in good condition — no worn or frayed wires, no loose sockets. (Naturally, never use candles!)

When you buy new sets or cords, look for the UL label. The ones that bear it have passed Underwriters' Laboratories tests for fire and shock hazards.

Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning tree lights on and off.

Ornaments should all be made of fireproof materials like metal or glass. Never decorate with cotton or paper unless they are labelled "fireproof" or "flameproof".

Never set up electric trains under the tree!

HINTS ON TREES

Even when your tree is as safe as you can make it, take these added precautions as long as it is in your home:

Don't let gift wrappings pile up under or near the tree.

Don't leave tree lights burning when no one is home.

From time to time, see whether needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so, change the position of the lights.

When needles start to fall take the tree down and discard it—outdoors!

Lower Falls Church Opens 'Christ for Christmas' Drive

In order "to redeem Christmas from the secular celebration it has become and make it the spiritual occasion it should be," the people of the Newton Lower Falls-Wellesley Methodist Church have undertaken a "Christ for Christmas" crusade.

"This does not mean that we would take from Christ-was its gifts, its joys, and its festivity, but rather that we would claim for Christmas the kind of giving, joy, and festivity that will be a blessing to men and do honor to the one whose birthday we celebrate," explained Rev. Edgar J. Helms, pastor.

A lawn display has been erected on the front lawn, depicting the ingredients of Christmas. Depicted is a child slumbering peacefully with visions of sugar plums, Rudolph, and Santa dancing in his head. But greater than these dreams is a blessed one: the "Dream of Christ and Christmas." In the background, shepherds are shown on a hillside looking down into the village of Bethlehem.

"Christmas will be a time of singing and gayety, of wassail bowl, and Yule log. This spirit of good fellowship and love will temper our extravagance and regulate our mirth if we allow the spiritual blessings of Christmas to enter our hearts and homes," said Mr. Helms.

"That this may be achieved in the homes of Newton Lower Falls and Wellesley the Advent program of our church has been directed. This will be a white gift Chrstmas for the church as we seek to make our adopted needy family happy and thankful."

CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

Sunday at 7:30 p.m., a family Christmas Pageant will depict the traditions of the season with members of the church family participating. Monday, a Church School Party for toddlers at 4 p.m. and the Church School at 7 p.m. will be held December 24 at 7:30 p.m., the Senior Youth Fellowship will conduct a special Christmas Eve Service. Following this, families and friends will go about the village caroling.

"As Christians," Mr. Helms declared, "we need to re-assert Christianity's claims on the happiest day of the year. Christmas is for Christ! It is a time to remember God's love, as revealed in the coming of Jesus Christ. Christmas is a Christian festival. Together we can keep it as Christians in our personal lives, in the home, in the church, and in our communities. Every opportunity should be taken to proclaim its true meaning to mankind. With Christ at the center, He will draw all men to Himself."

Newtonians

Sheila Fallon, 272 Centre street, Newton, will be a featured singer on the "Musical Portraits" show to be broadcast over Station WVDA Saturday from 12:05 to 12:30 p. m. She will sing many of the hit songs written by Richard Rodgers, noted composer, who will be saluted during the program. The show will be broadcast directly from the Berklee School of Music, where Miss Fallon is a student.

At Christmas be merry and thank God for all,
And feast thy poor neighbors, the great and the small;
Yea, all the year long have an eye to the poor,
And God shall send luck to keep open thy door.

Traffic safety measures have been investigated by the members and discussed with Officer Charles Feeley of the Newton Police Department. Officer Feeley has been very cooperative and has agreed to give the various matters his careful consideration.

Mrs. Melvin Taymor, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee discussed the recent Food Sale. Mr. J. Ellis Bowen, treasurer, presented the current financial picture.

Miss Nugent reminded the parents of the evening grade meetings scheduled to start in January. She suggested that all make a special effort to attend the conferences and to feel free to discuss their thoughts with the group. Through such a mutual understanding of the children — their strengths and limitations — their personalities and actions — can home and school cooperate more efectively.

The meeting adjourned early so that all could attend the annual Open House. The faculty returned to their classrooms and well over 200 parents took advantage of this opportunity to meet with them. The children's work was on display in folders and it was obvious that they and their teachers had worked together carefully and effectively to make the rooms so attractive and the folders so neat and well done. To be present was an interesting and stimulating experience.

Refreshments were served at an attractively decorated table in the girls' playroom under the capable direction of Mrs. William H. Bright and her assistants, Mrs. John S. Cander and Mrs. Arthur Silver.

Mrs. Wayne V. Schell of the Program Committee announced that the next general P.T.A. meeting will be held on February 7, 1955 at 7:00 o'clock in the school auditorium. Sammy White, catcher for the Boston Red Sox and a resident of the Davis School District, will be featured speaker. Members of the Program Committee are Mrs. Don W. Fawcett, Mrs. John S. Carder and Mrs. Richard J. Roche.

The next meeting of the executive board will be held on January 24, 1955 at eight o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellis Bowen on Waltham street, West Newton.

Author Speaks at Convocation of Junior College

Newton Junior College held its second convocation of the year last Tuesday. The Speaker was Mr. Salom Rizk, author of 'Syrian Yankee' and lecturer.

Rizk brought to the students a new conception of the meaning of American democracy, giving them an insight into the advantages and responsibilities in such a way as to make them re-evaluate the privileges which are often taken for granted.

"Syrian Yankee," his autobiography, tells of his experiences in getting to the United States, obtaining an education, and learning what living in a democracy can mean. He has traveled extensively in Europe and the Near East.

A Christmas Party is scheduled today (Thursday) at the college. Richard Swaine of Brookline is chairman of the party committee. Chairmen of other committees are: Jane Dutton, Newton Highlands, and Nancy Davis, Brighton, supper committee; George Rice, Newton Highlands, entertainment; Don Connors, Natick, Bob Clark and Bob Zaruba, Wellesley, Erroll Haywood, West Newton, and Ed Kelley, Newton, decorations.

Cambridge Man Hit-Run Victim Monday Night

A 52-year-old Cambridge man became the fifth auto fatality of the year in Newton Monday night when he was struck by a hit-run car and thrown into the path of another during rush-hour traffic on Centre street near Cabot street.

The victim, who was walking to his parked car, was identified as Edwin W. Dube of 51 Porter road, Cambridge. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Newton-Wellesley Hospital from fractures of the skull, both hips, spine and pelvis.

He was first struck by a car going south on Centre street and knocked into the path of one driven by Dr. Verner M. Swan, a surgeon at the Lahey Clinic who is temporarily residing at 73 Lewis street, Newton. The first car stopped momentarily and then sped away, Dr. Swan told police.

Police immediately began their search for the hit-run vehicle. Lt. John N. McMullen, placed in charge of the investigation, said he had "a good lead" on the identity of the driver. He has been joined in the investigation by Registry Inspector George W. Prescott.

In addition to being the fifth in the city for 1954, the accident was also the third fatal motor vehicle mishap in a month.

Shows Fog-Foam Fire Euipment

A demonstration on the application and uses of foam and modern foam equipment used in fighting flammable-liquid fires was held at Ladder 2 Station, Friday morning under the supervision of Chief John E. Corcoran and Assistant Chief John L. Martin.

A lecture on the procedure, uses and capabilities of foam and its related equipment was given by Alfred R. Mullin, of the Rockwood Sprinkler Company of Worcester.

Following the lecture, a practical demonstration using the latest fog-foam equipment carried on Engine 7 and Ladder 2 was conducted by members of Ladder 2 Station under the supervision of Captain Francis X. Dwyer.

W. N. Women's Educational Club

A delightful concert of violin music was presented to an enthusiastic audience last Friday at the Christmas meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, held at the Second Church Parish House, West Newton. Percy Brand, accompanied at the piano by Mr. Paul Gorodestsky, opened with Liszt's familiar "Hungarian Rhapsody," followed by selections from Bizet's "Carmen," "Caucasian Sketches" by Ippolitow-Iwananow; then in a lighter vein, the well-known "Malaguena," "In a Persian Market" and "Canary." Mr. Brand's technique was flawless, his interpretation full of life and vigor, and his artistry superb.

In the "Art Corner' of the Ladies' Parlor, Mrs. Chester F. MacDowell, Chairman of the Art Committee, had arranged a display of antique china, owned by club members. Among the most unusual pieces were a charming Dresden China clock, a set of old French dessert plates and a lovely cake plate dating back to the 16th century.

Mrs. George H. Hayden and Mrs. Albert E. Roberts and their committee were hostesses at the social hour which followed the program. Mrs. C. David Gordon and Mrs. Robert H. Perkins, 2nd Vice-President, were the pourers at the tea table.

Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet on Friday, December 17 at the home of Mrs. William L. Warner, 11 Pleasant street, West Newton. Dessert-coffee will be served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ralph E Courtnage and Mrs. Raymond Farnum. The program will be in the form of a Christmas Party with an exchange of Christmas gifts by the members and the singing of Christmas Carols.

Newton Sports

Newton High's hockey team still hasn't scored in a two-period scrimmage and its opening league game, but Coach Jack Hall should still be pretty proud of his skaters after the Orange and Black held potent Melrose to a scoreless tie at the Boston Arena Friday night . . . The most encouraging part of the deadlock was the sparkling performance of diminutive Brian Dooley in the Newton nets. Goalie was a big question mark at beginning of practice, with Brian battling Mike Rogan and Ray Acheson for the starting role. After his outstanding performance Friday, Brian solved that problem once and for all . . . Sharing starring honors was defenseman Paul Fitzgerald, who was all over the ice at crucial points to help salvage the tie. Paul also sparked the slight offensive the Orange and Black was able to muster . . . The teeth came out of Newton's attack before the game when center Billy Reilly, possessor of the hardest shot in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League, came up with a heavy cold. His absence forced the Tigers to play conservative hockey, and the offensive was further weakened when Kenny Keyes — Reilly's replacement on the first line — broke his wrist in a melee in front of the Melrose goal . . . Reilly's return to competition Saturday afternoon against Stoneham will give a better indication whether the Orange and Black can come close to its success of last year, when the Tigers battled Belmont down to the wire for the championship and lost the crown because of an early-season tie.

Melrose, pre-season pick as the outstanding GBI squad, dominated play completely. Five of their six starters were veterans of last year's play, and they looked like world-beaters as they swarmed again and again into Newton's zone.....But the Tigers, headed by Fitzgerald and Dooley, escaped damage with stellar play when the chips were down. Melrose also helped a little by losing control of the disc when closing in on Dooley more than once.

Enough praise cannot be given Dooley. Obviously nervous and shaky during pre-game practice, he settled down to business in a hurry. He blocked, smothered, and kicked away 17 shots, including a pair of last-second drives that seemed ticketed for scoring territory . . . His best save came an instant before the final bell when he left his feet to block a sure score fired from only a dozen feet away. At the end of the game, Dooley's teammates mobbed the little goaltender and the slim crowd gave him a rousing ovation . . . Despite Newton's trouble getting into Melrose territory, the Orange and Black still had several good chances to put one into the nets. Twice Tiger skaters wriggled clear in front of the enemy cage with perfect passes coming their way. The first chance went up in smoke when the puck was hurriedly driven wide of the mark. The second came a cropper when the Newton forward, overanxious, missed the disc completely . . . Saturday's opponent, Stoneham, was swamped by Belmont 5-2 in its debut. It's hard to tell how much of a fight Stoneham will put up, since the Blue and White skaters never got started against Belmont. Belmont's first three shots slipped past the Stoneham goalie who couldn't seem to find the puck . . . After goaltenders were switched, Stoneham managed to hold Belmont to a pair of goals, but the game was played in the loser's zone. Judging by their showing, Belmont must be rated a good repeat choice because of its balance and scoring strength. Newton meets Belmont the night of January 1 in the first half of the schedule.

A precedent was set Saturday night at Newton High's Athletic Night Award Banquet when end Ed Yobaccio of Auburndale, became the first Technical-Vocational High School student to captain an NHS football team.....The only starter returning from this year's team, Yobaccio was a rugged, two-way player who saw almost 40 minutes of action in every game. He is also a member of the Technical-Vocational basketball team.

No Back Seats in Classroom Addition to Franklin School

The city's revolutionary pentagonal-shaped, parasitic, demountable classroom addition to the Franklin School in West Newton received nationwide attention in this month's issue of The Nation's Schools, a magazine serving school administrators.

Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores, author of an article describing Newton's "experiment" with the four-classroom, low-cost addition, said the project proved a flexible, modern answer to the school expansion problem. The success of the Franklin School addition has also moved the School Committee to base its projected replacement of the Mason School with a permanent "cluster" of pentagonal rooms.

As proof of how the classrooms have worked out in actual use, Supt. Gores quoted Franklin School Principal Joseph H. Randall:

"The proof of this pudding is in the teaching. So far the proof has been overwhelmingly favorable. The size and shape of the classrooms make it possible to conduct a variety of group activities simultaneously without confusion and congestion.

"We like the acoustical treatment. Pupils and teachers do not compete with one another and with resounding walls for the privilege of being heard. Teachers and pupils speak softly, yet the spoken word is not dead.

"The luminous ceiling is superb," said Principal Randall. "It is a glowing radiance, seemingly fror all directions, with no shadows and no glare. The children work in light rather than under it. Indeed, the whole environment of this school addition pays off educationally."

A group of teachers who assisted in planning the radical project decided, according to Supt. Gores, "The classroom shape creates an illusion of circularity, of cohesion, of unity. As one teacher saw it: 'In this room there are no back seats'.

"The classroom's five corners offer the opportunity to create five interest centers and, thus, an additional source of motivation for learning.

"The classroom gives an illusion of greater space than its actual 920 square feet, an illusion enhanced by the openness of the two window walls and its 108, rather than 90 degree corners.

"The classrooms clustering around the central space create a sense of community.

"From part of each room the child can see parts of adjoining rooms, right and left, where other children in other tasks are engaged in similar tasks; this may contribute to a sense of belonging to a larger group striving toward a common end."

FIFTH ROOM

The "aula" — central space into which all the classrooms empty and which faces the Franklin School—is more than a corridor. Its function is as a "multipurpose room, providing overflow teaching space, special teaching space for small groups, and audio-visual facilities. Should enrollment again overflow, a fifth teacher may be located in the aula to work tutorially with small groups drawn from the four rooms," Supt. Gores noted.

The aula side of the addition is separated from the older building by a courtyard, leaving the windows of the original school unblocked. The courtyard is an "outdoor science classroom," with a miniature pool for goldfish and turtles, and a variety of interesting plants set in flagstone borders around the central sandy area.

"In any case," the superintendent wrote, "the courtyard is not meant to be decoration; it will be used as an outdoor working laboratory for living things."

Another innovation is the "luminous ceiling," with lights suspended above the ceiling and shining through it rather than hung underneath. "Newton installed a luminous ceiling in an experimental classroom five years ago," Dr. Gores reported. "The experiment has been highly satisfactory."

Windows stretch from close to the floor to within three inches of the ceiling. The lowest row of glass is glazed with wire plate glass to prevent shattering.

The "tent-shaped" roof, the superintendent continued, permitted economical construction, but it was sturdy to withstand the battering of hurricanes Carol and Edna while only half-built.

DEMOUNTABLE ELEMENTS

He listed the demountable elements of the building (able to be moved completely to a new location) as follows: "The wood frame, in unit panels, with bolt or screw fastenings, with sheathing and insulation attached; the steel windows, the doors and frames, the cabinet work, such as cupboards, window seats, chalkboards, tackboards and pegboards, which are self-contained units, adjustable for height, and which cover three sides of each classroom."

"Salvageable" equipment," which would be dismantled and then reassembled at the new site, includes "All heating, plumbing, ventilating and electric appliances above the concrete floor slab, together with piping, ductwork and wiring . . . acoustic tile siding, slate window sills, interior trim, gutters, conductors and exterior trim."

Items listed as "expendable," and not able to be moved, are "the concrete floor slab and all piping underground; the star-shaped slab, stripped of its finish floorings, will become part of the playground on which the addition now stands. Brick veneer exterior (which was put on solely to acknowledge the architecture of the main building), asphalt tile floorings, rubber tile bases, vinyl plastic dadoes, wallpaper, roofing and flashings."

Summing up the advantages of the "experiment," Dr. Gores stated, "The addition makes no compromise with educational standards. It provides greater classroom space than the standard 24 by 36 foot classroom; it has all the equipment standard in our best schools, the same heating and ventilating equipment, the same finishes or better, and certainly better light for both daylight and artificial illumination than any of our existing classrooms, or, as far as we know, any classroom in the state."

It appears that Newton, one of the most farsighted cities in the state as far as school building needs are concerned, has come up with a possible solution to the expensive problem of providing economical yet efficient classroom space.

THAT'S THE SPIRIT, DEWEY! — Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., is shown congratulating Dewey Morrell, 12, for his outstanding community spirit in helping with the reconstruction of the Newton Boys' Club. Onlookers at the Open House held Sunday are Gus Mascaro, executive director; the Mayor; Dewey; Mrs. Bella Vachon, president of the newly-organized Mothers Club; Richard White, president of the Newton Rotary Club which played a major role in the rebuilding, and Dr. Philip Enholm, past president of the Newton Rotary and chairman of the Open House. Newton Boys' Club Inspected By 500 Sunday at Open House

"Open House" was observed at the Newton Boys' Club Sunday afternoon with some 500 boys, parents and friends of the club attending. Many members of civic, service, patriotic and public organizations signed their names in the guest book.

The spirit exemplified by all through the reconstruction of the club is best demonstrated by a boy named Dewey Morrell, 12, who offered to help paint but, due to a shortage of brushes, had to wait his turn. He went home, took a dollar out of his Christmas savings and purchased his own brush and started painting. "This is real community spirit," observed Boys' Club executive director, Gus Mascaro.

All of the efforts of the boys, parents and friends were acknowledged by the visitors. Every part of the building, including the front steps, was done over, making a very wholesome appearing club house. Dr. Philip Enholm and Dwight Colburn headed the Rotary Club Sponsoring Committee.

Kiwanis To Help

The Kiwanis Club has consented to equip the junior games room with necessary equipment, "This gift from Kiwanis will add greatly to the needs of the club. This interest plus others, is a constructive public interest in the youth of the City. More of this positive thinking on the part of all citizens will do much in the development of good citizenship," Mascaro noted.

A buffet plate was served by the catering firm of Mazzola Brothers. A beautiful display of food and flowers adorned the serving table. Mr. Mazzola, a member of Kiwanis, supervised the service personally.

Serving the food were members of the newly-organized Mothers Club of the Newton Boys' Club headed by Mrs. Bella Vachon, president. Through the generosity of Ray DeLuca, all of the pastry was made possible. Milk for the youngsters was given by Hood Dairy, whose representative is a member of Kiwanis.

Members of the Board of Directors wish to thank the members of Rotary, Kiwanis, Zonta and all who assisted in making this event possible. A full program of activities will begin Monday at the Boys' Club for more than 200 members.

W. N. Unitarian Services Dec. 9 For Mrs. Hosmer

Funeral services were held last Thursday in the Alliance Memorial Room of the West Newton Unitarian Church for Mrs. Arthur J. Hosmer, 87, a resident of Newton since she was eight years old, when she moved to a house built by her parents on Mount Vernon street.

Mrs. Hosmer, the former Mabel S. Stewart, took an intense interest in the village of West Newton and took an active part in its growth. She was a lifetime member of the Unitarian Church of West Newton, and was instrumental in the group which worked for the building of the West Newton Library.

During World War I, she was chairman of a West Newton group of women who made surgical dressings for the Red Cross. Mrs. Hosmer was the first president of the West Newton Community Service Club, which grew out of the community work done by women during the war.

Mrs. Hosmer was a charter member of the Lucy Jackson Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution in Newton. Years ago she and her husband were active in the amateur productions of The Players.

On December 7, 1892, she was married to Arthur G. Hosmer of Natick. He passed away a short time before their 50th wedding anniversary.

At formal ceremonies held at Boston, Gordon K. Morse of 9B Arundel terrace, Newton, was initiated into the Tau Beta Pi Association. Mr. Morse, a student of mechanical engineering at Northeastern University, has distinguished himself by being in the upper fifth of his class scholastically and by a breadth of interest in other school activities.

Temple Mishkan Tefila Chanukah Program in N.C.

In order to accommodate its many members now residing in the suburban area, Temple Mishkan Tefila has planned a special program for Chanukah (The Feast of Lights) in Newton. The festival is celebrated from December 20th through the 27th.

The meeting will be held at the Newton Centre Women's Club, Beacon and Centre streets Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. An attractive program has been prepared. Dr. Israel J. Kazis, spiritual leader of Temple Mishkan Tefila, will speak on "The Lasting Significance of Chanukah." A musical program will be presented by Cantor Gregor Shelkan and Solomon G. Braslavsky. Mr. Yamins, president of the Congregation, will preside. A social hour will follow the program.

Acting as a hospitality committee are Mr. and Mrs. Alan Axelrod, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Beckwith, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Feinberg, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Feinberg, Mr. and Mrs. William Ginsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Goldstein, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Gondelman, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Hyman, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lider, Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Michaelson, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Paley, Mr. and Mrs. Norris Rothstein, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Selib, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Stayman.

Howard C. Davis

Howard Clark Davis, 71, of 1408 Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, one of the founders of the Wonderland dog racing track in Revere, died December 8, after a long illness. A graduate of Dartmouth in 1906, he donated a field house named after him to the college. A lifelong devotee of dog breeding and racing, he had retired from business 12 years ago. He was active in many fields, including New England real estate and Canadian mining. He leaves his wife, the former Florence Pulford, a son, Donald P. of Monmouth Hills, N. J., and four grandchildren. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Newton Cemetery Chapel, and burial was in Westerly.

Farewell Reception Tomorrow For Immanuel Baptist Pastor

The Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton will tender a farewell reception to Pastor Douglas B. MacCorkle and family tomorrow (Friday) night at 8:00 o'clock. Mr. MacCorkle has served as pastor for the last seven years, coming from a pastorate in Paris, Texas, in November of 1947. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John MacCorkle, 57 Hawthorne avenue, Needham.

Mr. MacCorkle has been called to be the pastor of Reinhardt Bible Church in Dallas, Texas. He will commence his ministry in Dallas on Sunday, January 2nd, 1955.

A graduate of Dorchester High School in 1933, the Rev. MacCorkle was employed as a commercial artist for a chain of health food stores in New England and studied at the New England School of Art and at the Boston Museum School of Art prior to entering his studies for the Gospel ministry. He entered Gordon College of Theology and Missions from which he was graduated with the degree of A.B. in 1944.

While studying at Gordon College, he pastored the First Baptist Church in Goffstown, N. H., and served as chaplain of the Hillsboro County Farm and Hospital, ministering to 450 patients. In June, 1944, after his graduation from Gordon College, he resigned this pastorate in New Hampshire to enter Dallas Theological Seminary, Dallas, Texas, graduating from there in May 1947 with honors and the Master of Theology degree. While studying at Dallas Theological Seminary, he held the pastorate of the Congregational Bible Church of Paris, Texas, resigning to accept the call to the Immanuel Baptist Church.

Preceding his graduation from Dallas Seminary, Rev. MacCorkle was elected vice-president of the Alumni Association. He was ordained to the Gospel ministry at the Second Baptist Church, Auburn, New York.

On November 28, 1939, in Boston, he married Miss Jeanette Astle. They have two children, a son David, thirteen, and a daughter Judy, eight. Mrs. MacCorkle is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and attended Gordon College. While in Boston she was organist at Blaney Memorial Baptist Church and has served as organist and choir director of the Paris, Texas church.

The pastorate in Newton has been one of steady progress on every level. Six World-Vision Missionary Conferences and Two New Englandwide Prophetic Conferences have been held with satisfying success. Many have been added to the church family during the seven year ministry, and two Sunday radio broadcasts have been effective as a ministry of outreach.

A recognition service with guest speakers will be held at the Church, 187 Centre street, Newton. These speakers will include Dr. T. Leonard Lewis, president of Gordon College; Rev. George S. McNaill, executive secretary of the N. E. Fellowship of Evangelicals; Mrs. Norman Lavers, vice-president of New England Evangelical Women's Association; Rev. Francis Crisci; Rev. Kenneth Olsen; Dr. George Murray, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church of Newton; Dr. Hudson T. Armerding, dean of Gordon College; Rev. Proctor L. Davis; Mr. Myron Ferrin, Deacon; Rev. Talbert McNutt, director of Christian Youth, Inc., and Rev. Elliott Russell Cole, assistant pastor who will be the master of ceremonies.

WATCH THE BIRDIE, PLEASE

says the photographer, but Mrs. Piffin is much too shy. Although not an expert skier, Mrs. Piffin thinks that the new Country Store Bermuda-length skirt makes an ideal skiing skirt for those who like something really original. They are perfect for skating too and come in a choice of colors. And we can show you a variety of blouses to go with them. We'll be open until 9 o'clock on Friday evening.

Hospital Gets $20,000 From Haskell Estate

The Town of Needham has received $20,000 from the estate of the late Charles L. Haskell. This generous bequest was specifically made to the Glover Memorial Hospital to be used for its "support and maintenance."

The money will become a part of the Glover Memorial Hospital Permanent Donation Fund established by vote of the special town meeting held June 15, 1953.

Donations and bequests such as this of the late Mr. Haskell are especially welcomed by the trustees.

Other generous gifts and donations have been made to the hospital through other channels, making it possible for the trustees to take care of situations which cannot be anticipated in their financial plans.

It is the hope of the trustees that Mr. Haskell's generosity will influence many others to make donations now or provision in their estate plans for the benefit of the town through the Glover Memorial Hospital Permanent Donation Fund. bcF9(iuA

By LEE LOUMOS

You're familiar with ads that tell you about "like new" performance . . . "good as new", or "near new". They're popular in used car advertising, for instance, or in television service ads. In the case of television, there is one sure way to get "like new" performance . . . and that's with a new picture tube.

Many set owners fear the day when the old picture tube finally breaks down (they'll often last for years before this happens). There's a good reason: the picture tube is the most expensive part in the set. It's a big replacement.

There's another side to this "TV picture" though. For one thng, today's tubes are bigger and better than ever. There have been many improvements in the structure of the picture tube . . . aluminizing, for instance, a metallic coating that means brighter, sharper pictures with less glare and better contrast. Having a new picture tube installed costs quite a bit more than replacing one of the small tubes . . . but quite a bit less than a new TV set. And that new picture tube will do more than anything else to give your older set performance "like new." Once it's installed, you'll wonder how you got along with that dimmer, hazier picture for so long.

We can supply you with a new picture tube to fit your set . . . and to give you startlingly better performance. So don't groan when that picture tube finally gives up the ghost . . . just call on us and you'll be rejoicing in better televiewing.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia. For a better choice in the finest in TV, visit our showroom.

Public Posting Christmas Mail Early This Year

What may well be another record load of Christmas mail has began to pour into postoffices throughout the Boston District. Postal officials are pleased to report that the public are getting away from the week before Christmas mailing and depositing their cards and packages earlier than ever before.

Postmaster Joseph P. W. Finn has asked the press to publish some of the answers to the most common questions asked at the postoffice during the Christmas Season.

Q. How should a parcel be mailed now to reach the Middle and Far West for Christmas?

A. Special delivery or air parcel post. An ordinary Christmas gift has little chance of Christmas delivery if mailed now for distant points.

Q. How should I send a valuable gift through the mails for Christmas?

A. Register it. If it is going a long distance, air mail or special delivery should also be affixed in addition to registry.

Q. Can I still send a gift or card overseas for Christmas delivery?

A. Yes, there is a fair chance of Christmas delivery if the article and the card are sent by air mail.

—o—

Q. When should cards for local delivery be mailed?

A. Now. The last few days before Christmas the postoffice will be concerned with the vast quantities of incoming mail from around the world. It is better to have your cards delivered a few days early than a day late.

—o—

FIRST CLASS CARDS

Q. Can't I send a Christmas card unsealed for t wo-cents? Why does the postoffice urge the use of 3-cent stamps (first class).

A. There are many reasons. First, thousands of people never correspond except during the Christmas Season. In the interim their correspondents have moved. Unsealed cards mailed at the circular or third-class rate of postage are not forwarded, even though the postoffice has the new address. The cost of the card and the two-cent postage has been wasted for it goes for Waste Paper. If first-class postage had been affixed (only another penny) the card would have reached its destination or returned if the new address was not known. This would save sending a card to the old address the following year. A great many thousands of unsealed cards find their way to the waste basket each year for this reason. Further, you can affix a personal message to the first-class card, which you cannot do with the unsealed variety.

Q. The mailman suggested separating our cards before mailing into Local and Non-Local. How should I mark these packages of cards?

A. Your local postoffice has special labels which you can place on the top of these packages of cards. Face all cards one way and tie into packages. Local means the Boston Postal District.

—o—

Q. Is a zone number helpful at Christmas?

A. The use of a delivery office zone number in the address is very helpful at all times. Be sure your zone number is in your return address.

AIR MAIL RATE

Q. What is the air mail rate for a Christmas Card in the U. S.?

A. Six cents (if less or not in excess of one ounce).

—o—

Q. Can I deposit my cards (have several hundred) in a street letter box?

A. Yes. We shall provide collections as often as the needs warrant.

—o—

Q. Will there be a mail delivery on Christmas Day?

A. Only special delivery articles will be taken out on Christmas Day.

—o—

Q. I have a fragile package. Should I send it by Special Handling to protect the contents?

—o—

A. Special Handling does not assure that your package will not be broken if it has not been specially packade to withstand breakage. Special Handling actually provides expeditious service while the parcel is in transit from point of mailing to office of delivery. When it arrives at that point it is delivered as ordinary parcel post. The gifts are not protected against damage, as the name would indicate.

—o—

Q. Can a postoffice clerk refuse to accept a parcel presented for mailing?

A. Yes, if in his opinion it is not adequately packed to withstand the necessary handlings in the mail. A great many packages are so presented and the patron urged to utilize additional corrugated board, cushioning material, stronger wrappings and stouter cord.

Q. How many deliveries will be made to homes during Christmas?

A. In the days prior to Christmas there will be multiple deliveries to homes. It is suggested that mail be removed from home receptacles immediately to permit additional mail to be inserted. Be sure that the name is on the mail box and the number on the house. Remove all dangerous articles from stairs or halls where the box is located so that carrier may not have an accident.

The opening of the week-long Hanukah Holiday will be celebrated at Temple Shalom of Newton with a Congregational dance and party.

The "Festival of Lights" is one of the most joyous holidays on the Jewish religious calendar commemorating as it does the victory of the Maccabees over powers attempting to suppress freedom of worship over 2000 years ago.

The Hanukah Hop is being held at the Temple on Saturday evening, December 18 at 8:30 p.m. Music will be provided by a three piece orchestra and refreshments will be served by the popular Chestnut Hill Caterers.

Chairman of the Sisterhood's "Jewish Arts and Ceremonials" committee, Mrs. Donald L. Daniels of Waban, is in charge of this gala affair.

Serving on the committee are Mesdames Irving Rabinowitz, Leonard Luchner, Harry Wensky, Jonathan Morrison, Manuel Taylor, Max Bott, Melvin Robbins, Eli Dannenberg, and Frank Flaschner.

New members recently inducted into The Newton-Waltham Toastmistress Club are Mrs. Francis B. Clark, 116 Massasoit street, Waltham and Mrs. George Nothelfer, 11 Carter street, Newtonville. The new Membership Chairman, Barbara J. Casey of West Newton acted as the Induction officer.

The Thanksgiving meeting of the Club was held Nov. 23 at the home of Mrs. John Wilson, Jr., 16 Halsey Way, Natick. After the regular business meeting, there was a social hour, with decorations and refreshments for a surprise Baby Shower for two of the members, Mrs. Celia Patz of Newton and Mrs. Barbara J. Casey.

The regular Toastmistress Club meetings will continue to be held the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of each month at 8 p.m. at the Newton Y.M.C.A., open to all women of the Newtons and Waltham.

In an attempt to learn more about the aurora borealis—the "northern lights" which are expected to put on a peak performance in 1957-58—fantastic plans are now being made. Rockets capable of carrying instruments directly into an aurora—60 to 600 miles above the earth — will be launched from Churchill, Canada, and from Alamorgordo, N. M., says Ruth and Edward Brecher in the current Reader's Digest. "Rockoons" — balloons which rise into the stratosphere and then release rockets capable of carrying instruments to great heights, will be sent up from observation stations in Canada, Alaska and Greenland.

When it came to dressing dolls, it was a little out of their line, so friend wife came to the rescue.

'Confessions,' Pocket Books Distort Life

(This is the second in a series of three articles dealing with objectionable literature on Newton newsstands. The concluding article will appear in next Thursday's Newton Graphic.)

Recent years have brought a rapid increase in two types of publications whose moral tone is — at least — questionable. These are "confession" magazines, aimed primarily at teen-age girls, and "pocket" books.

No sweeping indictment of all publications within the two groups is possible. Ones side by side in the newsstand are as different as night and day. Some are clean and decent. Other — especially in the pocket book class — are contemptible.

The "confession" magazines offer the growing girl a steady, undiluted diet of passion. Unfaithful wives and husbands, "gold diggers," illegitimate children, sensual teen-agers and depraved attackers are the common ingredients of these stories.

Each story ends on a supposedly lofty plain, pointing out the dangers of mis-steps from the "straight and narrow." But the vague little morals at the end — apparently included to soothe the conscience — fail to mask the true nature of these magazines: to provide romantic "thrills."

When a kiss is shared for the first time, the reaction is always the same in the "confessions." It resembles a concentrated thunderstorm, with electric shocks and trembling sensations. No matter who the author, this cliche always pops up in the first few pages of each story.

And, more often than should be, the kiss leads to petting,

Ward Lines Revision Approved; Takes Effect In 1957 Elections

Eleven Inducted On Friday; Nine More to Follow

A second sendoff is scheduled on December 31 for nine more men who selected the later date for induction. A special Selective Service ruling gave the potential servicemen their choice of induction dates because of the Christmas holidays.

BOARD 116

13 to 8 Split Over Ward 3 'Compromise'

Newton's giant ward lines revision—carving an eighth ward out of the southern side of the city and readjusting the other ward boundaries to equalize voting strengths—was voted 13-8 by the aldermen Monday night after an unexpected dispute over the line between West Newton and Auburndale.

The new lines represent the end of two years of work by Hirsh Sharf, who chairmanned the aldermen's ward lines committee during its study of the voting situation. Despite the last-minute disagreement over the West Newton-Auburndale boundary, his committee's recommendations were accepted intact.

The dispute arose over the placement of Precinct 4 of Ward 3. Alderman Sharf's committee originally proposed switching it as a whole to Ward 4, but revised its plans after Precinct 4 residents objected.

Instead of moving the whole precinct over, the aldermen accepted a compromise plan of shifting the section bounded by River street, Sherman street, Parmenter road and the Waltham line. The original proposal would have included streets down to Cherry street.

The battle over the line "completely flabbergasted" Chairman Sharf. Since the ward boundaries had been discussed in detail at an executive session of the board two weeks before, he stated, he thought everything was settled with the compromise proposal.

Alderman John P. Nixon also questioned whether a decision in executive session isn't a "gentlemen's agreement" or could be changed. Arguing that Sharf had the right to expect the board to follow their executive session agreement, he said, "That isn't the way to do business."

"They (the objectors) are saying, 'There's something holy in Ward 3. You can carve up Ward 5, you can carve up Ward 6, but you can't touch Ward 3,'" Sharf protested. The new boundaries must last "for many, many years," he said, and every section must make some sacrifices for the good of the city.

Bowen School to Offer French Lessons and Saturday Movies

The Bowen School P.T.A. is initiating an innovation by sponsoring "noon-hour" classes in conversational French for the children in Grades I through VI. Over 120 pupils have applied for this course which will be given at a cost of 50c per lesson.

The P.T.A. has secured the services of two very able teachers to give this course. Mrs. D. W. Slingerland, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Wellesley College, who has taught French at the Winsor School and Ten Acre School, will conduct classes for the older children. Mrs. William N. Locke, who has resided in France for many years, and has taught at the Phonetic Center of the Middlebury French Language School for three years, will conduct classes for the younger children. Mrs. Locke is the wife of Professor Locke, Head of the Modern Languages Department at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The P.T.A. is also sponsoring Saturday Afternoon movies at the school auditorium. The movies will be specially selected for the children by the P.T.A. For a trial period, only children of the Bowen School may attend these movies until it is determined whether or not a larger group can be accommodated. The cost per child will be 15c payable at the door.

Special Family Chanukah Service To Be Held At Temple Shalom

The Temple Shalom Choir will present a beautiful Hanukah poem by Hugo Adler, called "The Joy of Dedication." This musical composition is based on a liturgical poem composed by Ibn Gabirol, one of Jewry's great poets of all time.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman will conduct the service and introduce the special music The following children will light the Hanukah lights: Jane Berezin, Carl Berkowitz, Alan Adelson, Joan Cottler, Beverly Alpert, Marjorie Freedman, Jeffrey Freedman, David Devore and Billy Skornick.

Cohen, Mrs. Eli Dennenberg, Mrs. Robert S. Lesberg, Mrs. Sanford Sachs, Mr. Larry Feldman, Mr. Bernard Frank. The director is Mr. Bernard J. Siff; soloist, Ramon Gilbert, and organist, Mr. Richard Reynolds.

The Relgious School of Temple Shalom has been very busy with parties for all the children.

The members of the Cradle Roll were guests of the Kindergarten at the pre-Hanukah party. Sixty-two young people, aged two to five, ushered in the festivities. Refreshments were served and grab bag gifts went home with each child. Mrs. William, Glovsky, chairman of

House Full of Guests Calls For Extra Fire Precautions

The "gathering of the clan," traditional at Christmas, is a pleasant custom but calls for special fire safety precautions, warns the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

For several days each year, this custom fills many homes with more people than normally live there. Some of them may have indifferent fire safety habits. All are in a holiday mood, which may make them less careful than usual. Add to that the fact that the usual winter fire hazards are present —greater than at any other season.

If you are playing host this year the National Board suggests you take a few basic precautions before the first guest arrives:

Make sure there are plenty of ashtrays strategically located in every room in the house.

See that the stove is clean and ready for the big cooking job ahead.

If some of your guests will be children, put all matches, cigarette lighters and other dangerous objects safely out of their reach.

As long as your company stays, keep these safety tips in mind:

If you're heating more rooms than usual, don't try to "force" your furnace if it won't take the added load. Call an experienced repairman instead.

Keep portable heaters away from combustibles, and also out of people's way.

Keep order in the kitchen. Several extra people all offering to help can cause a "traffic jam" in which someone may lean too far over a lighted burner, or tip over a pot of scalding liquid.

If more electrical appliances than usual are being used— don't overload circuits. Fifteen ampere fuses are the safe size for most household circuits, and if a fuse blows some appliances should be switched to another outlet.

Guests have responsibilities, too. If you are going to be a guest instead of a host, see that you and your entire family are on your best fire-safety behavior. It is also wise to be prepared for an emergency. Just as you always note the location of the nearest fire escape in a hotel, when you are an overnight guest in someone's home figure out two ways of reaching the ground from the room in which you sleep.

Judge Upholds Reinstatement Of Patrolman

Patrolman Ernest W. Prescott, under suspension for a year, last Friday won another round in his battle for reinstatement when the Civil Service Commission's order to give him his job back, was upheld by Judge incent A. Brogna in Suffolk Superior Court.

Mayor Howard Whitmare Jr., said the case of Prescott, discharged in November, 1953, after twice having been found guilty of drunkenness, would be taken to the Supreme Judicial Court.

Prescott, father of six, was suspended for six months, after the first offense in July, 1953, and fired four months later after the second. The Civil Service Commission voted 3 to 1 for reinstatement last December and later refused to review the case.

If reinstated, the patrolman would receive his pay retroactive to January 1, 1954, less the amount he has earned since. He has been working as a painter.

Newton DAV Gains National Recognition

Newton Chapter No. 23 of the Disabled American Veterans gained national recognition within th ranks of disabled veterans his month by surpassing its membership enrollment of last year with a total of 103 members as of December 1.

This achievement brought a special message to local Chapter officials today from Judge Alfred L. English, National Commander of the DAV. The DAV nationally seeks to reach a goal of 210,000 members by next July and has reached a new national record for the 14th consecutive year.

"Your Chapter is to be commended for this fine achievement," Judge English said. "Only through a strong membership can we achieve the goals we have found necessary for the successful rehabilitation of our war handicapped.

"I would like to take this opportunity to invite every veteran who was wounded or injured during war time service or who is currently drawing disability compensation to join the DAV now — in order that the DAV might accomplish the single purpose for which it exists — Service — of, by, and for disabled veterans."

Generally speaking, American veterans who have ben wounded, gassed, injured or disabled while

Newton Residents Assist Retarded Children's Party

Two hundred and fifty retarded youngsters from 37 towns in the Greater Boston area were entertained at the Third Annual Christmas Party of the Boston Association for Retarded Children, Inc., held Saturday at Boston English High School.

Michael Lourie of West Newton and Thomas Flannery of Lexington were chairmen for this event. Highlights of the day were the Marmilene Marionette Show produced by Mrs. John Cinkosky of Auburndale, followed by a magician act by Roger Majeco of West Newton.

Little Guests Attend Christmas Party Held by Jaycettes

Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m., the Newton Jaycettes held a Christmas Party at the Workshop, Newton Highlands, for children from the Rebecca Pomroy House, Newton.

A visit from Santa Claus, (Prescott Brown) was the highlight of the party. Gifts, carol singing, games and refreshments completed a happy afternoon.

The list of little guests included:

Donna Forte, Connie Roche, Mary Ann Sabetti, Deborah Allen, Patricia Farina, Cheryl Gentile, Linda Oszy, Patricia Terrio, Cheryl Tocci, Kathy McLaughlin, Donna Baccari, Eileen Farrell, Alice Borek, Nancy Osterberg, Gretchen Tocci, Carmena Pasquarosa, Deborah Lynch, Carol Tempesta, Shristine Rufo, Frances Cupoli, Patricia Doucette, Ann Dorsey, Barbara Eliott and Nancy DeLorenzo.

Mrs. Richard Egan was in charge of the party and her committee included:

Mrs. James K. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Peter MacLellan, Mrs. Edward V. Gartland, Jr., Mrs. Albert C. Horton, Mrs. Harry R. Hofford, Jr., Mrs. Carlton P. Merrill, Mrs. Arthur Pancheri, Mrs. Prescott Brown, Mrs. Eric Wahlman, Mrs. Robert M. Vaughan and Mrs. Stuart M. Spaulding.

Jackson Homestead to Repeat History Series for Children

The Jackson Homestead, a city-owned museum which traces its ancestry to the fourth Newton citizen has decided in response to a great demand to repeat the series of eight children's classes on "Newton as seen via the Jackson Homestead" which were held in October and November.

These classes are free of charge and are open to all interested boys and girls from the ages of 8 to 12. The series will be held at the Homestead each Tuesday afternoon from 2 to 3 p.m., and from 3 to 4 p.m. to February 22, for two separate groups of youngsters.

The children of Newton are historically conscious. They thrill to the story of the Revolutionary War, as told in his memoirs by Major Timothy Jackson, an English captive. They are amazed to see the well where runaway slaves were hidden by William Jackson before the Civil War.

These and many more exciting and informative items are seen and explained each Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Sherwood Carver, who is the branch librarian at the Newton Highlands Boys' and Girls' Library, when she and the children delve into Newton's interesting past.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

The Ageless Story of Christmas with its Simple Truths And Enduring Beauty Will Be Retold Again This Week

An ageless story that never grows old will be told and retold this week of the Babe Who was born in Bethlehem and of conquerors and rulers who tried to silence His simple truths.

It is a story that has a rightful place in a political column in Christmas week, for in a cold and drafty stable in a little town among the hills was born One Who came to speak to the multitudes about justice and freedom and fundamental rights.

The kings and captains marched up and down the land in full panapoly, and the heavens opened up with song that was for Him not for them.

His words came down through the centuries, revered and honored; theirs are forgotten.

Not the least of the wonders we commemorate this week with prayers and hymns, with twinkling lights and gladness in our hearts, is the simplicity that surrounded the coming of the Saviour.

A carpenter named Joseph went with his young wife, Mary, up from Nazareth to Bethlehem, the town of his fathers, to enroll for taxation, as the Roman rulers had decreed should be done.

and petting to more serious affairs. Only the final acts of passion are left to the reader's imagination, but the magazines leave the reader trembling on the brink of sensuality.

The influence of such stories on a young girl, uncertain of the psychological changes in her attitude toward boys from that of a "big sister" to a romantic outlook, can be strong. The reader could easily get the impression that the whole world is engaging in illicit behavior, and that anyone who stays within the bounds of conventional morality is "queer." ....

Between scenes of passionate kisses and throbbing hearts, "change of pace" articles on baby care, personality and such "homey" things as dressmaking provide respectable interludes. But these occupy little space compared to that obviously and blatantly devoted to "thrills."

The advertising in some of the "confessions" is almost more objectionable than the tone of the stories. One listed five books — available through the mails in "plain wrapper" — on "sex technique" with "sex technique" with "life-like color pictures." The ads list in salacious detail every aspect of male-female relationships, and are priced to attract a teen-age audience.

Naturally, the coupons for this type of book specify that no one under 21 years of age can purchase them. In the minds of the advertisers, the age limitation makes everything all right, even though the "under 21" means nothing for all practical purposes.

Other ads promise popularity through "A's" skin cream, "B's" hormone lotion, "C's" pound additive or with the help of a handy booklet on "How to Kiss." Advertisements and stories alike combine to create an artificial distorted picture of life.

Raising a teen-age girl along wholesome, healthy, moral lines is a difficult enough task under ordinary conditions, even without the disturbing influence of these calculated distortions available at any newsstand.

Pocket Books

"Pocket books" — and by this we mean a class of books "as a whole and no specific brand — present a wide variety of literature. Some of the best books written have appeared in this form, and these inexpensive volumes have provided a means of bringing literature into the reach of everyone.

But post-war years have also seen a rash of books devoted to vulgarity. Printed under the disguise of true "literature," they achieve popularity only through the ample use of sex in its plainest and most obvious forms.

Their covers give adequate testimony to the moral tone of the contents. Lurid scenes are spotted throughout the stories without sense of reason. This is their main attraction, and this is the reason all pocket editions have been tagged with a bad name regardless of their publishers' intentions. In the battle for the public's quarters, it would not be surprising to find the dictionary with a "spicy" cover illustration.

Although what constitutes obscene literature is debatable, the moral definition of "objectionable" includes far more than the legal one.

When one police officer read a passage to a store owner ,the proprietor was sincerely offended to discover what he had been selling. "What can I do?" he protested. "I can't read every book that's given to me."

His plea was well taken, and represents the predicament facing most newsstand operators. True, many could do a much better policing job of their own by examining the covers of their magazines and books. Newsstand proprietors, though, do not have the time or personnel to do a thorough job.

What can be done?

parents care what is being offered their sons and daughters, then something constructive can be done. Church groups, parent-eacher associations, improvement organizations, any civic group within Newton can — by militant protests — force distributors and retailers to clear the newsstands of objectionable, moralless and degrading magazines.

During the week all departments celebrated Hanukah with class parties and candle lighting ceremonies.

On Monday evening, following the regular school session, the Junior High School Department celebrated Hanukah with a supper served by members of the Parent Teachers Organization headed by Mrs. Harold Williams.

Grade 7C led with the sandle-lighting ceremony; Rabbi Rothman addressed the assembly. His subject was "The Significance of Hanukah in Our Time"

Others addressing the group included Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, rector of St. John's Church, Newtonville; William E. Halliday, representing the Newton Red Cross Chapter; and Edward A. Cunningham, commander of the Newton American Legion Post and state supervisor of veterans services.

Each inductee was presented a pen and pencil set as a parting gift from the city by Edmund T. Dungan, agent of the Newton Veterans Services Department. A special gift on behalf of the Nonantum Auxiliary was given by Mrs. Mary Ciampa, president of the unit who also acted as master of ceremonies.

Understandably, the response to the first set of classes was overwhelming. Many children had to be turned away because the classes were limited.

Therefore those interestetd are asked to enroll children for the second series as soon as possible, and in no case later than December 30. Register either by calling at the Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington street, or by telephoning Mrs. W. R. Sears, the director, at DEcatur 2-3920.

"Operation Lollipop" Flys To Korea From Shoppers World

Shoppers World and the warm-hearted youngsters of Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Hampshire joined up with Santa Claus this year to bring a real American Christmas to all the little Korean boys and girls at Yanabru Orphanage on Okinawa. "Operation Lollipop" is on its way.

Thousands of toys, clothing and lollipops were left at Shoppers World by New England youngsters during the past few weeks. These were all beautifully gift-wrapped and boxed by Shoppers World, which also added its own contributions. Then the U. S. Army and Air Force took over to guarantee that delivery will be made on Okinawa on Christmas Day.

Special planes will fly the big shipment to Japan, Korea and kinawa to bring some joy and happiness into the lives of the unfortunate little victims of the recent war.

Little Jimmie Smith, two-year-old Okinawan, who was adopted by M. Sgt. Vincent Smith, of the U. S. Army, accepted the gifts officially for all his less fortunate overseas friends. Special exercises attended by Shoppers World executives and military personnel were present when little Jimmy formally gave his yoyful "bon voyage" to the heaps of gifts before they were airborne on their joyous way overseas.

Junior Chamber In 'Santa' Role

For the second year the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce distributed candy and favors to 350 children at the Fernald State School in Waltham.

Under the chairmanship of Richard Thompson and with the assistance of Prescott Brown, Robert Vaughan and Albert C. Horton, the candy was secured and packaged for pre-Christmas delivery.

Christmas Story Hours to be Held Next Week

Christmas is coming! And so is Story Hour at the Newton Free Library—part of the holiday fun always eagerly anticipated by the boys and girls of Newton.

Stories, songs, and poems in the Christmas spirit will be on the program in the Children's Room of the West Newton Branch Library Tuesday morning, December 28 at 10:30 a.m. when Mrs. Marie L. Sullivan, Children's Librarian, will be the Story-teller.

The following morning, Wednesday, December 29, at 10:30 a.m., Mrs. Virginia A. Tashjian, Library Story-teller, will welcome her many friends at the Boys' & Girls' Library, 126 Vernon street, Newton Corner, for another hour of Christmas fun.

Boys and girls six years of age and older from all over Newton are cordially invited to come.

Chief Purcell And Policemen Send Greetings

Chief Philip Purcell of the Newton Police Department today pointed out that The Best Christmas Gift of all is Your Happiness and Well-Being.

"Activities for most of us," the Chief said, "are speeded up at this time of year, due to shopping, parties, celebrations, and distracting holiday sights and sounds. To add to the increased tempo, hurrying pedestrians and motorists, plus 18,000 of our school people who are free from their studies, create a potential traffic hazard.

"Seasonal weather conditions can make it still worse.

"Employers promoting office parties and hosts at-home parties are urged to provide car pools or taxis for celebrators.

In conclusion, the Chief stated, "If you drive, DRINK COFFEE ONLY—if you drink anything stronger, DON'T DRIVE!"

On Corporation Of Bouve-Boston

Donald P. Perry of 44 Sylvan avenue, West Newton, has been elected a member of the corporation of the Bouve-Boston School, affiliated with Tufts College in Medford. He is also a board member of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital and the United Community Services.

Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores was re-elected to another 4-year term on the Bouve-Boston Corporation. He is a member of the executive committee.

Last year about 22 per cent of all chemicals produced were derived from petroleum and natural gas.

TOO MUCH TO DO?

It wasn't going to happen this year. Remember? Your Christmas shopping, sewing, and baking were going to be so well planned that there would be no last minute rush. And where are you now?

How are you going to finish those aprons for the church bazaar? When will you find time to bake cookies for the children to give to their teachers? Weren't you going to applique some flowers on Sister's new skirt? And you haven't a gift for father? Don't you envy Mrs. Jones who did all her shopping last summer, who has everything finished down to the last elegant bow on her packages??

You don't really envy her, do you? For the next few days the house will be full of excitement, confusion and spicy smells. You'll have too much to do, but it will all get done. And you will probably be less tired at the end of it than Mrs. Jones who is now "resting up" for the ordeal of Christmas Day.

Hard to believe? Science tells us that we feel better after working hard than after resting. Resting can be very difficult indeed, especially if you have to do it. Take a person suffering from tuberculosis, for instance. Rest is a basic part of the treatment for TB. Often, months in bed are required to give the diseased lung a chance to heal. Can you imagine what it would be like? You'd have to learn how to bear the tedium, how to keep your mind occupied so that worrying and fretting wouldn't make you even sicker. Your body as well as your mind would resent the lack of activity. The skin, the digestive system, muscles, and blood circulation all suffer some bad effects from rest. New ways of treating TB are cutting down on the amount of time patients must spend in bed, but it is still a long ordeal.

Did you know that part of your Christmas Seal contributions to your tuberculosis association is spent to help TB patients get through the necessary period of rest with the least possible physical and mental suffering to help them bear the tedium so that they will stay in the hospital until they are completely cured? Those of us who have too much to do and the strength to do it during the Christmas season can be grateful for our good luck.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association whose sole support is the Christmas Seal Sale.

Fire Chief Cites Inflammable Toy Danger to Young

During every pre-Christmas sales period, articles appear on the market that constitute " a fire menace to the life, health and property of the citizens especially the young."

"Each year exchanges of information and experiences occur between the State Fire Marshal's Office and heads of fire departments who extinguish fires or have incidents reported to them caused by these highly combustible items," said Fire Chief John E. Corcoran.

"This year there is a widespread offering to neighborhood groups or clubs of a line of plastic toys and decorations, made in Japan, which melt or curl up and then burst into flame leaving but a minimum of residue.

"This instantaneous flash fire result can be obtained if the plastic is thoughtlessly placed on a burner recently extinguished, close to a flame or even by radiant heat as tests have demonstrated," the Fire Chief declared.

To Attend Army School

Pvt. William A. Maguire, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Maguire of Newton, has ben selected to attend the Fifth Armored Division Clerk-Typist School at Camp Chaffe, Ark.

Erect Replica of Christmas Seal Trademark Here

A ten-foot high exhibit displaying the double barred cross trademark of the volunteer tuberculosis associations and a large envelope decorated with replicas of this year's Christmas seals has been erected at the Chestnut Hill shopping center for the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The exhibit was designed by Mrs. Ruth Raphael Levens, Executive Director of the Newton Association and made by the boys at the Newton Technical-Vocational High School under the direction of Philip L. Houle and William G. Johnstone.

The exhibit was set up at Chestnut Hill by Mr. Houle and students George Parker and William Langmead.

Once Again

High speed and alcohol, perennial killers of American motorists and pedestrians, once again will head the list of causes of highway fatalities during this Christmas weekend, when at least 205 persons will die in crashes caused by those two factors alone.

The probable death toll from accidents involving high speed or speed too fast for conditions will amount to 124 victims. Alcohol, taken too freely by both drivers and pedestrians, is expected to account for another 81 victims.

Before the end of the weekend, which starts officially at 6 p.m., tonight (Thursday) and closes at midnight Sunday, there also will be 37 deaths in accidents caused by failure to keep to the right of a centerline, 26 more for failure to yield the right of way and another 23 in crashes caused by overfatigued drivers or drivers actually asleep at the wheel. These are predictions borne out by past performances.

Overzealous holiday celebrants are the principal offenders in the accident picture. This year, as every year, the partygoer who just doesn't know when to quit will substitute grief for Christmas joy when he kills himself, or someone else, on the way home from an overindulgent celebration. Any driver who drinks, even though he may not be obviously drunk, is a potential killer on the highway. It would be well for hosts and guests alike to remember that, when planning a party during this Christmas season.

Democracy In Danger

The mayor of a city in Pennsylvania recently pleaded guilty to charges that he accepted bribes to permit gambling games to operate in his city.

No matter what other punishment he may receive, the punishment of his humiliation in the courtroom, before the city that had honored him with its highest office, should be enough to persuade those who look to easy money in office of the high price they may have to pay for it.

The guilt of a public official is always his own. But the people of a community share in that guilt. All the people who fail to vote and all those who do vote without considering the character and qualifications of a candidate share in his guilt. So do those who give their seal of approval to illegal undertakings, such as gambling by participating in them. Racketeers and corrupt officials cannot succeed in making a community a wide-open one. It takes citizens who consider themselves respectable but who patronize the rackets to do that.

Every community in the nation can learn a lesson from what happened in that Pennsylvania community. Wherever corruption exists and decent people turn their backs on it, wherever dishonest and unscrupulous men find it profitable to ply their trades, democracy is dying a slow death. The people have the power to do something about it. In the final analysis, the question of whether the idea of good government is practical is for them to decide.

Sightseers' Special

"Coach leaving for Alaska, Bering Strait and Sibera! All aboard!" This call may yet be heard if Alaska's project is carried out of extending its road system from Anchorage or Fairbanks, the present terminals, to the Bering Sea near Nome.

This will open up much new territory for development. It will also allow tourists to come almost within sight of Russian territory. While Siberia is too far to be seen even by the strongest eyes, Bering Strait contains the Diomede Islands, of which Little Diomede belongs to the United States, and Big Diomede, three miles away, to Russia. From Little Diomede Siberia can be seen on a clear day.

When the proposed new highway is built, as it doubtless will be some day, that may increase the demand for the stupendous project of tunneling Bering Strait so that trains or automobiles can run all the way from America to Asia. That project will have to wait, however, for friendlier relations with Russia.

Bad Habit Pays Off

We intend to be angelic this Christmas. Therefore, we thank Time magazine for a tidy little Yuletide token which appeared in the form of a compliment to the nation's independent, home town newspapers—like this one—even if the adulation was back-handed and not intended.

In a recent issue, Time revealed the startling decline in readers among most of Manhattan's daily papers and provided an expert diagnosis by blaming it all on the general exodus to the suburbs. To quote Time—"readers have moved out of the city, and even though they still commute . . . many have fallen into the bad habit of reading suburban papers." (End quote.) Tut, tut, Time, bad habit indeed!

Being angelic, we retaliate with this restrained greeting to the slick paper periodical—and a suburban prescription. Our independent, home town (suburban if you will) newspapers build—and hold—circulation without gimmicks. We endeavor to serve and inform—rather than entertain—our readers. You see, Time, those readers are not just digits on a circulation tally sheet, but real, flesh and blood human beings, our friends and neighbors—with whom we maintain a close relationship.

Our editorial policy is air-wicked by refreshing independent thinking. We are localized — not centralized — journalism and we exercise no reckless abuse of the privilege of freedom of the press. We get along with our readers and advertisers, but get along without scandal, smut, sex and sensationalism—the Four Sad-States of Big Time journalism.

Tut, tut, Time, we are the best "bad habit" the American people can cultivate. Suburban newspaper circulation is doing nicely, thank you; we suggest our remedy be applied generously to those metropolitan papers where the superficial outlook is most acute.

Bethlehem was a small hill town of no particular consequence 1954 years ago.

Joseph and Mary arrived in the village late and tired to find that there was no room for them in its only inn.

With other humble travelers they took shelter in the stable, and there in the manger the Christ Child was born.

That was the simple beginning. Add the shepherds on the night hills, the appearance of the angel, their journey to the stable, and it still remains one of the least adorned of all the great stories we cherish.

It is a story as simple as was Christ Himself and His teachings, as simple as His Sermon on the Mount, a masterpiece of simplicity, which remains as the ultimate basis of Christian belief and of the beliefs of free men of goodwill everywhere.

He spoke in a simple tongue, in terms of the beasts of the forest, the birds of the air and the lilies of the fields, of man's responsibility to man.

His simple words, which the kings and the conquerors seemed momentarily to silence, still live on; theirs have perished and are forgotten.

The event we commemorate 1954 years later is the Birth in the humble stable, not the gathering in the crowded inn where Mary and Joseph could find no room.

Hagerty's Remark Indicates Ike to Run Again

James C. Hagerty, President Eisenhower's press secretary, is a cool, capable, campaign-seasoned individual who has been on the political scene far too long to do any speaking out of turn or to open his mouth for the purpose of placing his foot in it.

Consequently, it caused a clicking of political eyebrows when Hagerty, appearing on a television program last week, informed his audience that it would be "foolhardy" for the Republican party to approach its 1956 campaign with any idea other than to renominate President Eisenhower for a second term.

Since Ike at no time has indicated any willingness to run again and, in fact, has intimated he would like to move out of the White House and retire to the calm and freedom of farm life, the first reaction was that Hagerty had made an ill-advised, spur-of-the-moment remark.

Those who know Hagerty, however, realized immediately that there was much more to his comment than that and that he is not a person who becomes flustered or says anything he does not have a reason for saying.

Hagerty served as press secretary to Governor Thomas E. Dewey in Albany for 10 years, and you may be sure that he would not have lasted a decade with Dewey, if he had any habit of saying the wrong thing at either the right or wrong time.

He was in charge of the press arrangements on Dewey's campaign trains in the 1944 and 1948 Presidential battles and functioned in the same capacity on the Eisenhower train in 1952.

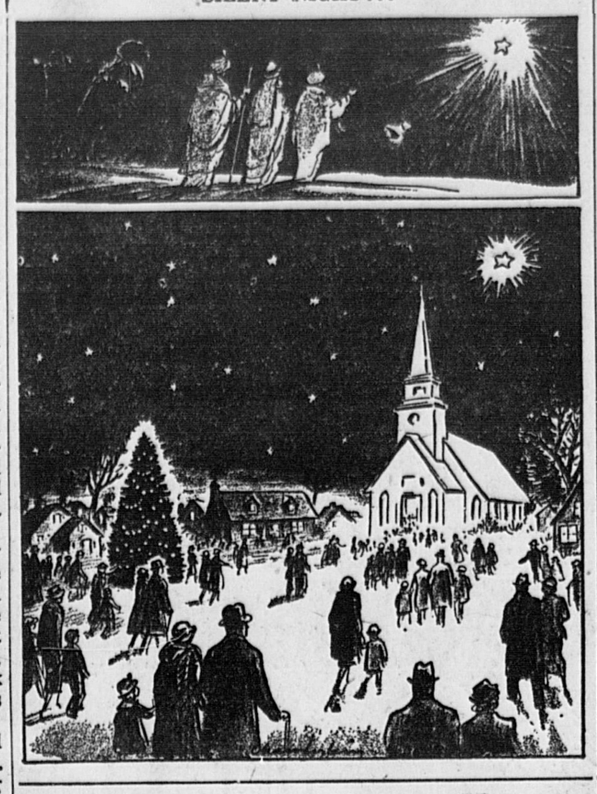

The most significant aspect to Hagerty's remarks was not what he said, but that he undoubtedly made them with the advance knowledge and consent of his boss, Dwight D. Eisenhower. It's practically inconceivable that he would have made them under any other circumstances.

Exactly why he did so is something of a mystery since there is no doubt that President Eisenhower can have the Republican Presidential nomination again in 1956. As a matter of fact, the G.O.P. would be hard pressed to find anyone to run in his place, if he should refuse to accept it.

Whatever his motive and purpose may have been, there is no question but that Hagerty was making a calculated effort to promote a draft-Eisenhower movement.

What Hagerty probably was doing was deftly and shrewdly serving notice on the McCarthy-Knowlandn right wing of the Republican party that President Eisenhower has no intention of surrendering the leadership of the G.O.P. in 1956.

Postmaster In Tribute to Public for Aid

Postmaster Joseph P. W. Finn issued a statement to the press in which he expressed the appreciation of the Post Office Department and of the postal employees for the wonderful cooperation given by the public this Christmas Season.

"Although the mails are not completely cleared, as I prepare this statement, there is every indication that we shall deliver every last piece of mail on hand in time for Christmas Day," said the postmaster. "Everything we asked our patrons they were eager to cooperate with and they showed by their early deposit of mails that they recognized the big job facing the postal men and each one wanted to share in making the task easier. The biggest asset came from the arrival of Christmas mails in volume about December 10th and it built up each day gradually so that a peak of mail was reached without any undue tension or congestion," Mr. Finn said.

Postmaster Finn warmly applauded the Boston Retail Trade Board and the trade board organizations in the various cities, towns and communities for actually developing the SHOP EARLY, MAIL EARLY practice.

"The tremendous assist we got from the press, radio and television in bringing reminders and news reports on postal conditions to the public made everyone conscious of the need for cooperation.

Handling upwards of 200 million pieces involving more than 1,400,000,000 separate operations in the Boston Postal District in the space of 24 days is big business in any sense of the word. It was successfully completed largely because of the support of the public and the skill and expert production methods of the men and women of the postal service.

Christmas Prayer

(This, one of the beautiful prayers of St. Francis of Assisi which have come down to us through the centuries, is most appropriate for Christmas.—Editor)

"Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace.
"Where there is hatred, let me sow love.
"Where there is injury, pardon.
"Where there is doubt, faith.
"Where there is despair, hope.
"Where there is darkness, light.
"Where there is sadness, joy.
"O Divine Master,
"Grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console;
"To be understood, as to understand;
"To be loved, as to love;
"For it is in giving that we receive,
"It is in pardoning that we are pardoned,
"And it is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life."

What Shall We Eat... ...With Eggnog

"When shall I serve eggnog?" asks a reader. "And what tastes best with it?"

Serve eggnog any hour, any day this holiday season! Whenever friends or family gather in your kitchen, dining room, or living room, eggnog is right. It pleases all ages, casual or sophisticated folks.

What goes with eggnog? An expert on hospitality gave his rules which we are happy to quote. "Imagine," says the expert, "a tempting glass of milk; whatever snack you would like with that milk is delicious with eggnog, but keep it bite-size. Small size refreshments because eggnog is satisfying and full flavored, and your "people" eat often during the holiday season." He added it is better to avoid any salty or oily foods; for example save fine foods like anchovies, sardines, or garlic flavored spreads for another party.

A classic food with eggnog is small hot baking powder biscuits, split and buttered with slices of ham between. The charm and correctness of this ham-and-biscuits treat is having slices of pink ham overhanging the edges of biscuit.

Fruit cake and salted almonds are favorites. For folks who like sweets, have mints; have the thinnest chocolate covered mints, green mints, and cream mints. Oatmeal cookies, well spiced with cinnamon and nutmeg, are fine. Cheese flavored popcorn delights young and old. Eggnog time is perfect for serving tiny doughnuts or those golden brown doughnut holes which everybody finds such fun. Good, too, are tiny sandwiches of sliced chicken or chicken salad. Use any sandwich spread that isn't salty or oily.

EGGNOG

3 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk, scalded
3 egg whites
½ to ¾ teaspoon vanilla

Beat sugar into egg yolks; add salt and stir in milk very slowly. Cook in double boiler until mixture coats spoon (about 1 minute), stirring constantly. Cool. Beat egg whites stiff; add to custard with vanilla. Mix thoroughly and chill 4 hours. Pile lightly in punch cups. Sprinkle with freshly grated nutmeg. One tablespoon cooking sherry may be substituted for vanilla. Serves 6 to 8.

Many Eggnog enthusiasts will omit vanilla and add half a cup or so of sherry, port, brandy, rum, bourbon or rye, just before serving.

Newton Sports

The spectacular defense thrown up by Newton High's skaters in their opening game vanished in only 15 seconds of Saturday afternoon's game with Stoneham, with the Tigers winding up on the short end of a 6-3 trouncing. . . . The score did little to encourage Newton's outlook for Friday night, January 1, when the Orange and Black faces last year's champion Belmont, which looks every bit as strong as last year. Belmont clobbered Stoneham, 7-2, in their opening round . . . Only 15 seconds after the game opened, Newton goalie Brian Dooley tried to smother a shot by the side of the cage. As he tried to gain control of the disc, Stoneham's right wing Dennis Symes tapped off Dooley's pads for the first goal against Newton this year . . . Fifty-four seconds later Al Symes picked up his brother's rebound from only four feet out and flipped goal number two past Dooley. Despite the sudden scores, the Tigers refused to break under pressure and managed to knot the count with a pair of goals one minute apart. . . . Sparked by the return of Billy Reilly, the Orange and Black put together its first offensive spurt of the year. Reilly, robbed of a goal on a great stop from closeup only seconds before, lifted a long shot from just inside the blue line at 3:49. The goalie waved feebly at the dipping drive but missed it clearly . . . A minute later another long loft by Reilly caromed out to Pete Fitzgerald, and the wingman slapped it into the net.

At that point, Newton should have arranged for the ice to melt, or some other weird occurence. The Tigers skated like kittens, unable to complete a decent pass and pinned in their own zone for minutes at a stretch . . . Just after Dooley made a good stop midway through the first frame, Stoneham went ahead to stay as Paul Farrell lifted the rebound past Dooley.

The Orange and Black managed to get the play into the Stoneham end during the second period, but the Newton skaters were unable to do anything with it when they got there. While Newton fumbled in the Stoneham zone, the blue and white skaters made the most of their opportunities, thanks to center George Pollock . . . Pollock made the score 4-2 when he slapped in a rebound at 3:48, and 45 seconds before the period ended gave Stoneham a comfortable three-goal lead on a dash from mid-ice. Newton never seemed to get together that period, looking at times like a pick-up team at Bullough's Pond . . . Stoneham rubbed it in a little at 6.44 of the third period on Al Symes' second tally. He poked in a rebound from only three feet out as Dooley was helpless. Reilly got in the two-goal column just before the 9-minute mark when he whistled a 20-footer into the cage on a solo spurt . . . The Tigers really fell apart in this one. Spectators who witnessed last week's startling 0-0 tie with Melrose couldn't believe it was the same team fumbling around the Arena. Slow on their feet and in their thinking, the Tigers will have to show a lot of improvement to prevent the Belmont encounter from mounting into football scores. . . . Belmont showed speed, accuracy and power in vanquishing Melrose with little difficulty. The defending champions should have slight difficulty in repeating last year's performance unless they lose the magic touch. Despite the graduation of its big-name performers, Belmont seems to have suffered not at all.

Newton couldn't do anything right against Stoneham, except at times when individual players showed flashes of brilliance . . . The return of Reilly gave the Orange and Black offense some claws, and another two weeks of practice should work all the kinks out of his system after being sidelined by a cold. Defenseman Paul Fitzgerald also had a bad afternoon, so with a little luck the Belmont game shouldn't be too one-sided.

Newton High's cagers are getting ready for the basketball wars with a series of exhibition games this month. Suburban League competition doesn't start until January 4, when the Orange and Black hoopsters come in to the lair of defending titlist Rindge Tech . . . In its opening game under new coach Ed Poskit, the Tigers put on a withering third-period attack—more than doubling the first-half scoring total—to overtake Medford, 64-60. Two days later a similar third-quarter burst propelled Newton to a 63-46 romp over Brockton, last year's Class A Tech Tourney champion . . . But before you see titles gleaming in the distance after the Brockton triumph, it must be pointed out that graduation claimed all the Brockton starters except its center, Eddie Burke. And Burke, suffering from a sprained ankle, had only four days of basketball practice before the game . . . Stan Chamberlain, up from a substitute's role last year to starting center; right forward Billy Halloran, a veteran of last year's squad and a regular high scorer; and Billy Hammill, play-maker, defensive standout and a dependable shot; have claimed Poskit a good send-off for his freshman year at the helm of the Orange and Black hoopsters.

Spotlight on Weeks

French Affiliation Council

(The following article was taken from the December issue of Spotlight).

One of the interesting activities of the French Club is that of the French Affiliation Council which corresponds with the Ecole de Jeunes Filles (School for Girls) in France. Through the booklets and letters which we send to France, the children learn about our fashions, homes, schools and such. The French pupils in turn send us information about themselves, their school life, interests and families.

The Ecole de Jeunes Filles is in the small town of Yvetot. The town, which is near the English Channel, was almost completely destroyed by the war. Most of the town's buildings were ruined by the bombs.

The Ecole de Jeunes Filles consists of a large building and a stadium. Some of the sports the girls play are handball, basketball and volleyball. One way the school differs from Weeks is that it has no school government.

The school had been let down by another American school which didn't respond, and let their affiliation drop. Weeks did not want the French school to think Americans were undependable, so, last June we started corresponding with them.

Perhaps, someday we may have exchange students going to France and learning the language first hand. This won't happen tomorrow or next week but, judging from the fine work the French Affiliation Council has been doing, it may be altogether possible in a few years.

Bill Is Filed To Aid School Construction

Implementing its aim to provide more flexibility in school building construction regulations, the Newton Taxpayers' Association with the cooperation of Rep. George E Rawson has filed a bill to set up a Board of Schoolhouse Structural Standards within the department of Public Satety, but not under the control of the Commissioner.

Lorenz F. Muther Jr, the Association's executive director, said, 'The purpose of the bill is to make use of existing state functionaries as much as possible and not to infringe on current authority, yet at the same time to provide a legal instrument for developing a broader approach to the problem of using new developments in architecture, design, engineering and materials in schoolhouse construction."

The proposed Board—to consist of the Commissioner of Public Safety, the Administrator of the School Building Assistance Commission, and the Chief of Inspections of the Department of Public Safety together with four other members named by the governor—would be set up for three years and would issue the regulations covering schoolhouse construction which are presently issued by the authority of the Public Safety Commissioner alone.

"We hope that this device may clear the way for better but less expensive schools, by ridding us of requirements which have outlived their usefulness and by taking advantage of new conceptions in construction," Muther concluded.

Newton Art Ass'n Holds Annual Christmas Party

One of the most enjoyable occasions of the year was the annual Christmas Party held by the Newton Art Association at the Newtonville Women's Club. Acting as Master of Ceremonies, Sherwood Blodgett, former president of the Association welcomed guests and introduced the club officers.

The program began with a half hour of singing of Christmas carols and popular songs, led by Hal Freed, accordianist and organist from the staff of WBZ-TV television studio.

Then followed a very successful performance by the drama committee of the Newton Highlands Women's Club, depicting an incident in the time of Queen Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh, entitled "Check to the Queen." The cast included Mrs. James H. Zimmer as the Queen, Mrs. Eric L. Waller, Mrs. Frank B. Greene, Mrs. Charles F. Brown, and Mrs. Horace U. Ransom.

Mr. Blodgett, who is a member of the American Society of Magicians, then entertained with mystifying feats of magic, with bits of humor and story telling. The grand march which followed was led by President Carl M. Stiles, after which was the customary exchange of Christmas presents by members of the Art Association.

Throughout the evening refreshments were served. Among the members of the hospitality, program, and decorations committees were Mrs Sam Coty, Mr. Chester Reed, Katheryn Holgate, James K. Bonnar, and Mrs. Roy Randall. Mrs. Albert Walker, 'cellist, provided additional musical entertainment.

The next regular meeting of the Newton Art Association will be on Thursday, January 6 at the Newtonville Public Library. Mr. Joseph Butera will lecture and demonstrate on "Methods and Materials" in painting.

Hold Christening Service Sunday

A special Christmas Christening service will be included in the order of morning worship at 11 o'clock Sunday, at the First Unitarian Church in Newton. The Rev. John Ogden Fisher requests that parents wishing to have their children christened at this time make arrangements in advance with him or church office. Mr. Fisher's sermon topic will be "The Day After"

"Santa's Chimney" will remain standing in the vestibule of the church to receive contributions for the United Unitarian Appeal. More than eight hundred dollars has been received so far, according to Edward W. Whorf, assistant church treasurer. The local UUA chairman, William L. Tisdel, hopes the parish may meet its $2000 quota towards the continental $369,000 goal to carry out denominational work on the national and international level.

On Sunnday afternoon, Dec. 26, from 3:30 to 6 o'clock, all members and friends of the First Unitarian Society in Newton are cordially invited to an "Open House" at the Parsonage, 17 Somerset road, West Newton. This fifth annual reception has become a traditional event when the Rev. and Mrs. John O. Fisher take this opportunity to extend their personal holiday greetings to all parishioners.

Elect Mrs. Pillion Ass't Treas. of Cooperative Bank

At their meeting December 14, the Directors of the West Newton Co-operative Bank elected Mrs. William F. Pillion as Assistant Treasurer of the Bank.

Mrs. Pillion moved to Newton from Caribou, Maine in 1946 and for several years worked in the office of the Waltham Hospital. She came to the Bank in 1953.

Other offcers of the bank are Loomis Patrick, president, Franklin K. Hoyt, vice president and Francis C. Chase, treasurer.

Temple Emanuel Cubs Pay Visit To Peabody Home

Cub Scouts of Den 6, sponsored by Temple Emanuel, made a recent trip to the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

They brought gifts consisting of books and toys. The boys were very happy to know that they could bring a little cheer to the children.

The Cubs were Jeffrey Karger, Sanford Levy, James Pransky and Edmund Short, all of Newton Centre. They were accompanied by Mrs. Stanley R. Levy and Mrs. Paul Karger, Den Mothers.

West Community Service Club in Musical Program

Members and guests of the Community Service Club of West Newton enjoyed "I Hear America Singing," a history of musical theater in America, last week at a meeting in Second Church, West Newton, presented by a group of young professionals and was based on vignettes from the lives of musical "greats" in this country.

Miss Elsie Sears was the narrator, and Dana Lordly accompanist and aranger. Hostesses for the coffee hour were Mrs. Elliot D. Ransen and Mrs. Fletcher P. Osgood, and the pourers were Mrs Clarence M. Glazier and Mrs. Edmund Anthony.

After delivering the invocation, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, club president, called the meeting to order. All joined in singing "O Come, All Ye Faithful" A memorial service was held for the late Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer, a charter member, and members sang her favorite hymn "Bless'd Be the Tie that Binds."

Greetings were received from Miss Carolyn Lovett, also a charter member who worked with Mrs. Hosmer in the early days of the club's existence. The club welcomed a new member, Mrs. Frank A. Parker of Auburndale.

Thanks were expressed to Mrs. Dana Clark for a hand-knit lap robe. Mrs. Raymond J. Grenier, chairman of the Veterans Services Committee, will take the robe and other gifts to the Jamaica Plain Veterans Hospital, and will assist at a party at the hospital.

In the absence of Mrs. Chester W. Wilson, chairman of the hospital committee, Mrs. Fred Fowle reported that 20 members had served at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. They also assisted in wrapping gifts for the employees' Christmas party.

Mrs Donald C. Moody, 12th district representative, reported on a recent meeting at which the evils of comic books were discussed, along with the responsibilities of the community toward these books.

Mrs. John Learmonth, chairman of the ways and means committee, and her committee conducted a food sale. In the art corner, Mrs. A. James MacDonald, art chairman, arranged a display of Christmas decorations, many of which she had brought back from a recent European trip. The next club meeting will be Wednesday, December 19, when a flower demonstration will be staged.

Accident Cost Analysis Study Now Under Way

The research project on the economic cost of highway traffic accidents is a study sponsored by the United States Bureau of Public Roads, the State Department of Public Works and The Registry of Motor Vehicles. This confidential study is under the direction of Registrar King and specially trained men from his department.

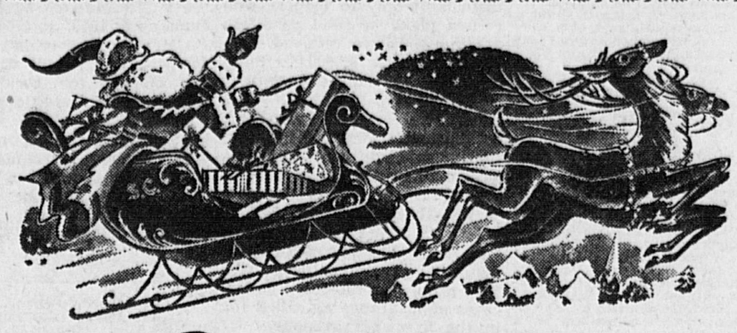

This study will not be used to place the blame for traffic accidents. It is strictly confidential and the drivers interviewed will never be identified in any manner with the information they give to the Registrar's field representative.

Three thousand operators who were involved in accidents in 1953 were scientifically selected from the accident record file of the Registry of Motor Vehicles and they will be interviewed during December and January.

Registrar King is confident the three thousand licensed operators to be interviewed in this research project will co-operate by giving the information necessary to complete the study.

Christmas - Message of Hope

The spirit of Christmas a-winging it's way
Brings joyous good wishes and now seems to say:
There's a rift in the clouds of hate and ill-will
As Hope's sun is a-rising over the hill.
The bells in the steeple ring out to all people,
Rin g out to all people of faith and good-will
That the Babe of the stable proves Faith is still able
To lighten and brighten a world grown grey,
For more and more faith let us all pray.

Ward Lines--

Alderman Leo M. Cannon declared, "No committee of the whole (executive session) is going to dictate my vote to me!" He argued for keeping the old boundary since it marks the limits of the Fourth and Fifth Middlesex Districts, and since the potential growth of Ward 4 may force later voting changes.

Unalterably Opposed

Alderman Charles H. Cosgrove, who represents West Newton on the board, said he was "still unalterably opposed to the change" but agreed with Sharf that the compromise had been approved.

He said he left the executive session with the feeling that the boundaries had been settled, and it was "only fair" for Sharf to assume the compromise was acceptable to the majority of the board.

The dispute broke into the open over the report of the claims and rules committee on Sharf's recommendations. Two of the members of the committee favored the compromise, while four voted for no change at all.

After a lengthy discussion of the procedures involved, the board approved the claims and rules report unanimously with the exception of the Ward 3-Ward 4 boundary. Then a 13-8 vote rejected the committees recommendation for "no change," and the same vote passed the compromise.

Supporters of "no change" were Winfield C. Anderson, Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Leo M. Cannon, Charles H. Cosgrove, Joseph B. Davis, Harry H. Ham, Earle D Wood and Board President Wendell R. Bauckman.

New Ward 8

The most sweeping change took place in Ward 5, from which the new Ward 8 was carved bodily. Boundaries of the new ward are Needham street from the Needham line to Boylston street, and then along the turnpike to Brookline. Everything south of that line is in Ward 8.

Ward 4—Auburndale and Newton Lower Falls—also picked a sizeable chunk of Waban besides the West Newton "compromise" section. The Waban addition to Ward 4 lies on the east side of Washington street between the Highland Branch railroad tracks and Fuller street. It extends roughly as far as Cheescake Brook.

Ward 2—Newtonville — had the "Silver Lake" area amputated, as well as a small section behind the Claflin School on Lowell avenue. Gained was the area bounded by Eddy street, Albemarle road and Watertown street, formerly in Ward 3. The latter two changes were made to create "more natural" boundaries.

The "Silver Lake" area added to Ward 1 includes the section within California, Nevada, Crafts and Lothrup streets and Judkins path. Nonantum groups had sought to move the Ward 1 boundary as far as the entire length of Crafts street, but the ward lines committee declined to make that much of a change.

Also added to Ward 1 was a part of Ward 6 running between Mill street and Commonwealth avenue. Ward 6 lost the area between Commonwealth avenue and Cotton and Montrose streets to Ward 7. The southern boundary of Ward 6 remained almost the same, with the exception of the area falling between Boylston street and Florence street, which was added to the new Ward 8.

Although the line changes have been voted, they will not be used in elections until 1957. This will give the city enough time to inform all the citizens of the new lines and rearrange its voting procedures.

Vespers Program Fills Hall Twice At High School

The annual Christmas Vespers program at Newton High School was produced twice last week in the high school auditorium.

The auditorium was filled to capacity both times, as student choruses and the orchestra, numbering 400 boys and girls performed. The A Capella choir, directed by Wesley Merritt, and the Junior-Senior Girls Chorus, directed by Henry Lasker, shared the honors, and, unlike other years, occupied the entire stage. "The Hallelujah Chorus" from The Messiah made an impressive finale. Donald March conducted the orchestra.

The Vespers set was designed by Bob Trice, and was executed with the assistance of Ronald Jehu, Richard Gerrie, Jan Marshall, Clara Maynard, Maureen Connelly, Nancy Hedrick, Jane Lewis, Mikki Lovell, Armen Der Hohannesian, Mimi Beaucamps and Judy Borden of the Art Department.

The piano accompanists were Elaine Holmes and Shelia Ahearn. Soloists included Jean Bannister, Donald Kowet and Marjorie Lasker.

Community Protests Can Stem Tide Of Objectionable Literature Here

(This is the third and concluding installment in a series of three articles on objectionable literature appearing on Newton newsstands)

The chief weapon in the fight against offensive magazines and books is public opinion. The combined protests of church, civic and other groups interested in youth have already brought a halt to the tide of horror and terror "comic" books on a nationwide scale.

The same results can be achieved on a local level, if individuals and organizations make their wishes known. But without protests, publishers will continue to distribute their immoral, suggestive and offensive literature unchecked.

Local action seems a much better answer to the problem than the imposition of censorship. Freedom of the press is one of the foundation stones of democracy, but this freedom can be and is being abused by these objectionable publications.

What seems to be a proper solution was urged this year by the National Council of Juvenile Judges. The judges advocated arousing communities through church, fraternal, civic and service organizations to secure voluntary cooperation ot merchants and magazine distributors in banning "lewd, harmful and destructive publications."

Typical of what community protests can accomplish is the drive conducted by a Holy Name Society in West Roxbury for about a year.

After drawing up a list of objectionable magazines, using as a source publications purchased in the community, the Holy Name members enlisted the aid of local merchants. They explained the aims of their campaign and asked the newsstand proprietors to cooperate by keeping the objectionable publications "under the counter."

Practically 100 percent cooperation was obtained. A few stores declined and continued to peddle immoral books and magazines. Objectionable literature has virtually disappeared from public sale, and the drive's sponsors hope eventually to win over the few holdouts to their side.

"Cooperation" is the key to control of these publications. Laws only prohibit "obscene" literature, and a legal ban of objectionable publications might prove a worse cure than the disease. What offends community morals as a whole is the only true measure of "objectionable."

An agreement between Atty.-General George Fingold and magazine distributors has set up a procedure for removing obscene or especially objection-

$31,000 Street Project Slated for Newtonville

A $31,000 street reconstruction project in Newtonville, approved by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., headlines the preliminary docket for Monday's meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

The street project planned for Albemarle road on the playground side of Cheesecake Brook between Crafts street and Watertown street. Plans also call for a curbstone to be installed on the playground side of the road.

Cheesecake Brook splits Albemarle road along the street's entire length, and between Crafts and Watertown streets on the West Newton side of Albemarle road is completely paved. The playground side is a rocky, dirt roadway. This side leads to the playground used by Frank A. Day Junior High School and by the Newton North Little Leaguers, in addition to regular playground activities.

Another major road project is scheduled to be discussed Monday night at a hearing on the "relocating, altering and widening" of Brookline street from Old Farm away from the direction of Dedham street in Oak Hill and Newton Centre.

An attempt last year to widen and straighten the heavily-traveled street last year met with opposition from residents of the area, who argued the reconstruction would turn it into a "speedway." They claimed that keeping the road narrow and winding would force cars to go slow.

Other appropriation requests for West Newton street construction work are $17,500 for Russell road, $16,500 for Barbara road, and $10,000 for Elizabeth circle.

Sewer construction appropriations recommended are on Crafts street, Newtonville, $2200, and Dedham street, Newton Centre, $2300. A drain and sewer construction project to be considered is $10,100 for work on private land from main sewer in Auburndale park, Auburndale, in a northerly an deasterly direction.

The Water Department is seeking, in addition to a $350,000 water bonds issue spread over a 10-year period, $11,500 for the purchase of cold water meters in early 1955 in advance of the budget, and $5685 for a water main extension on Deborah road, Oak Hill.

Three reappointments to city boards have been submitted by the mayor. They are Sydney B. Holden of 54 Bothfeld road, Newton Centre, as a member of the Board of Assessors for three years beginning Febru-

Total Hurricane Damage In Excess of $138,000,000

Total insured property damage in Hurricanes Carol and Edna, whish struck New England areas Aug. 31 and Sept. 11 respectively, will be in excess of $138,000,000 and involve an estimated 745,000 claims, it was reported here today by the National Boar dof Fire Underwriters.

The estimates do not include automobile or marine losses.

Preliminary studies on Hurricane Hazel, which swept ten States from South Carolina to the Canadian border Oct. 15, show that insured losses for this storm will approximate those for Carol and Edna combined.

These three storms will result in the highest amount of insurance payments ever made, exceeding the payments for the San Francisco fire of 1906, it was stated by J. Victor Herd, president of the Natinoal Board of Fire Underwriters. At that time, fire insurance companies paid about $220,000,000 in claims. The largest previous wind storm loss occurred in the great storm of Nov. 25, 1950 which resulted in $188,000,000 being paid to policyholders.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

1954 Didn't Turn out too Badly, Despite 2 Hurricanes:

Massachusetts Faces Grim Task of Finding More Revenue

Notwithstanding all the hopes being expressed that the New Year will bring with it brighter days than did its predecessor, we would like to offer the minority observation that Old Man 1954 wasn't such a bad year after all.

He had his faults and failings. In late summer he brought hurricanes that swirled up from the south and struck with all the savage fury of the elements of nature on a rampage.

Politically, the old boy now nearing the end of his time really didn't satisfy anybody. He provided a little consolation for both the Republicans and the Democrats but didn't exactly play Santa Claus to either side.

He left the supporters of Senator Joseph R. McCarthy pretty unhappy by the things that happened in his span of history, but the admirers of the communist-hunter from Wisconsin are fairly certain that the final chapters in that spectacular saga are still to come.

No Relief Seen For Residents Living Near Pine Street Dump

Factors in Safe Operation Of Oil Burners Emphasized

Pointing out that a large number of lives are needlessly lost each year due to oil burner fires, Fire Chief John E. Corcoran this week listed two "factors of importance" for the safe operation of oil burners.

"Make sure the installation is made by a competent service repairman who has received a certificate of competency from the state fire marshal," he declared. "Make sure it is inspected by the local fire inspector to assure compliance with the rules and regulations of the Board of Fire Prevention Regulations, and make sure that a permit is issued for the storage of oil."

Continuing, the fire chief said, "Have an installation properly serviced once a year. Strainers become clogged, units may be moved out of level, orifices may be worn to feed too much oil and carbon deposits and sediment may cause interruptions in the normal flow of oil.

"There is nothing so disheartening as the radio broadcast or newspaper story of fatal oil burner fires, especially those which tell the lives lost are those of helpless children, trapped in their beds with no chance of rescue. To fire officials there is no mystery in the cause of such fires which is resulting in increased deaths year after year.

"Contributing factors are improperly made installations, unapproved equipment, insufficient knowledge for proper operation and lack of maintenance. Also, many oil burners have been in service longer than the reasonable life of such a device for safe performance.

COLD DAYS AHEAD

"The state fire marshall is urging all the fire chiefs in the state to assist him in enlisting every possible means of notifying the people of the commonwealth to pay particular attention to their heating problems for the cold days of the current winter months.

"The greatest number of these fires occur in the type heaters known as space heaters and kerosene stoves. Commissioner of Public Safety General Otis M. Whitney,, states that in January, 1954, the loss of life from oil burner fires of this type exceeded the number of lives lost on the Massachusetts State Highways.

"The greatest loss of life from such fires occurs in rural areas of the Commonwealth where there is no central heater in the basement but rather a unit heater, space heater or kerosene stove placed in the room or adjacent to the rooms to be heated.

"The windows are closed tight, with all cracks stuffed with paper to prevent air infiltration. The doors are closed tightly and mats or rags placed at the bottom of the exterior doors to prevent cold air from entering the room. This set-up is as bad as setting fire to a fuse leading to a charge of dynamite — the results could be the same.

MUST ALLOW AIR

"One of the principles of combustion provides that adequate air for combustion must be provided to assure continuous complete combustion of the oil. With all air cut off, the oil burner will gradually consume all the oxygen in the room or rooms to a point where the occupants will become suffocated from the lack of oxygen and the increase of carbon monoxide produced by the incomplete combustion.

"The admittance of air from other portions of the house or possibly a down draft may provide sufficient oxygen to ignite the unburned heated gases which have accumulated, by this time, in material quantity, and which will be accompanied by a pressure of explosive force sufficient to blow the unit apart, spraying burning oil about the room."

Array of Prizes Awaits 1st Baby of '55 at N-W Hospital

The fluttering of stork wings about the walls of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital's maternity ward is ushering in the fifth annual Graphic Stork Derby, with a grand welcome awaiting the first baby born in the hospital in 1955.

Who will be the first baby born at the hospital on or after January 1? That's anybody's guess right now, but in previous years the young ladies have held the upper hand.

The first boy to carry off an array of prizes for his mother and father was last year's winner, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell D'Argento of 98 Waltham street, West Newton.

For the first three years of the Graphic contest, girls carried off the presents. The 1951 winner was Holly Jean Hawkesley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hawkesley of Waban, and in 1952 the earliest baby of the year was Susan Farist Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Butler of Natick. The last girl winner was Cynthia Joy Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Harrington of Natick.

Public spirited merchants have lined up a gay assortment of gifts for baby, mom and dad, to give the first arrival of 1955 more than just good wishes. Awaiting the new citizens are:

Greenfield's, Old Colony Knitting Mills sweaters, one for mother, one for baby; West Newton Theatre, an evening of entertainment for mother and dad; Boulevard Rexall Drug Store, a Tommie Tepee baby cup; Graham's Esso Service Station, free lubrication for the family car; Parke Snow, a beautiful Chatham blanket; Eastman's Flower Shop, a lovely potted plant; Newton Graphic, one year's subscription; West Newton Savings Bank, an automatic savings bank for baby's personal account; Hubbard Drug Co., surprise gift; Brodney Gift Shop, a baby pack; Haiman Shoe Store, baby's first shoes; Paramount Theatre, theatre tickets for Mom and Dad; Waban Market, one case of baby's favorite food; MorReal, a complete sewing kit; Small Fry, Inc., sacque set; Newton Centre Market, five cases strained Beechnut Baby Foods; Star Market, case of nationally advertised baby food; and, Newtonville Electric Company, Sunbeam bottle warmer.

He received his M.D. degree from the University of Virginia Medical School in 1931, and his further training includes serving as a resident in orthopedic surgery at Children's Hospital, Boston.

Dr. Karp is married to the former Evelyn Gerstein. They have three children: Jonathan, 12; William, 9; and Steven, 4.

Delay in Repairs To Incinerator Boosts Dump Use

The municipally - operated Pine street dump, a long-standing source of fire and smoke nuisance to Auburndale and West Newton residents, is due for heavy use by the city for at least another three months because of an unexpected delay in repairs to the city incinerator.

The delay in the incinerator project was made necessary when repair work uncovered hidden damage to hoppers and grates in the firing ovens. Replacement of the hoppers by larger ones and installation of new grates has been approved by the aldermen, but delivery of parts will postpone repairs probably until March at the earliest.

An additional $30,000 for the hoppers and grates has been voted, bringing to $230,000 the cost to date of the incinerator repairs. The appropriation was approved this month, rather than waiting until next year's budget, so the work could proceed as fast as possible.

Another $30,000 has been recommended by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., in advance of the 1955 budget, and his request is being considered by the aldermen's finance and public building committees. This will pay for new lights, ventilation improvements, fireproofing, fire hoses, a new floor and a locker room.

The project has resulted in increased use of the Pine street dump, which is located near the West Newton-Auburndale line at Scribner's Swamp.

As in most dumps, fires are burning in the refuse nearly every day, and the Fire Department has spent many hours battling blazes on the dumping ground. Smoke from these fires has drifted in heavy clouds as far as West Newton Square when the wind was right.

Ashes from these fires have ired many West Newton and Auburndale residents, who have sought unsuccessfully to have the

Sendoff Tuesday By State Guard Veterans for 19

Nineteen Newton men will be feted Tuesday by the Newton Unit, Massachusetts State Guard Veterans, at Selective Service Headquarters in Newtonville, before leaving for induction into the armed forces.

This ceremony comes four days after a "split" sendoff said farewll to the last of the December quota of inductees. Ten men who received permission from Selective Service officials to postpone their induction until after Christmas are scheduled to depart Friday. Their sendoff, as was an earlier one for 11 two weeks ago, will be sponsored by the Auxiliary to the Nonantum American Legion Post.

Two Local Men Are Named Gas Co. Officers

Election by the board of directors of Boston Consolidated Gas Company of five new company officers, two from Newton, recently was announced by E. H. Eacker, president.

ANDREW W. JOHNSON

Andrew W. Johnston of 129 Dorset road, Waban, has been elected a vice president.

Henry R. Condon of 89 Hyde Avenue, Newton, has been elected assistant vice resident.

Mr. Johnston will be vice president in charge of operations, coordinating the work of the production and construction department, the distribution department and the technical department. He came with the company at the end of 1949. Mr. Johnston graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1927 and joined the United Gas Improvement Company as a cadet engineer. From 1936 to 1942 he was with the Hartford Gas Light Company as superintendent of distribution and from 1942 to 1949 held the same position with the Washington Gas Light Co.

HENRY R. CONDON

Mr. Condon is a veteran of 32 years' service with the Gas Company. He attended the University of Maine and joined the company in 1922. In 1930 he directed the installation of the company's high pressure system in the Concord-Ayer district. In 1931 he was promoted to superintendent of the Central Street Division and in January 1949 to superintendent of mains and supplies. Since December 1949 he has been assistant engineer of distribution and now becomes engineer of distribution.

School Projects Cost Estimated At Half-Million

Additional classroom space requested by the School Commitee for three Newton schools will cost close to a half-million dollars.

The School Committee has notified the Board of Aldermen that the city will need 10 new classrooms and a pair of auditoriums at the Cabot School, Newtonville; the Peirce School, West Newton; and the Ward School, Newton Centre.

The cost of the project, duplicating the original estimate of the School Committee, was set at the half-million figure by Earle D. Wood, chairman of the aldermen's finance committee. No action will be taken by the aldermen until an appropriation request is received from the mayor.

Needed for September occupancy are four classrooms and an auditorium-playroom at the Cabot School, four classrooms at the Peirce School, and two classrooms and an auditorium-playroom at the Ward School.

Although no definite plans have been advanced as yet, the additions will probably be of the "demountable" type used at the Franklin School in West Newton. Definitely experimental at the beginning of the school year, the addition — with five-sided classrooms — has proven completely satisfactory.

The Franklin School addition also has proven to be the model for the new Mason School to be sought by the School Committee for the Newton Centre playground. This construction — based on a plan of "clusters" of classrooms around the central unit — is expected to cost at least another $5,000,000.

A bill to permit Newton to use the playground as a school site has been filed in the state legislature by Rep. Arthur G. Heaney. The bill seeks permission to change the use of the land and does not seek any extra property.

The entire playground property, some of which was sold to the city by the Metropolitan District Commission several years ago, is currently restricted to playground use. Any change in this use requires permission of the state legislature.

Boxers Family To Benefit by 1954 State Law

At the 1954 session of the General Court, Senator William D. Fleming of Worcester filed a bill to require the promoter of a boxing bout to carry $5000 insurance against accidental death of the boxer resulting from the bout, an increase over the then existing mount.

Such bills are referred to the Public Safety Committee. Representative George E. Rawson (Rep.-Newton) the House chairman, redrafted the bill to make it workable.

There is only one company which writes that form of insurance, limiting its operations to the five states which exercise proper legal control over boxing. Rep. Rawson negotiated with representatives of the company to obtain their acceptance of the additional risk. He then secured the enactment of the bill, which became Chapter 127 of the Acts of 1954. The first action under the act will be the payment to the family of Edward Sanders, the boxer who died as a result of injuries recently.

1955 Drama Festival Under Way At Newton High School

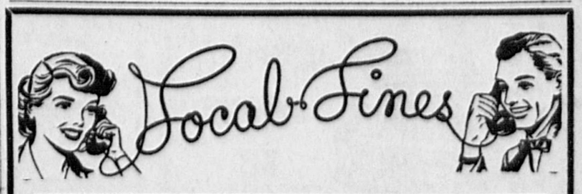

The 1955 Massachusetts Drama Festival is already underway at Newton High School. Last year, twenty-four schools participated, with Newton emerging as the winner. Later Newton went on to win the New England Drama Festival as well. The students themselves take care of tickets, rehearsals, ushering, overnight housing, sight seeing, chaperoning and a dinner-dance.

This year there is a change at Newton High School. Instead of selecting one play and appointing a cast, the Sophomore, Junior and Senior classes will each present a play. Then these plays will be presented on February 18, at Newton High, with various directors of drama acting as judges The winning play will then be performed at the preliminaries of the Massachusetts Drama Festival on March 18 and 19; then it will be presented at the regular State Festival on April 1 and 2, at John Hancock Hall in Boston.

The general directors of these plays are: Miss Frances Smith for the Sophomore Class, Miss Gertrude Creedon for the Junior Class and Mr. William Spink for the Senior class. Mr. Spink is also the advisor to the Sophomore and Junior class plays. Mr. Spink, a speech teacher at Newton High, is the Vice President of the New England Drama Council and a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts Drama Council.

The number of schools participating this year will exceed the twenty-four who presented plays last year. Last year, one hundred and sixty-two schools participated all over New England. Each year more schools express an interest in joining the Massachusetts Drama Festival. There is every indication that this will be the greatest year for the Drama Festival.

This educational and civic program is made possible by the sponsorship of the Boston Globe.

Newton Engineer Nominated Head Of Street Dept.

A bridge expert — in more ways than one — has been nominated by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., to succeed Harold F. Young as street commissioner, after Young retires from his city post at the end of the month.

Nominated to the street post was Frank K. Perkins of 127 Waverly avenue, Newton, a construction engineer for more than 30 years. Among the many projects he has been a consulting enginer with was a $,000,000 bridge across the Connecticut River at Springfield. And for 20 years he has written a contract bridge column for a Boston newspaper.

Other notable projects he has worked with include the new railroad grade crossing in Waverly Square, an expressway in Portland for the Maine Highway Commission and $3,000,000 worth of new streets. He has also been connected with several Metropolitan District Commission projects.

Perkins is president of the Universal Engineering Corporation of Boston and is a member of the Massachusetts Committee for the New State Office Building. A registered professional engineer, he is a graduate of Cornell University and holds a degree in higher accounting from Lasalle Extension University. He took the Naval Architecture War Course at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A veteran of World War I, Perkins has been a captain for the past five years in Red Feather campaigns. He has been active in raising funds for the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and served as a consultant with the "Baby Hoover Commission."

Although Mr. Young retires Friday, the post of street commissioner will probably be unfilled for a few days since the Board of Aldermen will not meet to act on the appointment until January [illegible]

Christmas Party Held by Newton-Waltham Bank

The annual Christmas party of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company was held Monday, December 20, at Robinhood's Ten Acres in Wayland, with nearly 300 officers and employees of the bank enjoying the festivities.

Following the traditional turkey dinner, a full program of carol singing and entertainment was presented, followed by dancing until midnight for the employees and their guests.

The welcoming address and Christmas message was delivered by William M. Cahill, president of the bank.

Traditional Campfire Held At Nobscot Reservation

The traditional Christmas Campfire for the Boy Scouts, Explorers and Scouting families of Norumbega Council was held in a log cabin at Nobscot Reservation. In spite of the extremely inclement weather, over a hundred Scouts and friends of Scouting wended a flare-lit forest trail to the spacious Legion Cabin and took part in songs, cheers and the inspirational part of the program.

Norumbega Council's President, George M. Shannon, was M.C. for the evening and highlighted the program by leading an impressive closing candlelight ceremony.

Douglas Smith, Chief of the Order of the Arrow, led the singing of Camp Quinapoxet and other Scouting songs. Mr. Shannon led the Carol singing, assisted by flute accompanist, John Canroma, a member of the Council Explorer Committee.

An early feature of the program was the presentation of Nobscot Guide awards to nine Scouts and one Scouter who satisfactorily completed the rigorous training. They were: James R. Campbell, Jr., T-11; Vincent Cirilano, T-10; William Dean, T-11; John Derr, T-9; Michael Weyler, T-11; John Crosbey, Scoutmaster of T-24; Kenneth Flanagan, T-7; Edward Gittines, Jr., T-10; Paul Nichols, T-2W; Peter Rydell, T-53; James Campbell of the Camping Committee and Scoutmaster of Troop 11, Newton, made the awards.

Summer Activities Chairman, Walter Tower, gave the gathering a thumb nail sketch of the summer's plans for a Council contingent to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico, and the Maine Canoe trip. These two events are popular high adventure experiences for Explorers of the Council.

Games were led by Marshall S. David, John Sanroma and Page Sanderson of the Explorer Committee and James Campbell. The story of a similar Christmas Campfire at Nobscot, 16 years ago was told by Assistant Scout Executive, Donald Fifield.

Assisting in the closing ceremony were Curtis Forbes, Council Camping Chairman, members of the Order of the Arrow, Ralph B. Johnson, Scout Executive, who told an inspiring Christmas story and John B. Starkweather, who gave the benediction.

Achievement Awards Made at Meeting of Cub Pack 73

The December meeting of Cub Scout Pack 73, West Newton, was highlighted by the presentation of achievement awards and a program of entertainment with the Cub Scouts playing the leading roles.

A total of 15 awards was made by Dr. Donald E. Bowen, chairman of the awards committee, assisted by Edward Y. Walger, chairman of the Pack committee. Bob Cat pins were presented to Richard Baldwin and Paul Sears. Bear Badges were awarded to John Shea, Lawrence Bowen and Tony Wilkins. Gold Arrows on Bear Badges were given to David Anderson, John Shea and Lawrence Bowen. Richard Skinner was awarded two Silver Arrows on his Bear Badge and Norman Wilson was presented a Silver Arrow on his Wolf Badge. Winner of the most awards for the evening was Joseph M. deBettencourt who was awarded a Gold Arrow and 3 Silver Arrows on his Wolf Badge.

In keeping with the "Adventures in History" theme of the month, Den No. 1, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Quirk, presented characterizations of famous men in history. The actors were: David Anderson, Lawrence Bowen, Donald Lieberman, William Quirk, John Shea and Richard Vietor. Following that, Den No. 6, under the direction of Mrs. Ellen Chasson, sang Christmas carols. Members of the choral group were: Keneth M. Anderson, Jr., Jon Chasson, Donald Ford, Charles Nelson, Roger Newell, Neil Rossi, John Salzman and Richard Skinner.

The outgoing year added to the trials and tribulations of both President Eisenhower and Governor Herter by leaving a Democratic Congress in Washington and a Democratic House of Representatives in Massachusetts.

But whatever else it did and didn't do, 1954 did not bring any wars. However uneasy and troubled the peace may have been during the past 12 months, the fact is that nowhere in the world during the period were American soldiers fighting and dying.

This has been the first full year since 1949 that some American parents did not wait anxiously for casualty lists from the fighting front, that each ring of the doorbell, each sound of the telephone, was not a cause of potential alarm.

That is why we suggest that tired old 1954, now being rushed off into the pages of history with but comparatively few regrets, did have some redeeming features.

He brought his full share of personal tragedy and heartaches to many, but with him also came hours of happiness and gladness. He provided the good with the bad, and if he wasn't the best year in memory, he also certainly wasn't the worst.

So amid all the toasts to the coming of baby 1955, this is a respectful salute to departing Old Man 1954.

* * * *

Massachusetts will observe the start of a new State administration next week with all the pomp and pageantry that trace back through the span of the years.

One ritual will be missing as Christian A. Herter begins his second two-year term as the head of the State government. There will be no outgoing Governor walking down the State House stairs to a ripple of applause from loyal friends and before the gaze of the curious.

Governor Herter's inaugural message undoubtedly will deal with the problems confronting him. It isn't likely to make light or pleasant reading, for facing him is the cold necessity of raising additional money to finance the vast operation of the State government, and that means the enactment of new taxes.

Exactly how the Governor will propose getting the money he must obtain to pay the State's bills is uncertain, and perhaps he will advance no specific suggestion in the address that marks the start of his second administration. But that need is very likely to provide the undertone for much of what he has to say.

There is no doubt but that Mr. Herter has been an excellent Governor, and he has done a good job of trimming expenses, where he could pare them. But even he can't hold down the costs of the expanding State functions and services or the expense of the public improvements being built.

Eventually, Massachusetts will come to a sales tax, which will help to some degree to ease the burden now resting so heavily on the owners of real estate in most communities, but it isn't likely to come to it during an administration which has a Republican Governor and a Democratic-controlled House of Representatives.

This coming year, however, will be the one in which Governor Herter will endeavor to get the hard work done and try to push the major part of his program through the two legislative branches. This will be what is known as a "work year" on Beacon Hill.

A year from now, members of both parties will be looking ahead to the 1956 election. Most of the legislators will begin thinking about their own reelection prospects, and almost every bill will be viewed in the hard light of practical politics.

While it is true that politics never completely takes a vacation from Beacon Hill, it isn't the dominating factor in the odd years that it is in the even ones.

Governor Herter, incidentally, may be starting his last term in public office unless circumstances occur which cause him to seek a place in the U. S. Senate. That, of course, is within the realm of political possibility.

But it is unlikely that Mr. Herter will seek another term in the Governorship—unless President Eisenhower in 1956 brings very strong pressure on him to do so.

* * * *

Five of the six men holding elective State-wide office on Beacon Hill will remain in the positions they hold. A newcomer, who is as near a political accident as it is possible to be and still poll a million votes, will take over the sixth position.

In addition to Governor Herter, Lieutenant Governor Sumner G. Whittier, Attorney General George Fingold, State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley and Secretary of State Edward J. Cronin will continue to preside in their respective offices at the State House.

The lone official making his departure will be State Treasurer Foster Furcolo, who had a victory for the U. S. Senate almost in his grasp only to see it slip away, and into his place will move John F. Kennedy of Canton, the former worker at the Gillette Safety Razor plant.

Most political observers are still at a loss to figure out how Kennedy defeated Representative Augustus G. Means of Essex, the colorful, hard-driving Republican candidate.

It's probably a little unfair to rate Mr. Kennedy a political accident, but it is a fact that if he did not have the same name as the junior U. S. Senator from Massachusetts, he would not today be preparing to assume the responsibilities of Treasurer of this Commonwealth.

As the Canton Mr. Kennedy himself lightly observed, he had the name before junior Senator was born, but the latter blazed the political trails, made his name a household byword and set the stage for a political unknown who was his namesake to win a State-wide fight.

How well fitted the Canton Mr. Kennedy is for the job he will assume remains to be seen. But the people of Massachusetts elected him to it, and he is entitled to a fair chance to show what he can do.

Treasurer Furcolo presumably will return to the practice of law. Some persons close to former Governor Dever already are beating the drums for Furcolo as a possible candidate for the Governorship in 1956, basing their action on the close race he ran against Senator Leverett Saltonstall. But a long-range guess now is that the Democratic gubernatorial standard-bearer 20 months hence is much more likely to be someone such as District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne.

in terms of losses adjusted and property restored than ever before."

"Immediately after each storm, the business mobilized all available manpower to start the flow of payments to the insureds who had suffered property damage. Adjusters were brought into New England from places as far distant as the Pacific Coast. Emgergency offices were set up and are still operating where necessary," Mr. Herd said.

In the cases of Carol and Edna, the General Adjustment Bureau, one of the adjusting service organizations maintained by the stock fire insurance companies, set up 21 storm offices in communities from Atlantic City, N. J. to Portland, Me. These were staffed by 600 clerical employees assisting some 600 adjusters and inspectors in the field.

In addition, the independent adjusting companies and fire insurance companies themselves are estimated to have as many more adjusters in the field, working to expedite payment of claims. Virtually every working adjuster in the entire United States, who could be spared from his home territory without impairing service there, was brought into New England and other East Coast areas to work on hurricane losses. Their numbers were augmented by specially-trained recruits from other branches of fire insurance.

Later, when Hazel struck, the General Adjustment Bureau opened additional offices and at one period had 1,817 people at work and 59 temporary offices in operation in 14 states.

The National Board set up two supervisory offices in Providence, R. I., and Boston, Mass., to expedite claim papers originating in two areas that had heavy concentrations of losses.

In all these emergency operations, the adjusting staffs were on an emergency basis, working seven days a week and with night shifts to carry an almost 'round the clock.

dump closed. The ashes have been so heavy, one West Newton man testified at a public hearing, that more than once he has had to sweep his car off with a broom before driving.

Obnoxious odors, noise from the all-night blazes and flying dirt have also been cited by those living near the dump as further reasons why the city should stop disposing of debris and rubbish there.

REASONS FOR REPAIRS

The incinerator project was undertaken both to increase burning capacity and to extend its useful life "15 or 20 years." The project began after a survey of the incinerator concluded in April by Prof. Rolf Eliassen of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Modernization of the plant will double the present capacity to a capacity of 240 tons for every full day of operation. The smokestack is being altered in line with the increased capacity, and general repairs are being made to all the buildings. In his report, Prof. Eliassen urged prompt action "on account of the limited dump capacity and the present run-down state of the incinerator."

able publications from newsstands, but only a few publications fall within this classification.

Upon receiving a complaint about a specific publication, the chief of police of the community involved examines the book or magazine. If he decides the material is obscene or objectionable, he requests the regional dstributor to remove it from public sale.

The distributors have agreed that, within 24 hours after receiving the chief's letter, the publication will be removed from every retail store in their area. Local retailers will also withhold sale—if requested—until the publications are picked up by the distributor.

But the whole question of what can be done about bad influences on our youth resolves itself to a simple question: What do Newton mothers and fathers want?

If they do not care what appears on the newsstands—easily available to boys and girls alike—then the publishers will continue to grind out tons of objectionable publications every month.

If Newton parents do care—and we think they do—then these unwholesome influences can be swept from the shelves. Laws cannot touch publications which shrewdly tiptoe along the limits of legality; but no publisher is going to print something he cannot sell.

uary 3, after the Christmas vacation.

In addition to the new office a kitchenette is being added to which the Parents' Association of the School has made a large contribution. The kitchen facilities will be used daily by staff and faculty at lunch hours and will be of great convenience on special occasions such as Open House, Board Meetings, Parents' Association meetings and other functions.

The All Newton Music School moved into its present building at 398 Walnut street, Newtonville in September of 1946. As time passed—changes have been made to convert the old dwelling into a school building to meet the needs of the growing enrollment of the Music School. The old kitchen and pantry which have been used as an office and stock room, offered so many disadvantages, that much thought has been given to making adequate alteration which will not only provide efficient working facilities for office routine, but will lend dignity to the school as well.

The worl has been under the careful supervsion of Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, president of the Board of Trustees and Mrs. C. B. Jones, chairman of the House Committee.

The mid-winter meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held on Monday evening, January 10, after which there will be an opportunity for those present to inspect the new quarters.

THREE HEARINGS

Besides the Brookline street project, three other public hearings are slated to get under way at 7:45 p.m. These hearings are:

Joint pole and wire locations on Rosalie road, Oak Hill, one on the north westerly side about 70 feet southwest of Hartmann road, and two on the southeasterly side about 50 feet southwest of Cross Hill street and about 35 feet northeast of Cross Hill road.

Landing taking for construction of main drains and common sewers through Lawmarissa road, from Moffat road to Fredana road, Waban, and through private land from Lawmarissa road to Oak Vale.

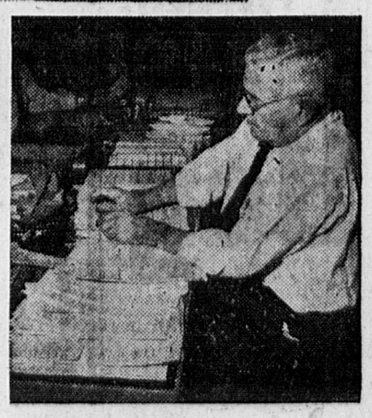

Serving in Hawaii

Right—field offices speed up adjusters' reports to fire insurance companies.

A Report to the People on an Unprecedented Year

1954 was the worst year in New England history for hurricanes. "Carol" and "Edna" created havoc over wide areas.

For the fire insurance companies serving you, 1954 was an unprecedented year, too. More service in terms of windstorm losses adjusted—properties restored and policyholders aided—was rendered than ever before.

$138 Million for "Carol" and "Edna"! When the figures are all in, fire insurance companies will have paid in excess of $138,000,000 to policyholders in hurricanes "Carol" and "Edna" losses. This includes more than 745,000 claims. And, in addition, Hurricane "Hazel" losses are estimated to equal those of "Carol" and "Edna."

Industry Mobilized! Immediately after each hurricane, your fire insurance companies mobilized every available resource to help handle claims. Hundreds of adjusters were brought into New England from as far away as the Pacific Coast. Adjusting personnel was expanded to more than 10 times the normal staff. Emergency offices were set up throughout the storm areas and are still operating. Overtime work was the rule. Everything was done to speed the flow of insurance payments into your community so that you could rebuild, repair and recover from the storm.

A fire insurance company employee is shown completing records of hundreds of checks for losses paid to policyholders.

Some claims admittedly were difficult to adjust, but every effort has been made to expedite payments. Also, hurricanes overlapped so that damage was piled upon damage, complicating the job of adjustment still further.

75 per cent of all losses in New England have been adjusted! In spite of the unusual size of the operation, the job is nearly done. Your fire insurance companies can report that three-fourths of all claims have been adjusted and remaining claims are in the process of being completed.

We are pleased to make this report so that the extent of the problem and the unusual steps that have been taken may be known. Also we want to thank you, the public, for the patience and understanding you have shown under trying conditions.

Junior Chamber To Participate In Observance

Carleton P. [illegible], president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce announced today that the week of January 14-21 is being observed nationally as "Junior Chamber of Commerce Week."

During this week the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce will celebrate its 35th anniversary, with more than 2750 local chapters joining with the Newton Jaycees in staging a Distinguished Service Award dinner. This dinner will be the high point of local Jaycee Week plans and will feature the presentation of a Distinguished Service Award Key to a young man between the ages of 21 and 36 who has rendered the most outstanding contribution to the community during the past year.

Robert Perkins, Chairman for the local D. S. Award has mailed out or had distributed by other Jaycees nomination blanks to various Church and civic leaders in Newton. Selection of the recipient will be made by a committee of leading citizens of Newton. Mr. Perkins has stated that nominations may be made for any young man and that the nominee need not be a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He has asked that citizens wishing to nominate a young man contact Edward V. Gartland, Jr., 29 Gambier st., Auburndale, for a nomination blank.

President E. LaMar Buckner of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce has very clearly defined the purpose of the Junior Chamber of Commerce movement by stating that "As a national organization we stimulate young manhood to a keen awareness of its individual and collective obligation. Our fundamental objectives are three: to develop in young men the qualities of personal leadership; to offer young men an instrument with which to improve the communities in which they live; and to afford young men the only medium available for the vigorous expression of their opinions."
